WIN AT BURLINGTON

LOCALS UPSET BADGER STATE TEAM BEFORE BIG CROWD

FAST FIELDING AND CLEVER PITCHING MARK CLOSE CONTEST AT BURLINGTON

The McHenry team nosed out the fast Burlington, Wis., outfit on the latter's splendid baseball park at Burlington last Sunday afternoon by a count of 4 to 3.

The battle proved one of the most interesting that the local club has been engaged in this season and the big crowd of fans which filled the large grand stands and bleachers left after the game feeling that they had witnessed a contest that bore all the earmarks of a regular big-time show.

Davison, who occupied the hill for McHenry athletes, pitched one of the best games of his career, holding the Badger state sluggers to seven hits. Three of the blows, however, were for extra bases, Bauman getting a home run and three-sacker and made Repas go some to get his hard rap in the eighth.

While Davison was "doing his stuff," Rein for Burlington was also showing a splendid exhibition on the mound, the Burlington heaver setting eight of the McHenry batters down via the strike-out route. However, the winners succeeded in touching him up for a total of ten blows, four of which were for extra bases.

The thing that impressed ye scribe more than anything else last Sunday was the loyalty displayed by the home fans. Not only did the spectators roundly applaud the splendid plays as they were pulled by the home club, but they also gave their boys a great hand every time their favorites returned to their dug-out for their turn at bat. Such support is seldom witnessed in amateur baseball and it would certainly be a fine thing if such an enthusiasm could be worked up by the followers of the McHenry club, which is, without doubt, the best nine that has ever represented our city.

Exceptional fielding stunts were quite common during the contest, each team pulling off plays that would do credit to any league outfit. The two double plays as executed by the Burlington team were about as fast as one could expect to see in any ball park. Repas, covering the center garden for McHenry, also pulled off two sparkling catches while Carroll's steal of third base in the eighth frame was another piece of work worthy of special mention. In short, it was a real baseball game in every respect and the fans who witnessed same were given their money's worth.

The story of the contest by innings follows:

FIRST INNING: Gross was thrown out by Kingston. Kern met his fate via Miller to Bauman. Walczek smashed out a two-ply blow down along the first base line and scored on Bailey's single to Kingston. Kingston raced back quite a distance to gather in the blow but his throw to first was too late to get the batter. Walczek was blocked at the plate all right but in sliding he knocked the ball from the catcher's mit. Luck favored McHenry on this play. Bailey took second on the throw to the plate. Carroll out, Kingston to Bauman. Two hits, one run.

BURLINGTON: Laffin out, Walczek to Bailey. Bauman lifted to Carroll in left. Kingsley went to the screen for Hoffman's tall foul. No hits, no runs.

SECOND INNING: Repas shot a triple into the left garden. Yuncer struck out. Kingsley scored Repas with a single past third and then was caught at second. Davison out, Kingston to Bauman. Two hits, one run.

BURLINGTON: Rein was thrown out by Walczek. Higgins beat out a slow rolling bunt down the third base line. Repas had to sprint some to pull down Croake's long fly to center. Kingston scored Higgins with a three base knock to deep center but was nailed at third when he attempted to stretch the hit into a home run and could not get back to third in time to avoid the out. The ball was relayed to third via Kern. Two hits, one run.

THIRD INNING: Gross laced a single past second and moved on to second when Kern beat out an infield hit which rolled lazily along the third base line about ten feet from the home plate. It took real sprinting to beat the throw. With two of the enemy on the foot-paths and no one out, Rein lost control just long enough to pass Walczek. However, the pass may have been intentional. At this stage of the proceeding Burlington deplayed real class. Bailey forced Gross at the plate when he rolled to Laffin. Carroll started a double killing by bouncing one to Rein, the latter shooting the pill to Croaks, who, in turn, relayed to Bauman, thus completing an exceptionally fast double. Two hits, no runs.

BURLINGTON: Miller lifted to Yuncer in right. Hastings struck out and Laffin was thrown out by Kern. No hits, no runs.

FOURTH INNING: Repas drew a free ticket to first and showed his appreciation by stealing second. This made Rein so mad that he struck out both Yuncer and Kingsley, while Davison was pegged out by Kingston. No hits, no runs.

BURLINGTON: Bauman shot a four-ply smash into left and was given a great ovation. Hoffman and Rein both lifted to Repas in center, while Higgins' fly was gathered in by Gross. One hit, one run.

FOURTH INNING: Gross singled to right and was forced at second when Kern rolled to Kingston. Kern was then trapped at first and put away between that station and second. Walczek rolled to Bauman. One hit, runs.

BURLINGTON: Croake drew a pass, only to be forced at second when Kingston rolled to Davison. Miller was thrown out by Davison and Hastings struck out. No hits, no runs.

SIXTH INNING: Bailey singled to short left took second on Carroll's sacrifice, Rein to Bauman. Repas struck out. Rogers, who was sent in to hit for Yuncer, was hit in the slats and took first. Both runners then scored on Kingsley's honest-to-goodness two-ply shot to left. Davison out, Kingston to Bauman. Two hits, two runs.

BURLINGTON: Laffin was thrown out by Davison. Bauman tripled to left and rode home on Hoffman's sacrifice foul fly which Rogers pulled down after quite a run. Rogers, after returning to the bench, was told that he should have let the ball go, but to us it looked as if he used good judgment, as there is no telling what the batter might have done after that. Rein shot a single past first and Higgins struck out. Two hits, one run.

SEVENTH INNING: Gross out, Laffin to Bauman. Kern lifted to Hastings in center. Walczek was given life on Laffin's fumble, but got no further, as Bailey shot a line-drive into the awaiting mitts of one Mr. Miller at third. No hits, no runs.

BURLINGTON: The crowd arose for the costomary stretch and then started to yell for someone to start something. The lucky seventh had arrived. Croake lifted to Rogers. Kingston's tall fly was pulled down by Kern. Miller rolled to Gross at third and was safe when Bailey lost the throw. Pahl, who was sent in to hit for Hastings, fanned. No hits, no runs.

EIGHTH INNING: Carroll placed an extra base shot into center, stole third and was left stranded there when Rein caused Repas, Rogers and Kingsley to fan the breezes. One hit, no runs.

BURLINGTON: Laffin was whipped out by Walczek. Bauman made Repas trot some to get under his long fly to center. Hoffman fouled to Kingsley. No hits, no runs.

NINTH INNING: Davison struck out. Gross was out, Rein to Bauman and Kern was tossed out by Kingston. No hits, no runs.

BURLINGTON: Once more the fans began to shout for action. Even one run to tie the count and then win out in the tenth would be satisfactory Their favorites tried their hardest to turn the trick, but failed. Rein singled to short center. Repas made a very good effort to pull in the blow, but could not get there in time. He succeeded, however, in knocking it down, but could not cling to it. Higgings lifted to Bailey. Croake then forced Rein at second when he rolled to Gross. Croake stopped at third on Kingston's long double to center. A faster runner could have scored. Miller ended all anxiety for the supporters of our boys by obligingly striking out. Two hits, no runs.

ADDITIONAL EXCHANGE

The concrete road between Harvard and Oak Grove was completed on July 3rd and will soon be thrown open to travel.

Otto Buchert, engaged as mechanic at the Nippersink garage at Richmond, was completely knocked out and remained unconscious for two hours when a large auto tire upon which he was working exploded. The tire contained eighty pounds of pressure at the time, the released air striking him in the pit of the stomach.

Rochester, Minn., took up a motor census of machines passing thru that city on June 18, and found that one thousand, four hundred and five cars had passed thru that municipality from 6:00 o'clock in the morning until 11:00 o'clock that night. A census taken on the same date a year ago showed the total number of cars to have been two hundred and forty-nine. Further evidence of the vast increase in automobile traffic.

The road and bridge committee of the McHenry county board of supervisors made a tour of inspection one day last week visiting Hebron, Richmond, Spring Grove, McHenry, Algonquin and Crystal Lake. The tour was made for the purpose of inspecting the roads now under the patrol system. The committee consists of Supervisors D. M. Wright of Marengo, Chas. Ackman of Union, Stephen H. Freund of McHenry, Henry Turner of Hebron and A. H. Hale of Crystal Lake.

Officers have been raiding Lake dance halls in lower Wisconsin of late. Federal agents, who visited some of the dance halls at Delavan Lake on a recent Saturday evening, gave the dancers a very uncomfortable half hour. At one dance resort, it is stated, they took fourteen young men on whom they found bottles of liquor The chances are that most of this liquor was obtained thru prescriptions. First the government issues these prescriptions of which at least seventy per cent are issued to the whisky-drinking public and not for medicinal purposes, and then this same government sends out agents to arrest these young men for carrying liquor. What's wrong here?
