PHOTOSTATIC COPIES OF INCORPORATION CHARTERS SHOWN

Photostatic copies of the incorporation charters of nine Illinois cities and towns which were granted 100 years ago are on display at the Illinois State library exhibit at the Centennial Illinois state fair which opened Friday, Secretary of State Edward J. Barrett, state librarian has announced.

The actions were taken by the State Legislature at a special session in 1852, Mr. Barrett said. The cities and towns whose charters will be shown are Belvidere, Bloomington, Joliet, LaSalle, Monmouth, Rockford, Rock Island, Thebes and Woodstock. In addition, an amendment passed that year to the charter for Little Fork changed the city's name to Waukegan.

Another act passed by the 1852 special session, and which is on display, reapportioned the state's Congressional districts in accordance with the 1850 census, Secretary Barrett said. The act established nine districts. Today there are twenty-five.

Other incorporated papers shown are those establishing Mercy hospital and Mercy Orphan asylum of Chicago, and the Winnebago County Agriculture society.

The Illinois State library exhibit is in the same location it has occupied for several years, the northwest corner of the balcony in the Exposition building.

Manufacturing Plant and General Office of the Edwal Laboratories, Ringwood, Illinois

Twenty Years of Growth

EDWAL this year celebrates the 20th anniversary of its founding. From a two man partnership, established in 1932, Edwal has grown to be one of the leading manufacturing establishments of the McHenry Area.

The 150 local residents employed here share a monthly payroll of $50,000. Occupying 12 buildings on 25 acres at Ringwood, Illinois, Edwal manufactures fine chemicals and photographic products which are distributed to industries throughout the world. These products are used in pharmaceuticals, cosmetics, food flavors, dyes, metal plating and photography.

Edwal also helps build the country's defenses by devoting a portion of the company's manufacturing skills and facilities to essential government requirements.

Edwal looks forward to sharing in the future growth and development of McHenry County.
