Quite a number of Dundalk girls were in town Saturday.

PHYSICIANS Failed to Cure Rheumatism

Miss Flora Chapman Vividly Describes Her Sufferings and Ultimate Cure With "Nerviline."

"After being an enthusiastic user of Nerviline for years, I feel it my duty to tell you personally what your wonderful preparation has done for me.

"I suffered torture from rheumatism and heart trouble, tried scores of so-called remedies, consulted for weeks and months with Toronto's most eminent physicians, but derived only slight benefit.

"A friend insisted on my using Nerviline, and to my surprise a vigorous rubbing of this powerful liniment eased the pains and reduced the stiffness in my joints. I continued to use Nerviline and was permanently cured. I am now perfectly well, and for three years have had no rheumatism at all. I know many families where no other medicine but Nerviline is kept—it is so useful in minor ailments like earache, toothache, neuralgia, coughs, colds, lumbago, and sciatica. I call Nerviline my "Life Guard," and urge all to try its merit."

NERVILINE Cures Rheumatism

A Ceylon Merchant Is Now Wanted

A few weeks ago a slick Jew who called himself S. M. Ross penetrated these parts and announced that he had leased a store at the Station for a term of three years. He entered upon an extensive advertising campaign in The Advance, calling himself the Toronto Shoe Company. A couple of weeks ago he departed, announcing that he was going away to purchase goods. Since that date he has not been seen here, and on Monday last Bailiff Wright served an attachment on the goods in the store, on behalf of Lemon Bros. of Owen Sound, to whom the "Toronto Shoe Company" owed a little bill of $85 which Mr. Ross had neglected to settle previous to his hurried departure.

At time of writing we have not learned the valuation of goods left in the store, but so far as we can learn it consists mostly of empty shoe and biscuit boxes and one pair of overalls.

It is the supposition that Mr. Toronto Shoe Company cleared up quite a tidy little sum from the public and wholesalers, but not nearly so much as he might have done had he been able to hold out through the month of March without getting cold pedal extremities. Locally he did not let any person in for much—a few dollars here and there will cover the local loss. But the wholesalers will not come off so easily. Their losses will probably amount to several hundred dollars at least. Our fat friend is alleged to have got away with quite a lot of stock which it is actually known he possessed and which has mysteriously disappeared. It is said that some of the contrivances resorted to to make the public believe the stock was still there were unique and very ingenious. The whereabouts of Ross is at present unknown.

Donald Gillies had the misfortune to lose one of his horses last week. This means a big loss as he only had the team.

We are pleased to note that the cor. at Riverdale was so interested in our Literary Society. The meeting on March the 8th was largely attended by people from this section and Riverside, Swinton Park, Priceville and Stone Settlement. This meeting proved to be one of the best of the season, as each showed great preparation on their part. The debate was not so good as would have been had all the speakers been present. The subject of debate which was resolved: That fashion does more harm in the world than whiskey. Messrs. C. Huddy, South Line, J. L. McDonald, Boothville, and H. Harrow, Stone Settlement, acted as judges, and decided in favor of the negative. Some of the speakers being unable to attend made it hard for the judges to decide as the ones absent were all of one side. The negative side plainly gave to understand that whiskey does more harm and certainly it does. Excellent instrumental selections were given by Messrs. F. Moore and Alex McDonaly; recitations by Grace Muir, B. Meads, R. Dingwall, M. E. White, Rhena Richardson and E. Muir; readings, by Louise Dingwall, Will Meads, J. Oliver, Walter Williamson, Mrs. H. Watters and C. Huddy; choice solos, by Messrs. Richardson and Whyte; duet by Mr. and Mrs. J. McLean; dialogue "Nothing to wear"; and a song by five girls. A black fox skin, a novelty in the fur line, was recently purchased by W. C. Goffatt of Orillia. This single skin was worth something over one thousand dollars. Its scarcity, of course, is what makes black fox pelts so expensive. Mr. Goffatt handled one before. He also got a nice silver fox worth $300 or $400. These skins are very uncommon and are prized by the wealthy connoisseurs of Europe.
