That Question.

To the Editor of the Advance.

DEAR SIR,—The following question is asked by an individual signing himself "Artemesia," in your last week's issue:—(I give it in "Artemesia's" own words.)

Sir,—Allow me to ask the Township Council of Artemesia, why they pay a Township Treasurer a large salary when the business can be done through the bank free of expense. Will the Council please explain," &c.

Now, Sir, "Artemesia" seems quite confident that he has found a mare's nest. I don't think he has, however; and perhaps when he reflects a little, he will come to the same conclusion himself, and no doubt he will feel heartily ashamed at his own display of ignorance.

In the first place, I deny that the Township Treasurer of Artemesia is the recipient of a "large" salary. He is, comparatively speaking, the poorest paid Tp. Treasurer in this County.

In the second place,—is it possible that a Township can do its business without the aid of a Treasurer?

And in the third, and last place,—which of the banks in the County of Grey will do the work of our Township Treasurer for nothing?

Respectfully yours,
QUIZ.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla, being highly concentrated, requires a smaller dose, and is more effective, dose for dose, than any other blood medicine. It is the cheapest because the best. Quality and not quantity should be considered.

Past Eighty Years.

An Old Typo tells his Life Story in a Police Court.

He claimed to be "up'ards o' 80 years old," and no one in court felt inclined to dispute his statement. He resembled the popular representation of Rip Van Winkle, after his long sleep more than anything else. His palsy- stricken hand grasped the end of a formidable-looking cane, upon which he leaned heavily as he pleaded guilty in trembling tones to a charge of vagrancy.

"You are on the extreme edge of the grave," his Honor told him, "and I am sorry that your youth and manhood has not brought you a competency in this the winter of your life."

The old man's eyes grew moist as he replied:—

"They say that a rolling stone gathers no moss, and no one who knows my history can doubt the truth of that adage. There were only thirteen stars on the blue square in the American flag when I was old enough to know anything, and the only feeling within me that can be called affection, which has grown stronger year by year despite the adversites and troubles and trials that have met me at every turn, is the love of the flag and of the country which it represents. I was a devil in a printing office at the age of 13, and a wandering compositor seven years later. There are few newspaper offices of any account in any of the large cities in which I have not at one time or another stuck type. I imagined then that a free Bohemian life was the only life fit for a freeman to lead, and I must acknowledge now that I passed many pleasant days wandering from village to village, from town to town, and from city to city, stopping only long enough here and there to earn a few dollars at my trade and then starting forth again in search of new scenes and adventures. If I had settled down in one spot I mignt not have saved money, but I would certainly have gained some friends, who, perhaps, would see that my old body received a decent burial. I want you to send me somewhere where the biting cold of winter will not cause me suffering Perhaps I will not see another spring, and so before I go I would like to offer a bit of advice to all who may hear me." The old man hesitated for a moment, and then continued in a faltering voice; "Remain in your birthplace, filling as best you can whatever walk in life you are cast in. Strive harder to secure an honost friend than a bank account, and, above all marry, so that when your time comes to die you will leave someone behind to mourn your departure."

As he left the court en route for the workhouse for ninety days, a score of pitying eyes followed him.—[N. Y. Journal.

HELP REQUIRED.—Dyspepsia does not get well without assistance. It reqires careful diet and thorough treatment. Burdock Blood Bitters have effected the most remarkble cures on record of chronic Dyspepsia.

WHAT THE FIGURES REVEAL.—G. M. Everest. of Forest, says that in one year one family purchased fifty bottles of Hagyard's Pectoral Balsam for their own use and that of various friends. He had sold this invaluable throat and lung remedy over sixteen years, and its sales are steadily increasing.

AN IMPORTANT ENQUIRY.—Are you threatened with Consumption? If so, the cause may be in the blood. Impure blood and Scrofula are close companions, and Scrofula and Consumption are still closer related. Burdock Blood Bitters cure all forms of Scrofula by cleansing the blood and regulating the secretions.

A MARVELOUS STORY
TOLD IN TWO LETTERS.

FROM THE SON: "28 Cedar St., New York, Oct. 28, 1882.

"Gentlemen: My father resides at Glover, Vt. He has been a great sufferer from Scrofula, and the inclosed letter will tell you what a marvelous effect has had in his case. I think his blood must have contained the humor for at least ten years; but it did not show, except in the form of a scrofulous sore on the wrist, until about five years ago. From a few spots which appeared at that time, it gradually spread so as to cover his entire body. I assure you he was terribly afflicted, and an object of pity, when he began using your medicine. Now, there are few men of his age who enjoy as good health as he has. I could easily name fifty persons who would testify to the facts in his case.

Yours truly, W. M. PHILLIPS."

FROM THE FATHER: "It is both a pleasure and a duty for me to state to you the benefit I have derived from the use of

Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

Six months ago I was completely covered with a terrible humor and scrofulous sores. The humor caused an incessant and intolerable itching, and the skin cracked so as to cause the blood to flow in many places whenever I moved. My sufferings were great, and my life a burden. I commenced the use of the SARSAPARILLA in April last, and have used it regularly since that time. My condition began to improve at once. The sores have all healed, and I feel perfectly well in every respect—being now able to do a good day's work, although 73 years of age. Many inquire what has wrought such a cure in my case, and I tell them, as I have here tried to tell you, AYER'S SARSAPARILLA. Glover, Vt., Oct. 21, 1882. Yours gratefully,
HIRAM PHILLIPS."

AYER'S SARSAPARILLA cures Scrofula and all Scrofulous Complaints, Erysipelas, Eczema, Ringworm, Blotches, Sores, Boils, Tumors, and Eruptions of the Skin. It clears the blood of all impurities, aids digestion, stimulates the action of the bowels, and thus restores vitality and strengthens the whole system.
