That promiscuous shooting in the town of Owen Sound does not pay was brought forcibly home to Roy Tilson, a lad about seventeen years old, on Tuesday, when he was brought before the Police Magistrate on a charge of discharging firearms. On Saturday he was shooting near Seventh street west, below the hill, and a bullet came rather close to a passing pedestrian on Second Avenue. The matter was reported, and Deputy Chief Thompson went over and took charge of the rifle. Tilson was ordered to pay the Court costs, and the rifle, a 22 cal., was confiscated.—Advertiser.

There are some big potatoes in British Columbia. A photo sent to The Herald by John Simpson, formerly of Maxwell, now residing at Kamloops, B. C., shows his potato garden with the spuds fresh dug and scattered on the ground. The surface is literally covered and all of large size. Mr. Simpson says: I see from your issue of 27th Oct an account of the weight of some potatoes grown by Thos. Johnson and others in your locality. I have just weighed twenty-two potatoes and turned the scales at sixty pounds. These were grown on my city lot, the first crop off it, which is estimated at twenty tons to the acre."—Dundalk Herald.

Recollections of Home

If you have a grey haired mother,
In old Ontario far away,
Sit down and write her a letter,
You put off day by day.

Don't wait until her tired steps
Reach Heaven's Pearly Gate,
But show her that you think of her,
Before it is too late.

If you've a tender message,
Or a loving word to say,
Don't wait till you forget it,
But whisper it to-day.

Who knows what fitter memories,
May haunt you if you wait,
So make your loved ones happy,
Before it is too late.

—SARAH J. WYATT, Ponteix Sask.

Card of Thanks

The family of the late Mrs. Henry Hewitt desire to thank their friends and neighbors for their sympathy and kindness to them during their recent bereavement.

While Albert A Merritt, of. Louisville, Ont., was trying to extract a shell from a revolver by aid of a pocket-knife, the weapon exploded and the bullet lodged in Merritt's stomach.

By a new regulation no person is allowed to shoot or trap mink, otter or muskrat or deal in their furs without having secured a license from the department, which costs $2 a year. The penalty for the violation of this law is $10 to $30, and a person convicted of violating the law cannot secure a license within two years thereafter.

Mayor Euler of Berlin, received an urgent appeal from a farmer, living near Clifford, Ont, requesting him to secure a wife for him. "No odds how poor she is as long as she is good and kind to me, I will use her right. Plenty to live on and plenty to wear. Let me know as soon as possible," he writes and in addition is willing to give the woman who marries him a claim on his farm for $2,500 after he dies. He is 60 years of age. This is a good chance for girls in these days when war is thinning out the ranks of marriageable men. Mayor Euler has already forwarded 22 applications from widows and spinsters who wish to become acquainted with the Clifford farmer.

Scandal.

How is it that the evil which men say spreads so widely and lasts so long, while our good, kind words don't seem somehow to take root and bear blossom? Is it that in the stony hearts of mankind these pretty flowers can't find a place to grow? Certain it is that scandal is good brisk talk, whereas praise of one's neighbor is by no means lively hearing. An acquaintance grilled, scored, deviled and served with mustard and cayenne pepper excites the appetite, whereas a slice of cold friend with currant jelly is but a sickly, unrelishing meat.—Thackeray.

Well Acquainted.

An American girl was taking a Liverpool girl home to the States with her and toward the end of the journey remarked: "It is delightful to feel that one is so near home. We ought to sight Sandy Hook this afternoon."

"Shall we?" exclaimed her friend. "That will be nice. Don't tell me which one he is. I can always pick a Scotsman out of a crowd."—Chief Steward.

Strong Presumption.

Lawyer—You say that the defendant ran his automobile into the show window of a millinery store; but that doesn't show he was intoxicated, does it? Officer—Well, no; but when I arrested him he was trying on the hats!—New York Globe.

A Hard Case.

"His wife earns her own money."

"Indeed! I did not know she was employed."

"Oh, yes; hard at it all the time."

"What does she do?"

"Works him to give up."—New York Journal.

Wait is a hard word to the hungry.—German Proverb.

IN DAYS AGONE.

Dr. Robins Recalls His Early Years In the Teaching Profession.

Dr. L. S. Robins, ex-principal of McGill Normal School, Montreal, is one of the veteran educationists of Canada, being now well over eighty years of age. In addressing the graduating class of the Macdonald School for Teachers at Ste. Anne de Bellevue, he spoke of the marked advances made in education in both Quebec and Ontario since he first entered educational work over sixty years ago.

"I wish I could be starting in with you in the work which lies before you in the Province of Quebec," he said to the graduates; "for I know your lines will be cast in much more pleasant places than were mine when I entered the teaching profession in what were then the backwoods of Ontario. Let me tell you about the examination which I passed for my first teachers' diploma, back in 1848. I will report it literally, accurately and entirely. The examiner was a county school superintendent.

"Do you know any arithmetic?" was the first question.

"'Yes, a little,' I answered.

"'What do you know of it?' he continued.

"'Pretty much all of it,' I replied confidently. The superintendent did not seem anxious to pursue that line further, for his next query was:

"'Know any grammar?'

"Again my answer was: 'Yes, a little.'

"'Then parse "Will you go?"' was his command. I parsed 'Will you go?'

"'Have you got a school?' was the last question.

"'I have,' I answered; 'on the fourth concession of the Township of Dummer.'

"Thereupon my inquisitor wrote me my diploma on a sheet of notepaper. I think I have it yet somewhere. Passing that examination was easy compared to some of my subsequent experiences, for inside of six months I was obliged to lick one of my pupils who was older, taller and heavier than I was. But I licked him all right, and after that I was boss of my school."

Dr. Robins, in paying a tribute to the pioneers of education in Canada, now gathered to their rest, said: "There have been great and strong men engaged in the work which you are entering upon. One of my own pupils—dead now and almost forgotten—actually walked across Canada to devote himself to the service of education on the Pacific coast, in the days when there were no railways, and the only means of getting from Winnipeg to British Columbia was to hit the long trail across the prairies."—Toronto Saturday Night.

Favors Home Fighting.

An Ulster Irishman employed on a Montreal morning newspaper is a determined anti-Home Ruler, while a pugnacious little Irish Catholic engaged on a rival paper is an equally ardent advocate of the Nationalist cause. The two met one evening on an assignment, and become involved in a heated argument over the merits and demerits of Home Rule. As they reached the outer air, the Ulsterite remarked: "Well, I sail next week for home, and all I hope is that the fighting isn't all over before I get there."

"Is that so?" replied the Redmondite, as he pulled off his coat. "Well, if all you want is a fight, you don't need to go to Ireland for it."

After a brief but bloody battle, the issue was declared a draw, but the incident prompted a fellow reporter to make a timely suggestion. "If so many of these Catholic and Orangemen are eager to fight for or against Home Rule," he said, "why should they go to the trouble and expense of an ocean trip? Why not let them organize and fight it out right here in Canada, and cable the result over to be included in the final score?"

Glacier Moves Again.

Canada again has a harbor opening on the Pacific Ocean through the Alaska Panhandle. Three years ago it was discovered that by the movement of a giant glacier a harbor had been opened through that part of the United States territory known as the Panhandle, thus affording the northern part of British Columbia access to the sea.

A year ago the news reached Ottawa that the glacier had changed its mind and trundled the harbor back again out of Canadian territory. And now word has reached the Geological Survey here that the decision has been reversed, and the harbor is back again.

Prof. Brock, Deputy Minister of Mines, says that the general movement of these glaciers is backward from the ocean, so that Canada will one day have its harbor for good and all Wool Industry Grows.

The fact that fifty thousand pounds of wool, worth $9,000, has just been sent in one shipment from Saskatchewan is merely another instance of the awakening of live stock interest in the West, and an example of the benefit to be derived from the farmer working along co-operative lines. Last year the small wool growers obtained prices ranging from 8 to 10 cents for their clips; this year the price is practically doubled. In addition to these small producers the large flock owners have also availed themselves of the opportunity.

Alberta wool growers in considerable numbers are selling their wool through the Saskatchewan Government agency; and in addition, the clip of a large flock of mohair goats is being sold by the branch on behalf of ranchers of Debourne, Alberta.
