Notwithstanding unfavorable prophecies, the past season has been a good one for making maple syrup. Although few go into it on a very extensive scale in this section, still there are some who do and who have profited by the good run this spring. The most extensive manufacturer we know of is Mr. Geo. D. Shortt of Ospray, who had 1509 trees tapped which produced 360 gallons of syrup.

We always knew the Kimberley boys were brave, but this was emphasized the other day when a gentleman of our acquaintance informed us that he had received a letter from Corp. Hoyles, with the forces in France, eulogizing the work of Pte. Ezra Fawcett, who was wounded some time ago and is now convalescing. With his name was connected that of Pte. Ernie Brooks, who is known here. Corp. Hoyles says these are two fearless young men who would not shirk any duty.

A pleasant time was spent by parents, pupils and friends in the high school auditorium on Wednesday evening of last week, under the auspices of the Literary Society. The occasion was made a recognition of two pupils of the school who had joined the overseas forces, W. Buchanan and W. McLeod. These young men were each presented with wrist watches accompanied by addresses. The whole affair was conducted by the young people, with Donald McVicar as chairman. A good program was given consisting of choruses, solos, recitations and speeches. Rev. Mr. McDonald, the new Baptist pastor here, delivered an excellent recruiting speech. One of the interesting numbers on the program was reading of the High School Astonisher. The literary excellence of this bright little publication was astonishing. The most important event of the evening was the unveiling of the High School Honor Roll, which contained the names of 15 pupils, ex-pupils and teachers of the school. This ceremony was performed by Harold McLean, who made a neat little speech appropriate to the occasion. After the program refreshments were served.

B. B., Genuine White Lead links up B. H. "ENGLISH" PAINT with a supremacy record of nearly two centuries.

LINKS IN THE B.B. AND B.H. CHAIN

1729 saw the founding of the firm of Brandram Bros., the inventors of the Brandram Process of corroding White Lead,—a process that produces a lead that has been the standard White Lead of the world ever since.

In 1906 after handling Brandram's White Lead for many years, in the Canadian market, the firm of Brandram-Henderson purchased the Brandram Bros. formulae and exclusive rights to manufacture it in Canada.

In 1909 the final link was forged when the firm decided to use B. B. Genuine White Lead in the manufacture of their B. H. "ENGLISH PAINT and after practical tests and most careful research arrived at an exact formula guaranteed on every can under the President's signature. Thus was the chain completed.

The B. H. "ENGLISH" PAINT formula of 70 units of Brandram's B. B. Genuine White Lead and 30 units of pure White Zinc, in all tints and white with its ironclad guarantee, makes B. H. "ENGLISH" PAINT the Quality-Service-Paint of Canada.

Features which place the Cockshutt Manure Spreader head and shoulders above other makes

It is the simplest machine made—not nearly so many parts as others.

It is a thorough pulverizer and spreader.

It is not so high to the top of the box as other spreaders, yet there is much space underneath.

The box is well supported and is built with a solid bottom. Direct chain drive, no gears or clutches to cause trouble. Drive and conveyor chains are extra heavy and will stand a lot of hard work. Easily operated and no trouble at all to oil the bearings. When not spreading, the machinery is not running.

The Foundation of Prosperity

The future prosperity of this country depends upon the continued prosperity of the agricultura interests. It has been proven that agricultural prosperity cannot persist unless the fertility of the soil is conserved. The one machine in the whole category of farm implements which can accomplish this necessary thing is the Manure Spreader. Upon it as upon a foundation will the future prosperity of the farm depend, and therefore the prosperity of the nation. Pay close attention to your fertilizing,—this year of all years—and benefit accordingly.

Pays Its Own Way

Comparing the cost of spreading manure with a spreader with that of spreading the same amount by hand shows a saving sufficient to make the spreader pay for itself within a short time if no more than a few loads a day are spread. No other implement about the farm can do so well. This says nothing either about the more efficient work of the machine nor the consequent additional benefit to the soil. The spreader is the one machine which visibly pays its own way. The farmer is money in pocket rather than out of pocket when he buys a spreader.
