PRICEVILLE

Everybody is agreeably surprised at the lovely weather.

Robert Conkey, one of our returned soldiers, took over the postoffice here on the first of the month.

A reception was held for Pte. W, Aldcorn one evening last week at his father's residence. An address was read and a nice purse of money presented to him, and a social evening was spent.

Died—At his brother's residence, South Line, Glenelg, John McDermid, aged 74 years. Deceased was visibly affected during the greater part of his life from a stroke of paralysis when a boy. He was an earnest member of the Baptist church and much respected by all who knew him in the community. He lived with his brother Sam and family, and his sisterinlaw kindly cared for him in his last illness. Rev. Mr. McEwen of Durham conducted the funeral service at the residence and at Priceville cemetery on Wednesday of last week.

We were glad to see Bobs McKinnon of Avenue Road, Toronto, in our midst again over the week end.

A Rev. Mr. Shannon preached morning and evening in the Presbyterian church last Sunday, to large congreations, and created favorable comment; also Rev. Mr. Reddon preached two sermons on the Sunday previous and made a good impression on the congregations, but we think the officials will investigate a little further before making a decision as to whom they will give a call to.

Some fine mornings when foot marks of the evening before are easily seen in the snow, we surmise that Cupid's raid on certain of our widowers is not without effect, and if he could make as successful a shot at the heart of some of our adorable widows, then we would speedily see two inglenooks transformed into one.

How Star Men Cover World News Events

When the Titanic was sunk, The Toronto Daily Star rushed seven members of the staff to New York to "cover" the story. When Ulster threatened rebellion, three Star men travelled 4,000 miles to get the facts. When the Halifax explosion occurred, a small army of photographers and writers went to get the story.

The Star policy is to cover big events in a big way.

To cover the war meant not only to tell what was happening every hour, but to explain the significance of each event. The occasion demanded skilled men; correspondents who could get news and interpret it, and others—war experts—who could piece together the happenings on the battlefields and in the capitals and weigh them all for the benefit of the reader.

The Toronto Daily Star Has the Latest News Service in Ontario

Of such experts, Hilaire Belloc, was the most noted in Great Britain, and Frank H. Simonds in America. So because The Toronto Daily Star "covers big events in a big way," it retained these two foremost reviewers to interpret the strategy and politics of war.

The Daily Star's Peace Conference despatches are exceptionally complete. The service of the Canadian Press and the Canadian Associated Press—alone considered sufficient by many Canadian newspapers—are supplemented in The Star by cables from the following and other exclusive correspondents:

In the Capitals of Europe

E. Percy Noel	Lowell Mellett	William Philip Simms
Webb Miller	Paul Ayres Rockwell	Frank J. Taylor
Paul Scott Mowrer	Junius B. Wood	Fred S. Ferguson
Edgar Ansel Mowrer	A. R. Decker (In London)	F. A. McKenzie
"Windermere"	Edward Price Bell	Edward L. Keen
John de Gandt	T. Murphy	Eunice Tietjens
Henry T. Wood	W. J. L. Kiehl	Rene Feibelman
William H. Brayden	Ernest W. Clement	William R. Gibbs
Lacey Amy	Rosamond Boultbee	Thomas Geddie

and the full service of the United Press and of the "Chicago News." The Toronto Daily Star readers are assured not only first news of what is happening in the world, but clear and authoritative explanations as to what the happenings mean.

You cannot read The Toronto Daily Star for a short while without feeling that it is "the paper you need." The truth of this shown by the many people who, sending in a trial subscription for three months, renew their subscription for a year before even the three months' period expires.
