As he traps on his own farm he does not even have to pay a license like other people. Neither does he have to pay upkeep for his fox ranch. It is all clear profit, those skins and Dick knows how to get 'em.

One evening last week while Mr. David Dow of town was running his cutting box his hand accidentally came in contact with the knives with the result that several of his fingers were terribly lacerated. Notice to Subscribers

For the past five years The Advance has been hoping against hope that newspaper costs would ease up and prices of material return to something near prewar conditions. On the contrary everything still has an upward tendency with no prospect of any relief in sight. We have lost a great deal of money by maintaining the old subscription price of one dollar and the time has now come when it is imperative, in order to protect ourselves from further loss, that we follow the course adopted by all other newspapers four or five years ago, and raising the price of the paper to $1.50 per annum and $2.00 to the United States. This change will take place on January 1st, 1920, which leaves ample time for all subscribers to get in their renewals at the dollar rate if they desire to do so.

On and after January 1st, 1920, The Advance will be $1.50 per annum, $2.00 to United States.

Red Star
Washes Quickly

This machine washes quickly, for it runs at a high speed. The gentlest push on the handle will send the fly wheel spinning, and the gentlest pressure keeps it spinning at this rapid rate until the washing is done. The clothes are swirled through the hot suds at three times the rate they can be washed by hand. In a few minutes the dirtiest garments are snowy clean. The hard work of washing the clothes is abolished. The Red Star Washer is a blessing to any housekeeper.

Call at the store to see this washer or have us send one up.
