Dog Killed by Wildcat

A large collie dog belonging to Mr. Jos. Chesney, southwest of Walkerton, was found lying torn to pieces in the barnyard on Wednesday morning. As a wildcat has been terrorizing that neighborhood for some time, and was seen by Chesney near his farm a few weeks previous, when a number of local nimrobs went out, but failed to bag the pussy. It is believed to have been prowling around for Chesney's fowl when the dog attacked it, and a battle ensued in which the canine met a horrible death. As the collie was a stout scrapper, and could give any of his species a lively argument at any time, the prowess of the feline in being able to scatter him in this manner shows the kind of menace that neighborhood has on its hands—Bruce Herald and Times.

The Moonshiner Bolted

Whiskey stills with a capacity of a gallon an hour were seized at the farm of Allan Mcdonald, con. 10, Floss. McDonald succeeded in getting away, but a warrant has been issued for his arrest.

Setting out from Barrie in a car, two officers reached the farm about 10 o'clock McDonald, who was working in a field, came to the house and when accused of having a still finally said he had one in the bush and offered to lead them to it. Inspector Fisher agreed to follow McDonald while the other officer took a look through the house. The farmer led the way to a cedar swamp and then he bolted. For about forty rods the officer followed him and then gave up the chase, realizing that there was little chance of catching him in the thick undergrowth. Two other stills were also discovered on the premises, a lot of mash and five gallons of good whiskey. It is alleged that most of "McDonald's Special" found its way to Collingwood. At any rate, it was complaints that an unusual number of cars from Collingwood direction were paying visits to McDonalds that led the inspectors to make the search.

Arnel Love Is A Mental Defective

(From The Globe)

The confession of Arnel Love that he murdered his mother, for which crime his father was hanged at Owen Sound, has been shattered by statements made by him since he has been under the observation of alienists at the Queen Street Asylum. The story he told at the trial has been compared with his confession and with statements made by him since his confinement, and the doctors are now convinced that he had nothing to do with the actual killing of his mother.

The doctors at the trial were unanimous that the woman was killed, not with a butcher knife, but with a hunting knife, but Love sticks to his story that he used a butcher knife. He told the doctors that he had revisited the scene of the crime only once before he was brought here for observation and that he did not think seriously of the crime. From this statement alone the doctors are sure that the confession made to Rev. Mr. Sharpe was an "obsession which drifted into his mind.

There is on record a statement made by the father to Dr. Phelan, coupling with a general denial of the crime "a declaration that he hoped nobody would ever point a finger at the boy." The father protested that while the lad was in the house at the time, he was asleep and knew nothing of the crime until the next morning, when he pressed his father to tell him where his mother was.

From the confession made by the boy, and certain peculiarities noticed since his confinement, the authorities are of the opinion that Arnel Love is a mental defective and must for some months yet remain under observation and treatment. Whether or not he will recover sufficiently to secure his release cannot be decided now, but in any event if he is given his freedom it will be conditional upon his not returning to Grey county, where the murder was committed.

The friends of Arnel Love in Grey county are still active in his behalf, although they have been denied communication with him.
