Obituary.

A resident of Toronto, nephew of a family of this town, died on the 12th of last week. The Mail says: "Chatham took ill about a fortnight ago with typhoid fever, the disease being catching, and although he received every attention in the best of Toronto houses, and every day ago he became delirious for the first time, and a few days ago he became quite fully conscious, he died at the 30th year of his age. The young man was graduated at Toronto University, and was receiving his license to practice in surgery in the city when the disease took hold of him. The deceased gentleman was a nephew of Mr. Chatham, of this town, and a warm supporter of the Mail. The deceased gentleman was also related to the Rev. Father Chatham, of Lindsay, and to the Misses Chatham, of this town, and the family have the sympathy of the public in their great loss. He was married but a few months before his death by the Rev. Father Chatham."
