CITY AND COUNTRY WEEKLIES

The publishers of the leading country papers have now forced upon them by the cheaper and reckless competition of two Toronto concerns, a question of some importance, viz., the maintainance of the present subscription prices of their papers. A couple of years ago the proprietors of the Mail, in order to secure for their weekly edition the "largest circulation in Canada" reduced the price to one dollar a year, the price before having been $1.20. This no doubt led to a effect for the Globe has now made a similar reduction. The net price is now 1.00 for each paper, so any practical man knows, will barely cover the cost of the white paper. The city weekly enjoys the advantage of drawing all up type from the daily, so that it does not have to bear the heavy item of type composition. It is printed at a time when the presses for the daily are idle, so that the cost of press work is reduced to a minimum. Still, the unnecessary competition has not been at all profitable to either parties, as is well known, so last June saw by a combination the price of the daily issues was advanced from six dollars to seven dollars per annum. The money thus obtained is apparently to be squandered on the weekly editions. A good many of our contemporaries took occasion some five years ago to protest against and condemn the policy of the Mail in the matter of the weekly edition, and to point out that whatever it gained it could be at the expense of its colleagues of the rural press. However this may be, we do not allude to the subject in a complaining or captious spirit. We simply desire to point out two or three facts for the information of those who may be instituting comparisons. We are confident that a first class local paper will hold its own as against any city paper, and we have never looked upon city weeklies as dangerous rivals. We agree with the concluding portions of the subjoined extract from the Peterboro Review as to the relative value of the two classes of papers. What we desire now to state is that in all likelihood the Toronto papers will in a year or two get tired of "running" each other, and advance the prices of their weekly editions to the old figures. They can do this without the least difficulty. They raised a dollar in their daily edition by a stroke of the pen. The publisher of a country weekly, on the other hand, if he lowered his price now, would find it almost impossible to go back to the $1.50. It would be work of great difficulty. The line indicated by the Peterboro Review is far better and wiser, and it is the one we intend to carry out. We hope by the improvements in The Post not merely to retain its present large list of readers but to effect during the coming winter a very material addition. We can leave the Toronto weeklies to fight it out between themselves; we do not in the least anticipate that either of them will displace Tory Post; and we may add that we have no hesitation in stubbing Tory Post with any of them as they may be convenient to enterprises. We have made this arrangements simply as a matter of convenience. The Review says:

It becomes so common a practice for publishers of weekly newspapers at this season of the year to hold out some special inducements to subscribers for the ensuing year, and especially the new ones, that our readers will easily understand that it is only after mature consideration, and for what appear good and sufficient reasons that we have determined to abandon all such devices to catch a few stray subscribers. It is quite true that larger papers can be had for less money, but we dispute the correctness of such a test in the case of papers any more than in that of books. No one of any intelligence thinks of valuing a book by the quantity of paper it contains. It is valued by the "brains" that have been put into it and so should it be with a newspaper. Instead of looking for the cheapest paper, the question should be, which is the best paper? Best, considering its quality, and quantity, in adopting the policy we have decided upon, to which we intend to adhere strictly, we are well aware that the judiciousness of our course will be questioned, and that our price will be compared with the big Toronto weeklies. The way to cope with them is not, however, by cutting prices or clubbing, but by raising the standard of the county press. So far as clubbing is concerned, our experience is that it is of much greater advantage to the city paper than the county one. If the county paper is not worth taking as an appendage to either the Globe or Mail, while the placing of it in such a position is calculated to notice it in the estimation of the public. At the price for which these big weeklies are issued it is obvious to any one acquainted with the cost of their publication that taken by themselves they can yield little or no profit to the publishers. If this be so then the object of their publication can hardly be other than to weaken the country press, and increase their own power, a result anything but in the interest of the country, however much it may be in that of their publishers, through the power which, if exercised, it would enable them to wield over their political friends. The true policy of the country press is not to lower the price of their papers the reader who will throw up a paper on the question of half a dollar per annum is of little value to the publisher or the advertiser who patronizes him, but to increase as far as possible the amount given in return to the subscriber for his money. A half dollar is very little to the subscriber, but to the publisher it is hundreds of dollars per annum, and affords the means for many expenditures in the interest of his readers which would otherwise be impossible. At least this is our conclusion and we propose to act upon it.

DEATH OF MR JAMES HOLDEN

We deeply regret to have to record the death of Mr. James Holden, managing director of the Whitby & Lindsay railway. Mr Holden went to Manitoba a couple of weeks ago, and while there was prostrated by congestion of the lungs and died at Dominion City on Monday forenoon. Mr Holden was a prominent politician and a leading railway man, and was held in the highest esteem. He was enterprising and public spirited, and his death at the age of fifty-two is a great loss to the community in which he resided. He leaves a widow and nine children. A longer notice of his career will be given next week.

We are requested to state that the funeral of the late Mr. Holden will take place at Whitby on Sunday next, at two p. m. A special train will leave Lindsay at 9 a. m., returning at 5 p. m. on that day, for the accommodation of parties wishing to attend. No doubt there will be a large attendance of our leading citizens.

EDITORIAL NOTES

It is generally understood—as the Mail, that the Dominion parliament will meet either on the 4th or 10th of January.

The Hamilton Times announces that Mr. Donald McInnis has been tendered and will accept one of the vacant senatorships.

London Advertiser:—"The original and only Houlihan has been chosen as the conservative candidate in East York for the next year. 'Tis well. There are few men who could be defeated with more advantage to the public weal."

This is the way the N. P. works for the farmer:—Mr R. Purdy, customs broker of Belleville, sent forward on Friday for the Campbellford woolen mills a special train consisting of thirteen cars of Cape wood, value $11,411.20. Our tory contemporaries are respectfully requested to add this item to their hum notes.

In the year 1878 the government of Sir John Macdonald had a deficit of $9,089,000; in 1879 a deficit of $1,298,000; in 1880 a deficit of $1,030,000, and in 1881 a deficit of $1,870,000. In fact, there never was a government in Canada which had so many and such large deficits as the governments of which Sir John was the head.

Canada for the Canadians:—The syndicate have selected Mr Van Horne, assistant general manager of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railway, for the position of general manager of the Canadian Pacific. There are three or four Yankees already in the prominent offices of this railway. Our tory cotem poraries should contract these things with their promises and the promises of their leader.

The Warder is quite too dreadfully dreadful. Some allusion in The Post to the adumbration of Hodson baked beans as article of diet for the development of intellectuality has moved it more in "sorrow than in anger" to lecture The Post on the impecuniosity of the press. We are quite willing to leave our contemporary to the placid enjoyment of its favorite sustenance, and not even its brightest corporations shall induce us to hint in the remotest way possible that it may not always know Boston baked beans when the bar is open.

Anent the dismissal of Messrs. Lanihan and Ryan the Warder wants to know whether they were dismissed because they are Catholics or because they are reformers. On both grounds, undoubtedly. Primarily because they are reformers, and their offices were wanted by tory office seekers. The tory leaders profess special friendship for Catholics, and this is the way they show it. Both dismissals were notoriously made without "good and sufficient reason." The dismissal of Mr. Lanihan was a cruel and ignoble act, and one that ought not to have been countenanced by the authorities at Ottawa.

The Warder is again indulging in egotistical rumbuncrees. It says: "We have Tory Post again on the hip. But like the Irishman's flea, it is not there when you think you have your finger on it." Now, our contemporary is an Irishman and is justly proud of the fact. But as such he should not blazon forth to a cruel and scoffing world this, to other people, uninteresting reminiscence about one's disappointment when he thought he "had his finger on it." There are things that ought not to be spoken of in newspapers, as the Warder ought to know by this time. We make the observation "more in sorrow than in anger."

A Winnipeg despatch states that the syndicate are rushing the construction of the Canada Pacific railway. During the month of September they graded an average of over three miles per day, or an aggregate of 98 miles. From October 19th to October 25th, five days, nine miles of track were laid, or an average of nearly two miles per day. The Pacific railway will be graded to Stony Creek, fifty miles west of Brandon, by Saturday night. The air line to Portage La Prairie will shortly be completed and open for traffic. Grading on the southern and western branches is being pushed ahead rapidly and will be ready for the first one hundred miles for ties and track laying early in spring. The harvest of southern Manitoba will be conveyed next year by rail.

Hamilton Times:—In replying to a vote of thanks at Orono, Mr. Blake intimated that almost every waking hour of his life would be devoted to the work of advancing the interests of the liberal party, until the next general election. We take this to be a modest confirmation of the statement which has been made unofficially that Mr. Blake has given up the practice of the law in order that his time and talents may be devoted exclusively to the leadership of the opposition. The sacrifice is a great one, and could not have been resolved upon except under the strong sense of the duty which he owed to his country. In the practice of his profession, which was an occupation congenial to his tastes, Mr. Blake is known to have earned an income of not less than $50,000 a year, and there are few Canadians in the prime of life who would voluntarily renounce so much personal gain to rescue the country from the evils of mismanagement. Around such a man the best elements of the country may rally."

"Don't Know Half Their Value"

"They cured me of ague, biliousness and kidney complaint, so recommended. I had a half bottle left which I used for my two little girls, who the doctors and neighbors said could not be cured. I would have lost both of them one night if I had not given them Burdock Blood Bitters. They are healthy and well. I continued their use until they were cured. That is why I say you do not know half the value of Burdock Blood Bitters, and do not recommend them high enough." R. Hooker, Jr., N. Y.—Autumn Hard Times.

THE INCUMBENCY OF ST. PAUL'S, LINDSAY.

(To the Editor of The Canadian Post.)

SIR,—In last week's Post your correspondent "X" pretends among other things that he and the Dominion Churchman were rebuked by the vestry of St. Paul's for daring to discuss a public ecclesiastical question, when he knows well it was for "evil speaking, lying and slandering," sins which "X" ought to know are forbidden by his church, but he seems to have forgotten if he ever knew.

"X" is quite at liberty to hold his own theory of "fat places for favorites" against Lindsay's theory of "the right man in the right place," but I object to his trying to mislead your readers to think that we are introducing a new method of procedure when he says: "This appointment is an entire reversal of the order of things." Have not the congregation of St. Paul's, Lindsay, as much right to a minister of their own choosing as that of the Church of the Ascension, Toronto, for whom the Rev. Mr. Baldwin was expressly ordained?

Even in his allusion to the election of a bishop "X" cannot be accurate. The Lindsay delegates never "fought" for the election of Bishop Sweatman, though they did rejoice when he was elected. If "X" remembers anything about the election, he knows that the present bishop was a compromise and unanimously elected. His sneer at their want of implicit obedience, therefore, amounts to nothing.

Again, "X" says that if Lindsay were erected into a rectory, Mr. Jones would be the rector. There is no proof of this, and even if there were he might have a successor under whom the Lindsay people might be as badly off as the parishioners of Peterborough or even Fenelon Falls.

Lastly, "X" says "Lindsay could not be constituted a rectory unless a bona fide endowment is provided." It may be so, but we think it better to be safe than sorry. Yours, &c.,

J. H. KNOTT.

COMMERCIAL NEWS.

OFFICE OF THE CANADIAN POST, LINDSAY, Oct. 27th, 1881.

Business and Prospects.

An improvement has taken place in the local grain trade as prices are better and the roads have been hardened by the frost. The barley market is firm and strong, and in our opinion farmers would do well to sell as once as freights and insurance are advancing, and after the 15th of November insurance is not a rule taken. Prices are not unlikely to go down again, though owing to the western demands nothing certain can be said on this point. The wheat market is dull with a declining tendency. Mr. Geo. Matthews has commenced operations in the pork factory, and will take all the dressed hogs farmers can bring in. Farmers are specially requested to be particular in dressing the hogs as they will thereby obtain higher prices. General business continues good. The live stock markets are fairly active.

It would seem from the following extract from "Bradstreet's" that barley prospects for a firm, advancing market are not bad. Late advices as to the barley crop of the United States and Canada do not show a probability of there being much more available for brewing purposes than last year. This in spite of an increased acreage and larger yield in certain sections. The out-turn of the crop of 1881-82 cannot fall far from 41,000,000 bushels as against 36,171,000 bushels, the Agricultural Bureau's estimate for the year 1880-81. The barley acreage in Wisconsin, Minnesota and Nebraska during the past season has been largely increased. The yield is reported as fair, and it is believed that the excess will be due to the growth in these states. In some portions of the west drouth, and in others rain, have discolored and damaged the the crop, rendering it unfit for brewers' purposes. Elsewhere in the United States, east of the Mississippi, the barley crop generally promises a good average yield. The Canadian crop, it is thought, will approximate that of 1878, an exceptionally fine harvest. This permits an export to the United States of over 11,000,000 bushels. It is highly probable that the reported deficiency in the California stock of barley held over, in the neighborhood of 1,500,000 bushels, will practically offset this year's excess of Canadian barley. There promises to be an increased demand this year for feeding as well as distillery purposes, and, in sympathy with the market value of the other grains, it is fair to presume barley will also maintain good prices.

Montreal Live Stock Market.

The supply of live stock at the Montreal market on Monday was very large, consisting of 800 head of cattle, 100 of sheep and and lambs, and 700 fat hogs. There was a fair demand for prime cattle for shipment and good cattle for local consumption. Prices ranged for the best from 4½c to 5c; second class, 4½c to 4c; and third class 3½c to 3c per lb live weight. Sheep brought from 4½c to 5c, and lambs from $2.50 to $2.75 each.

NEWCOMBE PIANOS

BOSTON, 14th SEPT., 1881.

Messrs. Octavius Newcombe & Co., Toronto.

DEAR SIRS,—For brilliancy and sympathetic quality of tone I consider your Upright Pianos unequalled by any made in Canada. The touch is responsive, the treble is clear and resonant, so that I can in all respects recommend them.

OTTO BENDIX.

Letter from Dr. G. W. STRATHY, so long known in Toronto as a most thorough and accomplished musician.

TORONTO, 26th SEPT., 1881.

Messrs. Octavius Newcombe & Co.

GENTLEMEN,—After thoroughly testing the Upright Pianos you are now manufacturing, by playing on them and making a critical examination of the mechanism and workmanship, I have much pleasure in stating that on account of the following qualities, viz: brilliancy of the treble, sonority of the middle part and power of the bass, and at the same time equality of tone throughout, with agreeableness of touch, I consider them entitled to be ranked among the best instruments of the kind manufactured on this continent. Wishing you every success, I remain, Gentlemen,

Your obedient humble servant,

GEO. W. STRATHY, Mus. Doc.

Professor of the chair of Music of the University of Trinity College, Toronto, &c.
