Shiloh's Remedies.

OH, WHAT A COUGH!

Will you heed the warning. The early stages of that is a precursor of the more fatal disease consumption. Ask yourselves if you can afford for the sake of saving 50 cents from the risk and do nothing for it. We know from experience that Shiloh's Cure will cure your cough. It never fails. This explains why more than a million bottles were sold the past year. If Croup, and whooping cough at once. Mothers do not do without it. For lame back, side, or chest, use Shiloh's Porous Plaster. Sold by A. HIGINBOTHAM, Lindsay.

Dyspepsia and Liver Complaint.

Is not worth the small price of 75 cents to free yourself of every symptom of these distressing complaints! If you think so call at my store and get a bottle of Shiloh's Vitalizer. Every bottle has a printed guarantee on it, use accordingly and if it does you no good it will cost you nothing. Sold by A. HIGINBOTHAM, Lindsay.

We have a speedy and positive cure for Catarrh, Diphtheria, Canker Mouth and Head Ache, in SHILOH'S CATARRH REMEDY. A nasal injector free with each bottle. Use it if you desire health and sweet breath. Price 50 cents. Sold by A. HIGINBOTHAM, Lindsay. 72-25-now.

The Canadian Post.

LINDSAY, FRIDAY, AUG. 1, 1884.

NEWS OF THE WEEK.

HOME AND FOREIGN ITEMS OF INTEREST.

Gathered from the Telegraph and Exchanges.

There were three days of steady rain at Calgarry last week.

A Rodney hotel keeper was recently fined for running two bars.

There is intense heat and many cases of sunstroke in southern Russia.

At Newman station, Ky., seven persons were bitten by a mad dog last Friday.

Smuggling is now an organized business in some parts of the eastern townships.

A boy twelve years of age named Obed Manuel was drowned while bathing at Port Rowan.

Two Normandy farmers were victimized to the tune of $150 each by lightning rod swindlers.

A deliberate attempt was made Tuesday night in New York to burn a tenement house occupied by 28 families.

Drought has been doing great injury to the crops within a radius of 150 miles in all directions from Cincinnati.

Two locomotives exploded on the Lehigh Valley Railroad last Friday, five men in one case and four in the other being killed.

During a performance of Barnum's circus at Cortland, N. Y., last Wednesday the canvas tents were blown down and 25 persons injured.

Frank Dumas was forced out of $180 at the Bonaventure depot, Montreal, by a sharper, who gave him a bogus American bond in exchange.

Thos. Plank, aged twenty, was sentenced to seven and a half years in the penitentiary for having tried to ruin an emigrant girl in New York.

A water tap carelessly left open admitted water enough into the stationery store of Miller & Co., Montreal, to seriously damage $20,000 worth of goods.

Wm. Blecker of Blenheim, will stay at the central prison for one year and ten months for snatching the satchel from the servant girl of Mrs. Hall at Buckhorn the other day.

A fire started in a wheat field in Montana the other day and in a short time six thousand acres of grain and several large dwellings were destroyed, causing a loss of about $100,000.

It is reported the St Petersburg police found three nihilists secreted in the park of the palace where the czar promenades. The nihilists resisted, wounded the sergeant of police, and escaped.

An affray occurred last week near Inverness, between deer stalkers, laborers and gillies on the estate of Winans, the American millionaire. A gillie named Campbell killed a laborer named McGillivray. Campbell has been arrested.

A work train with forty bridge hands was passing through the Black canon near Denver the other day, when a spark from the engine ignited a box containing giant powder, a terrific explosion followed, killing three, and wounding a number of others.

A sad accident occurred at Villa Nova on Tuesday to Mr. Hellizer. While engaged in driving a reaper the horses took fright and ran away, and threw him forward, the machine passing over his body and frightfully mangling it. His recovery is considered doubtful.

At Bell Rapids, Dakota, a tornado on Monday afternoon demolished twelve dwellings, two stores, two churches, a school house, and two wheat warehouses. Some stock was blown away. Many persons were hurt and one killed. Crops and farm property were destroyed.

At Fort Lawrence, Nova Scotia, a young man named baptism was passing a grave and when suddenly two ghost like figures rushed out upon him. Without being anymore suspicious than other people he pasted them for genuine ghosts, and proceeded at once to go crazy, and is now in a private asylum.

Once more Ste. Anne de Beaupre, near Montreal, is credited with remarkable cures. With the Ottawa Irish pilgrims who came up from the shrine the other day was a girl cured of blindness, another of lameness, and a child from an infirmity of the legs which prevented its kneeling for 10 months.

Immense numbers of faithful catholics are passing through Montreal almost daily to the shrines of the lower St. Lawrence, and the reports of miraculous cures to people who have long been suffering from infirmities of all kinds are numerous. There is no restriction in the restoration to health so far as age or sex is concerned.

The British ironclads Defence and Valiant collided on Monday night in Bantry bay, Ireland. The Valiant lost a metal of her boats, had her bulwarks smashed and many armour plates torn off. The Defence had a hole eleven feet long and half a foot wide stove in her ram. No lives were lost. The captain of the Defence will be court martialled.

The glanders horse belonging to Geo. Davidson of Harrietsville was examined the other day by Dr. Wilson of London, on the expiration of the week's quarantine, and he ordered the horse to be shot, the disease having reached an infectious stage. Davidson has been summoned to show cause why he offered the horse for sale, knowing that the animal was affected with glanders.

A Paris physician got into a great scrape lately by declaring that a young lady of seven, and belonging to a family of respectability, drank. Another doctor was promptly summoned and said the same thing. The parents were in despair and incredulity. They said that their daughter actually disliked wine. "Watch her carefully," said doctor No. 2; and a few days later mamma caught the victim of the mysterious malady at the eau de cologne bottle.

A gentleman just after inspecting the wheat fields of London, Nimouri, Biddulph, McGillivray, Williams, Warwick, and Lobo townships, reports the midge generally distributed, but nowhere in any large numbers. Michigan amber wheat was found most affected, and in one field where this variety and the dominant wheat were growing side by side the latter was free from the pest entirely. Spring wheat is less injured than fall, but in no instance few he think the loss will exceed ten per cent.

—A train on the Vicksburg, Shreveport and Pacific railway, while crossing over the Mississippi river bridge, was engulfed and destroyed.

—A runner named Steven Leslie, employed on the top of Niagara in Hamilton's gunpowder, fell to the bottom, about twenty feet down, and was killed on the spot.

—Judge Mitchell, nearly a full-blooded negro, has received the appointment as judge in the military tribunal of West Point, from the seventh district of South Carolina.

—A brakeman named Swenson, from Guelph, was killed at Brantford on Monday last. He was coupling an oil or freight train, and was caught between the buffers and killed instantly.

—The Scott pot has been emptied in Smithsville, Quebec, by a majority of 1,352. The number of votes polled in the county for the act was 1,401, and the number of votes polled against it was only 249.

—Four persons were poisoned at Muskegon, Mich., by drinking "Rough on Rats" in their coffee at breakfast. A woman discovered by one of the parties to suspect of having put the poison in the boiling water.

—Extensive forest fires are raging in Michigan owing to the long continued drought. Hundreds of men are fighting the flames, which are spreading with fearful rapidity. Whole sections have been completely devastated.

—A young woman wearing the salvation army uniform was detected passing $10 counterfeit bills at London, Ont. She was followed to the station were all traces of her was lost. The captain of the corps at London pronounces her an imposter.

—Manitoba is apparently opposed to the marriage of poor settlers. The government collects $7.50 for a marriage license, against $2 in Ontario. Young men and women, who meditate removal to the Northwest, should take warning and "buckle to" before departure.

—In the city of Mexico last Sunday as the crowded horse cars were coming in from a celebration at Jacuba, an unfortunate woman who was standing on the front platform with a baby in her arms fell off, and the infant, falling with its neck across the rails, was completely decapitated by the wheels of the heavy car.

—One day last week an eight-year-old son of Mr. Jas. Bryans of Elora went into the dam for a swim, an enterprise at which he was fairly expert. Unfortunately he slipped between the logs which are boomed to the dam, and although he made efforts to escape impending death he was unable to extricate himself and was drowned.

—There is a great dearth of female teachers for the public schools of London (England) and the number of vacancies is increasing. There are no applications before the authorities for the vacant places. The reason given for this anomalous state of affairs is that the unnecessary severity of the preliminary examinations is frightening women away from the field of labor.

—A constable in London East has discovered a novel method of finding owners for stray dogs. "Whenever I see a strange dog on the street," said the constable, "I just pick up a stone and let fly at him. Of course he runs howling in the direction of his home, and I watch the gateway or doorway where he enters. In this manner I scored $7 for the corporation during the past week."

—The entire salvation army, numbering twenty-four persons, twelve of them women and two colored, which paraded the streets at Grand Rapids, Mich., the other evening, was arrested by the police and locked up at the police station for disturbing the peace by beating tambourines and drums, and shouting. Mayor Reinga read the riot act to their captain on Monday, and requested that they stop such actions. He replied that he would do as he pleased, and did, with the above result.

—The fresh alarms that have been created by the latest plot against the Russian emperor are leading to the propagation of all kinds of sensational stories, the last being of a projected plot to blow up the crown prince of Germany and the new palace at Potsdam, and the German government is playing into the hands of the Russian police by expelling ruthlessly from Berlin every Russian who cannot show that he is engaged in some industry or studying at the university.

—Overholt & Co's distillery, at Connelsville, Pa., with three bonded warehouses with an immense quantity of whiskey and corn, was burned on Wednesday night. Spontaneous combustion of mill dust, or a cigar left by a workman, is supposed to have been the cause of the fire. Nearly all the whiskey was owned by Philadelphia and New York parties. The flames lit up the country for miles, and burning whiskey flowed down the river. Twenty-five barrels were rolled away and the whiskey was dipped up by the mob. Hundreds of men became drunk.

Surgeons at the county hospital at Chicago have under treatment a Miss Murphy, 27 years old, who is suffering from a horrible disease which affects cattle and is known as "lump jaw." It is in the form of an abscess on her jaw, and it was at first supposed to be an ordinary abscess, but microscopical examination proves the contrary. The abscess was found to contain vegetable parasites identical with those found in the abscesses on cattle. It is supposed to be caused by eating meat from cattle having the disease. The case excites some interest as it is the first one reported in the United States, though similar cases have already been recorded in Germany.

—Cook, the well-known tourist agent, says: "It is almost impossible to exaggerate the effects of the cholera outbreak in France. Besides the depression which it has brought upon general business on the continent, its effects upon European summer travel, both commercial and holiday, have been simply enormous. It is true that the present rush from the southern and eastern countries to England somewhat compensates for the losses in the regular transportation eastward and southward, but the general effect upon European travel has been disastrous. The quarantines are probably driving back as many tourists as the plague."

—The spread of the cholera and the increase in the number of deaths have caused a panic among the people in the south of France. Every train bound north brings hundreds of men, women and children who are abandoning their homes and all their possessions..... The deaths at Arles are averaging nine daily. The panic there is increasing.... Deaths at Toulon from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. on Tuesday numbered twelve..... Two deaths from Asiatic cholera occurred at Madrid Tuesday. At Toulon and Marseilles typhoid has followed in a number of cholera cases. The doctors pronounce the disease typhoid cholera..... Sixty deaths at Marseilles during Tuesday ending 9 p.m. The total number there since the epidemic is 874.

—A cable despatch from London says: Demonstrations against the action of the house of lords in reference to the franchise bill were held Saturday at Manchester and Nottingham. At Manchester John Bright presided and made a fiery speech, which was wildly applauded. He said that unless English freedom was a fraud and a sham, the people would know how to deal with an aristocratic chamber which was ever hostile to popular rights and national interests. The marquis of Hartington, who occupied a prominent position on the platform, evidently could not forget that he was the heir to the great dukedom of Devonshire, and perceptibly winced as the radical leader continued to excoriate the aristocracy. When his turn came to speak Lord Hartington deprecated the use of language intended to injure the peers, but he was listened to with manifest impatience by the audience..... The tory demonstration in Hyde park Saturday, intended as a counter episode to the monster liberal meeting there last Monday, was a complete failure. Hardly 1,000 persons assembled, and they were quickly dispersed by a heavy rain.....

—[illegible] the Russian [illegible] at the palace of Ekaterinoslaff, [illegible] the palace of Ekaterinoslaff.

—The Windsor Hotel, Montreal, has been running last week at the rate of $1,000 per day. They have formed a pool, and the one who sells on credit will have to winnow up $50.

—A Dorchester man has been arrested in Milwaukee, Wis., on a charge of swindling the people of Strathclyde, Dundee, out of money for his family name to support to be Lecturer.

—The eldest Presbyterian minister in Canada, the Rev. Thos. Fraser, died at Beverend last week, aged 98. He was ordained 60 years ago, and his first charge in Canada was in the town of Niagara, which he held for many years.

—The London Standard has a despatch dated Mahlmgang Camp, June 27, saying that 1,200 French troops attacked the House of Mangeneen at six o'clock that morning. The French had mounted gendarmes, infantry, and artillery, consisting of six field pieces and three mitrailleuses. The attack lasted three hours, when the French retired. The Malagangs behaved admirably, acting with perfect coolness and firing steadily. The attack was not renewed.

—Horace Mently, an aged minister of the gospel living in Wayne county, N. Y., went to New York to dispose of $18,000 worth of bonds the other day, met a couple of young men, took a few drinks of liquor with them, and woke up in the police station with his face battered almost out of semblance, his clothing covered with blood and his bonds gone. The liquor had been drugged, and when the old gentleman feels like taking a drink of liquor again he will do it in his own house far away from the strange young men. He has gained experience in his old age.

—The investigation into the mysterious Cornwall crimes at Dublin, forced on the government by Mr. O'Brien, the editor of United Ireland, is proceeding and a cable despatch says the evidence on Saturday was horrible.... The arrest of Dr. Fernander of the Coldstream guards, on the charge of being an accomplice of Cornwall in his crimes, has caused an immense sensation. Dr. Fernander is a handsome bachelor of forty, and a popular society man. He was arrested Saturday evening while dining with a party of brother officers at Aldershot. Other sensational arrests are expected, and it is said that the police are in search of another officer of the guards, who is a relative of the Marquis of Salisbury, who himself sports a title, and who has fled to avoid arrest. The number of criminals implicated in these practices will reach twenty, and most of them are prominent men in official and social circles.

—A London special to the Toronto Mail says: There is a prospect of a revival of the agitation regarding the alleged sufferings and hardships of the crofters of Scotland and the islands in the north of Great Britain. The writings and lectures of Mr. Henry George have done much to bring about the revival, and his recent controversy with the duke of Argyle has given it a fresh fillip. It is now announced that Mr. Donald McFarlane and other radical members of the house of commons intend to utilize the approaching recess of parliament by a tour of Scotland and the islands along the coast, with a view of personally investigating the crofters' grievances. If these are found to be real, Mr. McFarlane proposes to ventilate the whole subject at the next session, and to demand that some measure of relief be enacted. The Scotch landlords, however, are indignant at the proposed unofficial visitation, and several of them have declared that if a party of meddling radicals come investigating around their property, they will be promptly ducked in the nearest horse pond.

—A resident of St. Petersburg writes confirming a recent telegram, and supplying the following details: Colonel Paschkoff, who has again been banished for holding religious meetings, has done as much as any man of his generation for the good of his country and the benefit of the poor. Count Korff, who has also been ordered to leave, is the son of one who was raised to a higher rank among the nobility on account of the services he rendered the government. On receiving the order to leave his country, Count Korff appealed for a few weeks respite owing to the fact that his wife was near her confinement. This was refused. Hence they must leave in a few days, though it be at the risk of the lady's life. The shop of Mr. Grote in the Litanaya has been closed by order of the police. Henceforth it is illegal to distribute the publications of the Religious Tract Society, though, strange to say, they bear the printed permission of the censor. A more stringent law has also been passed respecting the children of those who cannot conform to the Greek church. They may now be taken and shut up in a convent without even an appeal to the emperor.—[London Times.

—The death rate from cholera continues to decrease at Toulon and Marseilles..... Paris is said to have never been so deserted of foreign travellers as at present..... The authorities at Gibraltar threatened to fire on the French corvette Argentina, which had arrived from Marseilles for coal, if she did not at once leave.... A number of undertakers at Marseilles have been arrested for selling bedding and clothing which belonged to victims of the cholera..... Marseilles is now a prey to thieves who enter the deserted houses and plunder at will..... Isolated cases of cholera continue to be reported from various parts of France..... A woman living at Courbevoie, a few miles from Paris, was seized with cholera on Thursday, and at once conveyed to the hospital. No apprehension of further cases there is felt..... Two cases have occurred at Narbonne, and at St. Naizaire two cases. At the latter place an unknown woman was seized with the disease while passing along the street. She fell to the ground and expired immediately.... At Marseilles an old woman over seventy was missing for several days. The police forced an entrance to her lodging and found her body upon the floor. She was a victim of cholera. She had lived almost exclusively on fruit..... A steamer with cholera aboard arrived off Huevla in Spain. The inhabitants were panic-stricken and fled into Portugal..... It is complained at Marseilles that measures of precaution against the spread of cholera have been slackened and that the work of disinfection is not sufficiently thorough..... The cholera epidemic at Toulon continues to decrease. There were only thirteen deaths here last Friday night and twenty-four at Marseilles. At Mourillon, near Toulon, fifty cases of cholera were reported Saturday. The disease is increasing in the surrounding villages.... There were two deaths at Toulon Saturday and two in the suburbs. The total of the deaths which have occurred there is 503. The exodus from the city has decreased its population by two-thirds ..... The total number of deaths in France since the outbreak will reach 1,000. About 500 persons who have been attacked with the disease have been cured. The proportion of cures would be greater if those rendering assistance were better organized. The total number of places in France where the infection has appeared is fourteen. Marseilles is threatened with a most famine, many butchers having closed their shops. Others find difficulty in securing supplies..... A patient at Toulon committed suicide last Saturday by plunging a knife into his heart..... The fugitives are beginning to return. The municipal authorities have thanked the sisters of charity for their devotion and zeal in assisting the sufferers. During the day ending at 9 o'clock Saturday evening there were fifty-eight deaths at Marseilles..... The Catholics of Marseilles have again petitioned the mayor to authorize a procession and public prayers for the abatement of the cholera, but the request was refused..... A sailor from Marseilles who was landed at Liverpool for a boat after undergoing the present quarantine was seized with cholera. He was immediately taken to a hospital. Inquiries made at the residence of his parents in Liverpool showed that they were quickly dispersed by a heavy rain.....

—[illegible] and [illegible] the Russian [illegible] at the palace of Ekaterinoslaff, [illegible] the palace of Ekaterinoslaff.

—The Windsor Hotel, Montreal, has been running last week at the rate of $1,000 per day. They have formed a pool, and the one who sells on credit will have to winnow up $50.

—A Dorchester man has been arrested in Milwaukee, Wis., on a charge of swindling the people of Strathclyde, Dundee, out of money for his family name to support to be Lecturer.

—The eldest Presbyterian minister in Canada, the Rev. Thos. Fraser, died at Beverend last week, aged 98. He was ordained 60 years ago, and his first charge in Canada was in the town of Niagara, which he held for many years.

—The London Standard has a despatch dated Mahlmgang Camp, June 27, saying that 1,200 French troops attacked the House of Mangeneen at six o'clock that morning. The French had mounted gendarmes, infantry, and artillery, consisting of six field pieces and three mitrailleuses. The attack lasted three hours, when the French retired. The Malagangs behaved admirably, acting with perfect coolness and firing steadily. The attack was not renewed.

—Horace Mently, an aged minister of the gospel living in Wayne county, N. Y., went to New York to dispose of $18,000 worth of bonds the other day, met a couple of young men, took a few drinks of liquor with them, and woke up in the police station with his face battered almost out of semblance, his clothing covered with blood and his bonds gone. The liquor had been drugged, and when the old gentleman feels like taking a drink of liquor again he will do it in his own house far away from the strange young men. He has gained experience in his old age.

—The investigation into the mysterious Cornwall crimes at Dublin, forced on the government by Mr. O'Brien, the editor of United Ireland, is proceeding and a cable despatch says the evidence on Saturday was horrible.... The arrest of Dr. Fernander of the Coldstream guards, on the charge of being an accomplice of Cornwall in his crimes, has caused an immense sensation. Dr. Fernander is a handsome bachelor of forty, and a popular society man. He was arrested Saturday evening while dining with a party of brother officers at Aldershot. Other sensational arrests are expected, and it is said that the police are in search of another officer of the guards, who is a relative of the Marquis of Salisbury, who himself sports a title, and who has fled to avoid arrest. The number of criminals implicated in these practices will reach twenty, and most of them are prominent men in official and social circles.

—A London special to the Toronto Mail says: There is a prospect of a revival of the agitation regarding the alleged sufferings and hardships of the crofters of Scotland and the islands in the north of Great Britain. The writings and lectures of Mr. Henry George have done much to bring about the revival, and his recent controversy with the duke of Argyle has given it a fresh fillip. It is now announced that Mr. Donald McFarlane and other radical members of the house of commons intend to utilize the approaching recess of parliament by a tour of Scotland and the islands along the coast, with a view of personally investigating the crofters' grievances. If these are found to be real, Mr. McFarlane proposes to ventilate the whole subject at the next session, and to demand that some measure of relief be enacted. The Scotch landlords, however, are indignant at the proposed unofficial visitation, and several of them have declared that if a party of meddling radicals come investigating around their property, they will be promptly ducked in the nearest horse pond.

—A resident of St. Petersburg writes confirming a recent telegram, and supplying the following details: Colonel Paschkoff, who has again been banished for holding religious meetings, has done as much as any man of his generation for the good of his country and the benefit of the poor. Count Korff, who has also been ordered to leave, is the son of one who was raised to a higher rank among the nobility on account of the services he rendered the government. On receiving the order to leave his country, Count Korff appealed for a few weeks respite owing to the fact that his wife was near her confinement. This was refused. Hence they must leave in a few days, though it be at the risk of the lady's life. The shop of Mr. Grote in the Litanaya has been closed by order of the police. Henceforth it is illegal to distribute the publications of the Religious Tract Society, though, strange to say, they bear the printed permission of the censor. A more stringent law has also been passed respecting the children of those who cannot conform to the Greek church. They may now be taken and shut up in a convent without even an appeal to the emperor.—[London Times.

—The death rate from cholera continues to decrease at Toulon and Marseilles..... Paris is said to have never been so deserted of foreign travellers as at present..... The authorities at Gibraltar threatened to fire on the French corvette Argentina, which had arrived from Marseilles for coal, if she did not at once leave.... A number of undertakers at Marseilles have been arrested for selling bedding and clothing which belonged to victims of the cholera..... Marseilles is now a prey to thieves who enter the deserted houses and plunder at will..... Isolated cases of cholera continue to be reported from various parts of France..... A woman living at Courbevoie, a few miles from Paris, was seized with cholera on Thursday, and at once conveyed to the hospital. No apprehension of further cases there is felt..... Two cases have occurred at Narbonne, and at St. Naizaire two cases. At the latter place an unknown woman was seized with the disease while passing along the street. She fell to the ground and expired immediately.... At Marseilles an old woman over seventy was missing for several days. The police forced an entrance to her lodging and found her body upon the floor. She was a victim of cholera. She had lived almost exclusively on fruit..... A steamer with cholera aboard arrived off Huevla in Spain. The inhabitants were panic-stricken and fled into Portugal..... It is complained at Marseilles that measures of precaution against the spread of cholera have been slackened and that the work of disinfection is not sufficiently thorough..... The cholera epidemic at Toulon continues to decrease. There were only thirteen deaths here last Friday night and twenty-four at Marseilles. At Mourillon, near Toulon, fifty cases of cholera were reported Saturday. The disease is increasing in the surrounding villages.... There were two deaths at Toulon Saturday and two in the suburbs. The total of the deaths which have occurred there is 503. The exodus from the city has decreased its population by two-thirds ..... The total number of deaths in France since the outbreak will reach 1,000. About 500 persons who have been attacked with the disease have been cured. The proportion of cures would be greater if those rendering assistance were better organized. The total number of places in France where the infection has appeared is fourteen. Marseilles is threatened with a most famine, many butchers having closed their shops. Others find difficulty in securing supplies..... A patient at Toulon committed suicide last Saturday by plunging a knife into his heart..... The fugitives are beginning to return. The municipal authorities have thanked the sisters of charity for their devotion and zeal in assisting the sufferers. During the day ending at 9 o'clock Saturday evening there were fifty-eight deaths at Marseilles..... The Catholics of Marseilles have again petitioned the mayor to authorize a procession and public prayers for the abatement of the cholera, but the request was refused..... A sailor from Marseilles who was landed at Liverpool for a boat after undergoing the present quarantine was seized with cholera. He was immediately taken to a hospital. Inquiries made at the residence of his parents in Liverpool showed that they were quickly dispersed by a heavy rain.....

—[illegible] the Russian [illegible] at the palace of Ekaterinoslaff, [illegible] the palace of Ekaterinoslaff.

—The Windsor Hotel, Montreal, has been running last week at the rate of $1,000 per day. They have formed a pool, and the one who sells on credit will have to winnow up $50.

—A Dorchester man has been arrested in Milwaukee, Wis., on a charge of swindling the people of Strathclyde, Dundee, out of money for his family name to support to be Lecturer.

—The eldest Presbyterian minister in Canada, the Rev. Thos. Fraser, died at Beverend last week, aged 98. He was ordained 60 years ago, and his first charge in Canada was in the town of Niagara, which he held for many years.

—The London Standard has a despatch dated Mahlmgang Camp, June 27, saying that 1,200 French troops attacked the House of Mangeneen at six o'clock that morning. The French had mounted gendarmes, infantry, and artillery, consisting of six field pieces and three mitrailleuses. The attack lasted three hours, when the French retired. The Malagangs behaved admirably, acting with perfect coolness and firing steadily. The attack was not renewed.

—Horace Mently, an aged minister of the gospel living in Wayne county, N. Y., went to New York to dispose of $18,000 worth of bonds the other day, met a couple of young men, took a few drinks of liquor with them, and woke up in the police station with his face battered almost out of semblance, his clothing covered with blood and his bonds gone. The liquor had been drugged, and when the old gentleman feels like taking a drink of liquor again he will do it in his own house far away from the strange young men. He has gained experience in his old age.

—The investigation into the mysterious Cornwall crimes at Dublin, forced on the government by Mr. O'Brien, the editor of United Ireland, is proceeding and a cable despatch says the evidence on Saturday was horrible.... The arrest of Dr. Fernander of the Coldstream guards, on the charge of being an accomplice of Cornwall in his crimes, has caused an immense sensation. Dr. Fernander is a handsome bachelor of forty, and a popular society man. He was arrested Saturday evening while dining with a party of brother officers at Aldershot. Other sensational arrests are expected, and it is said that the police are in search of another officer of the guards, who is a relative of the Marquis of Salisbury, who himself sports a title, and who has fled to avoid arrest. The number of criminals implicated in these practices will reach twenty, and most of them are prominent men in official and social circles.

—A London special to the Toronto Mail says: There is a prospect of a revival of the agitation regarding the alleged sufferings and hardships of the crofters of Scotland and the islands in the north of Great Britain. The writings and lectures of Mr. Henry George have done much to bring about the revival, and his recent controversy with the duke of Argyle has given it a fresh fillip. It is now announced that Mr. Donald McFarlane and other radical members of the house of commons intend to utilize the approaching recess of parliament by a tour of Scotland and the islands along the coast, with a view of personally investigating the crofters' grievances. If these are found to be real, Mr. McFarlane proposes to ventilate the whole subject at the next session, and to demand that some measure of relief be enacted. The Scotch landlords, however, are indignant at the proposed unofficial visitation, and several of them have declared that if a party of meddling radicals come investigating around their property, they will be promptly ducked in the nearest horse pond.

—A resident of St. Petersburg writes confirming a recent telegram, and supplying the following details: Colonel Paschkoff, who has again been banished for holding religious meetings, has done as much as any man of his generation for the good of his country and the benefit of the poor. Count Korff, who has also been ordered to leave, is the son of one who was raised to a higher rank among the nobility on account of the services he rendered the government. On receiving the order to leave his country, Count Korff appealed for a few weeks respite owing to the fact that his wife was near her confinement. This was refused. Hence they must leave in a few days, though it be at the risk of the lady's life. The shop of Mr. Grote in the Litanaya has been closed by order of the police. Henceforth it is illegal to distribute the publications of the Religious Tract Society, though, strange to say, they bear the printed permission of the censor. A more stringent law has also been passed respecting the children of those who cannot conform to the Greek church. They may now be taken and shut up in a convent without even an appeal to the emperor.—[London Times.

—The death rate from cholera continues to decrease at Toulon and Marseilles..... Paris is said to have never been so deserted of foreign travellers as at present..... The authorities at Gibraltar threatened to fire on the French corvette Argentina, which had arrived from Marseilles for coal, if she did not at once leave.... A number of undertakers at Marseilles have been arrested for selling bedding and clothing which belonged to victims of the cholera..... Marseilles is now a prey to thieves who enter the deserted houses and plunder at will..... Isolated cases of cholera continue to be reported from various parts of France..... A woman living at Courbevoie, a few miles from Paris, was seized with cholera on Thursday, and at once conveyed to the hospital. No apprehension of further cases there is felt..... Two cases have occurred at Narbonne, and at St. Naizaire two cases. At the latter place an unknown woman was seized with the disease while passing along the street. She fell to the ground and expired immediately.... At Marseilles an old woman over seventy was missing for several days. The police forced an entrance to her lodging and found her body upon the floor. She was a victim of cholera. She had lived almost exclusively on fruit..... A steamer with cholera aboard arrived off Huevla in Spain. The inhabitants were panic-stricken and fled into Portugal..... It is complained at Marseilles that measures of precaution against the spread of cholera have been slackened and that the work of disinfection is not sufficiently thorough..... The cholera epidemic at Toulon continues to decrease. There were only thirteen deaths here last Friday night and twenty-four at Marseilles. At Mourillon, near Toulon, fifty cases of cholera were reported Saturday. The disease is increasing in the surrounding villages.... There were two deaths at Toulon Saturday and two in the suburbs. The total of the deaths which have occurred there is 503. The exodus from the city has decreased its population by two-thirds ..... The total number of deaths in France since the outbreak will reach 1,000. About 500 persons who have been attacked with the disease have been cured. The proportion of cures would be greater if those rendering assistance were better organized. The total number of places in France where the infection has appeared is fourteen. Marseilles is threatened with a most famine, many butchers having closed their shops. Others find difficulty in securing supplies..... A patient at Toulon committed suicide last Saturday by plunging a knife into his heart..... The fugitives are beginning to return. The municipal authorities have thanked the sisters of charity for their devotion and zeal in assisting the sufferers. During the day ending at 9 o'clock Saturday evening there were fifty-eight deaths at Marseilles..... The Catholics of Marseilles have again petitioned the mayor to authorize a procession and public prayers for the abatement of the cholera, but the request was refused..... A sailor from Marseilles who was landed at Liverpool for a boat after undergoing the present quarantine was seized with cholera. He was immediately taken to a hospital. Inquiries made at the residence of his parents in Liverpool showed that they were quickly dispersed by a heavy rain.....

—[illegible] the Russian [illegible] at the palace of Ekaterinoslaff, [illegible] the palace of Ekaterinoslaff.

—The Windsor Hotel, Montreal, has been running last week at the rate of $1,000 per day. They have formed a pool, and the one who sells on credit will have to winnow up $50.

—A Dorchester man has been arrested in Milwaukee, Wis., on a charge of swindling the people of Strathclyde, Dundee, out of money for his family name to support to be Lecturer.

—The eldest Presbyterian minister in Canada, the Rev. Thos. Fraser, died at Beverend last week, aged 98. He was ordained 60 years ago, and his first charge in Canada was in the town of Niagara, which he held for many years.

—The London Standard has a despatch dated Mahlmgang Camp, June 27, saying that 1,200 French troops attacked the House of Mangeneen at six o'clock that morning. The French had mounted gendarmes, infantry, and artillery, consisting of six field pieces and three mitrailleuses. The attack lasted three hours, when the French retired. The Malagangs behaved admirably, acting with perfect coolness and firing steadily. The attack was not renewed.

—Horace Mently, an aged minister of the gospel living in Wayne county, N. Y., went to New York to dispose of $18,000 worth of bonds the other day, met a couple of young men, took a few drinks of liquor with them, and woke up in the police station with his face battered almost out of semblance, his clothing covered with blood and his bonds gone. The liquor had been drugged, and when the old gentleman feels like taking a drink of liquor again he will do it in his own house far away from the strange young men. He has gained experience in his old age.

—The investigation into the mysterious Cornwall crimes at Dublin, forced on the government by Mr. O'Brien, the editor of United Ireland, is proceeding and a cable despatch says the evidence on Saturday was horrible.... The arrest of Dr. Fernander of the Coldstream guards, on the charge of being an accomplice of Cornwall in his crimes, has caused an immense sensation. Dr. Fernander is a handsome bachelor of forty, and a popular society man. He was arrested Saturday evening while dining with a party of brother officers at Aldershot. Other sensational arrests are expected, and it is said that the police are in search of another officer of the guards, who is a relative of the Marquis of Salisbury, who himself sports a title, and who has fled to avoid arrest. The number of criminals implicated in these practices will reach twenty, and most of them are prominent men in official and social circles.

—A London special to the Toronto Mail says: There is a prospect of a revival of the agitation regarding the alleged sufferings and hardships of the crofters of Scotland and the islands in the north of Great Britain. The writings and lectures of Mr. Henry George have done much to bring about the revival, and his recent controversy with the duke of Argyle has given it a fresh fillip. It is now announced that Mr. Donald McFarlane and other radical members of the house of commons intend to utilize the approaching recess of parliament by a tour of Scotland and the islands along the coast, with a view of personally investigating the crofters' grievances. If these are found to be real, Mr. McFarlane proposes to ventilate the whole subject at the next session, and to demand that some measure of relief be enacted. The Scotch landlords, however, are indignant at the proposed unofficial visitation, and several of them have declared that if a party of meddling radicals come investigating around their property, they will be promptly ducked in the nearest horse pond.

—A resident of St. Petersburg writes confirming a recent telegram, and supplying the following details: Colonel Paschkoff, who has again been banished for holding religious meetings, has done as much as any man of his generation for the good of his country and the benefit of the poor. Count Korff, who has also been ordered to leave, is the son of one who was raised to a higher rank among the nobility on account of the services he rendered the government. On receiving the order to leave his country, Count Korff appealed for a few weeks respite owing to the fact that his wife was near her confinement. This was refused. Hence they must leave in a few days, though it be at the risk of the lady's life. The shop of Mr. Grote in the Litanaya has been closed by order of the police. Henceforth it is illegal to distribute the publications of the Religious Tract Society, though, strange to say, they bear the printed permission of the censor. A more stringent law has also been passed respecting the children of those who cannot conform to the Greek church. They may now be taken and shut up in a convent without even an appeal to the emperor.—[London Times.

—The death rate from cholera continues to decrease at Toulon and Marseilles..... Paris is said to have never been so deserted of foreign travellers as at present..... The authorities at Gibraltar threatened to fire on the French corvette Argentina, which had arrived from Marseilles for coal, if she did not at once leave.... A number of undertakers at Marseilles have been arrested for selling bedding and clothing which belonged to victims of the cholera..... Marseilles is now a prey to thieves who enter the deserted houses and plunder at will..... Isolated cases of cholera continue to be reported from various parts of France..... A woman living at Courbevoie, a few miles from Paris, was seized with cholera on Thursday, and at once conveyed to the hospital. No apprehension of further cases there is felt..... Two cases have occurred at Narbonne, and at St. Naizaire two cases. At the latter place an unknown woman was seized with the disease while passing along the street. She fell to the ground and expired immediately.... At Marseilles an old woman over seventy was missing for several days. The police forced an entrance to her lodging and found her body upon the floor. She was a victim of cholera. She had lived almost exclusively on fruit..... A steamer with cholera aboard arrived off Huevla in Spain. The inhabitants were panic-stricken and fled into Portugal..... It is complained at Marseilles that measures of precaution against the spread of cholera have been slackened and that the work of disinfection is not sufficiently thorough..... The cholera epidemic at Toulon continues to decrease. There were only thirteen deaths here last Friday night and twenty-four at Marseilles. At Mourillon, near Toulon, fifty cases of cholera were reported Saturday. The disease is increasing in the surrounding villages.... There were two deaths at Toulon Saturday and two in the suburbs. The total of the deaths which have occurred there is 503. The exodus from the city has decreased its population by two-thirds ..... The total number of deaths in France since the outbreak will reach 1,000. About 500 persons who have been attacked with the disease have been cured. The proportion of cures would be greater if those rendering assistance were better organized. The total number of places in France where the infection has appeared is fourteen. Marseilles is threatened with a most famine, many butchers having closed their shops. Others find difficulty in securing supplies..... A patient at Toulon committed suicide last Saturday by plunging a knife into his heart..... The fugitives are beginning to return. The municipal authorities have thanked the sisters of charity for their devotion and zeal in assisting the sufferers. During the day ending at 9 o'clock Saturday evening there were fifty-eight deaths at Marseilles..... The Catholics of Marseilles have again petitioned the mayor to authorize a procession and public prayers for the abatement of the cholera, but the request was refused..... A sailor from Marseilles who was landed at Liverpool for a boat after undergoing the present quarantine was seized with cholera. He was immediately taken to a hospital. Inquiries made at the residence of his parents in Liverpool showed that they were quickly dispersed by a heavy rain.....