Is your daughter enjoying life?

IT is just in her "teen age" that a girl should be getting the most fun out of life!—Yet so often it happens that girls of sixteen-to-twenty have outgrown their strength—are quickly tired, pale, nervous, generally run-down and unhappy!

These are sure signs of anaemia, a condition that results from thin, worn-out, under-nourished blood. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have corrected this in thousands of girls. Here is the actual experience of Mrs. Ben Nicholas of Erieau, Ont.

"My daughter was in a run-down state. She was easily tired and did not wish to associate with others. As this was unnatural, I began giving her Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and they soon made a strong healthy girl of her. Now she is as happy a girl as one would wish to see."

Start your daughter on this proven treatment now by buying Dr. Williams' Pink Pills at your druggist's or any dealer in medicine or by mail, 50 cents, postpaid, from The Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont. 1-33

CHILDHOOD

Happy season of Childhood! Kind Nature, that art to all a bountiful Mother; that visitest the poor man's hut with auroral radiance; and for thy Nursling hast provided a soft swathing of Love and infinite Hope, wherein he waxes and slumbers, danced round by sweetest dreams.—Thomas Carlyle.

Son—"Why do you suppose Adam was made before Eve?" Dad—"Oh, I suppose it was to give him a chance to say a little something first."

"Permanents" Are Profitable Now

British Women Pay Estimated Sum of $600,000,000 Every Year

London—Permanent waves are a permanent source of revenue to Britain's hairdressers. It is estimated that 10,000,000 members of the so-called weaker sex spend $600,000,000 every year on this particular form of glorifying their crowning glory. A permanent in this country costs on an average $15 and one is needed four times a year.

In addition the average woman spends $40 a year in the hairdresser's parlor in waving, shampooing, shingling and so on.

Fashionable women sometimes pay as much as $2,500 a year to their hairdressers. The feminine haircut often costs as much as a dollar, a tar shampoo a little more, and if a "blue rinse" is given as well, which simply means a water rinse with the addition of a blue bag, it costs half a dollar extra. Five dollars is the fee for bleaching, and two dollars for an egg-and-rum shampoo.

According to a number of tonsorial experts, the society woman of today spends something like five or six hours every week at this shrine of beauty.

Indicative of the extreme interest of both sexes in this comparatively new industry or profession, is the Hairdressing Fair of Fashion, which was held here recently.

All the latest fashions and styles were revealed. There were seen and explained the mystries of the classic shingle, the satin shingle, the silvery glory, the piquant crop, and even a wonderful method of training a baby's hair to grow early.

The mechanical side played an important part in the exhibition. Weird specimens of electrical apparatus, super-permanent waving machines, looking like giant octopi with fearsome tentacles, super-winders, and all the paraphernalia of the industry were shown.

There were demonstrations of the only way to adjust a mud-pack and an ice-pack. Shelves were laden with lotions, balms and complexion powders.

One revealation of the exhibtion was that women are not the only seekers after beauty. There was a fair percentage of men in the attendance.

Elderly men spend much time and large sums of money trying to smooth away wrinkles and the double chins, and young men crowd the hairdressers' parlors trying not to look like the old men.

MALICE

Malice at any time, is a reprehensible state of mind. When it comes into being, there is a return to the primitive. Probably the psychologists would describe it as a return to type. We would probably say it was a "throw-back."

It doesn't matter what we call it—malice is a very bad thing. And when it comes, there is no telling how far we shal go in it. It grips some badly—seriously; it lands them in a very dangerous, and even a criminal, position.

But malice of the usual known kind, the kind that is obvious—and, if the odd expression may be used, above-board—is bad enough. What is really worse is that super-malice that creeps in and out and around us until we feel it doing its fell work, and yet we never know when it is going to strike us.

This sort is so delicate in its machinations that it becomes positively snakish. You can never tell where its fangs are going to bite next. The mind that has this kind of malice in it is not far off insanity; for it is no normal malice. And certainly it is no normal mind that conceives it.

Fortunately it is not prevalent. But we do have to deal with it at times. Then it is that our soul and happiness are in jeopardy.

Feet Sore? Use Minard's Liniment.

"Our opponents are trying to win this election with a campaign of lying; but, thank Heaven, we have a candidate who can beat them at their own game."

Reduce the Acid

Sick stomachs, sour stomachs and indigestion usually mean excess acid. The stomach nerves are over-stimulated. Too much acid makes the stomach and intestines sour.

Alkali kills acid instantly. The best form is Phillips' Milk of Magnesia, because one harmless, tasteless dose neutralizes many times its volume in acid. Since its invention, 50 years ago, it has remained the standard with physicians everywhere.

Take a spoonful in water and your unhappy condition will probably end in five minutes. Then you will always know what to do. Crude and harmful methods will never appeal to you. Go prove this for your own sake. It may save a great many disagreeable hours.

Be sure to get the genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia prescribed by physicians for 50 years in correcting excess acids. Each bottle contains full directions—any drugstore.

WHEN YOUR BABY CATCHES A COLD

In spite of all precautions little ones will take colds—especially during the changeable days of our Fall season. When the first symptoms appear—sneezing, redness of the eyes, running nose — Baby's Own Tablets should be given at once. They will rapidly break up the cold and prevent more serious complications.

Mothers who keep a box of Baby's Own Tablets in the home always feel safe. In fact they are like having a doctor in the house. They are a gentle but thorough laxative that sweeten the stomach and regulate the bowels, thus driving out constipation and indigestion and relieving the baby of the many childhood ailments which are the direct result of a clogged condition of the bowels or sour stomach. They are absolutely safe—being guaranteed to contain no drug at all harmful to even the youngest babe. They cannot possibly do harm—they always do good.

Baby's Own Tablets are sold by all medicine dealers or will be sent by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Fortune Discovered In An Old Building

Two Old Prospectors Make Strike in "Ghost" Town of West

Yerington, Nev.—Angora, one of the west's "ghost" towns whose streets once echoed to the tramp of sourdoughs and plodding burros, again has yielded "pay dirt." Not from the earth that men probed hopefully in quest of riches in a bygone era of the golden west, but in the ruins of an old abode building was a small fortune recovered.

Buried treasure—$5,000 worth of $20 gold pieces—was there, stained with blood and lying unmolested for 65 years to become, strangely enough, a "strike" for two old prospectors—Wallace Dowell and James Handel. It was chance that brought an unexpected change in the fortunes of the men, two of the fast disappearing type of prospectors who followed the trails over mountain and desert. In an ancient motor vehicle which they nursed along—one driving, the other holding the clutch — Dowell and Handel stopped one day recently in the shadow of the crumbling walls of Angora, 60 miles east of here, seeking relief from the desert heat.

The desolate picture which greeted the prospectors as they paused for their siesta conveyed nothing of the one-time greatness of the village that to-day lives only in history and legend.

Once Angora was a roaring town, coveted by both California and Nevada, and finally marked on the map of the latter place after a federal survey established its claim It was "bad" even in an era when civic virtue was at low ebb among the boomtowns of the youthful west Then came the rebellion against the dominance of the lawless element in February, 1864 The lawabiding organized a vigilante committee, seized the armory and established order after arresting the sheriff his deputies and four desperados, whom they hanged.

It was conerning that clean-up that a story about Governor Nye of Nevada is told. Hearing of the excitement, he telegraphed Samuel Young, then a county commissioner, warning that no violence must be done. Back went the laconic reply: "All quiet and orderly. Four men will be hanged in half an hour."

Franchise Dangers

Times of India: We have frequently stressed the point, and we do it with the utmost earnestness, that the present is not the time to enlarge Indian electorates. There is indeed much ground for thinking that the electorates are already too large. The many cases of maladministration among loal boards and smaller municipalities point the same moral. As the control of administration passes into Indian hands it must of necessity rest, in the first instance, with the intelligentsia, whose efforts are bound to be hampered by the claims of a large and ignorant electorate. To give people the vote first and education afterwards would be to put the cart before the horse. Education must come first. It is the duty of the Government and the intelligentsia to educate the masses as speedily as possible so that they can take an intelligent part in the government of the country.

APPRECIATION

Appreciation is a happy state of mind awakened by something that is felt as well as perceived. It is wholly a question of the value of that which is perceived. And the appreciation of values depends upon culture, which is analogous to what religious teachers call a state of grace. A man might absorb all the book knowledge that the publishers could supply him, and his higher nature still remain unfed.

Louise—"I wish I'd thought twice before marrying you." Sam—"Huh—I'd be satisfied if I had thought once."

Minard's Liniment relieves stiffness.

Botha and His Countrymen

Johannesburg Times: The Cabinet has refused a site at Union Buildings for a memorial statue to General Botha, one-time Commander-in-Chief of the Boer Army and the first Premier of South Afria under whose aegis the Union Buildings were erected. One would have thought that any South African Government — whether Nationalist or South African Party—would have been proud to honor the memory of so distinguished a son of South Africa as Louis Botha—although his good deeds for the Union have given him a monument much more enduring than stone or brass. Louis Botha loved this country with deep sincerity and that the country loved him has been proved with great frequency. The farmer's boy of the past was destined to become Commander-in-Chief of the Boer forces during the most momentous years in the history of the Republic, and, after the signing of the Peace Treaty of Vereeniging, he developed a sense of vision and statesmanship which transformed four antagonistic provinces into a great Union—how great in the future depends entirely upon those who live in it.

Mother-in-Law—"Why, Marie, any woman would be satisfied with that Percy says he gives you." Marie—"So would I."

"Where have you been?" "In the hospital getting censored." Censored?" "Yes, I had several important parts cut out."

FAITH

There is more satisfaction in looking through the telescope of faith than into the microscope of criticism.

Although there is to be no more war, one of the habits acquired in the last war may possibly be continued. One who obviously has the welfare of the nation at heart has suggested that the wearing of identity discs should be compulsory, in view of the casualties in the streets nowadays.

Everything seemed a Burden

"I feel I must write and tell you of the great benefit I have derived from Kruschen Salts. For three years I suffered from constipation, depression and nerves, which made everything seem a burden.

"After attending doctors on and off for this period, I commenced to take Kruschen, and from then I gradually got back to my usual state of health. I have now resumed my duties, and work is once more a pleasure.

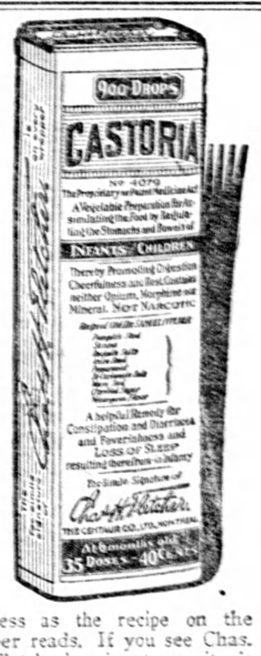
"I am continuing with Kruschen Salts, and after being back at business nearly six weeks am maintaining the 'Kruschen feeling' and recommend the public to take the 'little daily dose,' and keep themselves fit these hustling days.

"I shall always be pleased to answer any inquiries in praise of Kruschen Salts." —D. C.

Original letter on file for inspection.

Kruschen Salts is obtainable at drug and department stores in Canada at 75c. a bottle. A bottle contains enough to last for 4 or 5 months—good health for half-a-cent a day.

An Ailing CHILD



Are you prepared to render first aid and quick comfort the moment your youngster has an upset of any sort? Could you do the right thing—immediately—though the emergency came without warning—perhaps tonight? Castoria is a mother's standby at such times. There is nothing like it in emergencies, and nothing better for everyday use. For a sudden attack of colic, or the gentle relief of constipation; to allay a feverish condition, or to soothe a fretful baby that can't sleep. This pure vegetable preparation is always ready to ease an ailing youngster. It is just as harmless as the recipe on the wrapper reads. If you see Chas. H. Fletcher's signature, it is genuine Castoria. It is harmless to the smallest infant; doctors will tell you so.

You can tell from the recipe on the wrapper how mild it is, and how good for little systems. But continue with Castoria until a child is grown.

No wonder this TORONTO Mother is proud

"MY little son, Richard, was troubled a lot with constipation," says Mrs. Ethel Evans, 263 Monarch Park, Toronto, Ont. "He got very weak, run-down and underweight. I gave him California Fig Syrup; and in just a little while he was eating heartily and gaining. Now I'm proud as can be; he's so robust, bright and active."

Temporary relief should be far from the first consideration when a child shows by bad breath, coated tongue, biliousness, or a listless, weak condition, that he's constipated. Of course, the child's system needs a prompt cleansing. But the youngster's bowels also need toning and strengthening.

That's where California Fig Syrup does its best work. It helps strengthen the bowel muscles; gives tone to a weak stomach. That's why faulty digestion improves with its use; bowel movements become regular and remain so.

Every child loves its flavor; its cleansing action is prompt but gentle. A pure vegetable product; no danger of causing the laxative habit. It has full medical endorsement. There are many imitations; but the word California marks the genuine.

From Mother of Six

"I think Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is wonderful! I have had six children of which four are living and my youngest is a bonnie baby boy now eight months old who weighs 23 pounds. I have taken your medicine before each of them was born and have certainly received great benefit from it. I urge my friends to take it as I am sure they will receive the same help I did." —Mrs. Milton McMullen, Vanessa, Ontario.
