THE LEGAL LEGISLATURE

In ten days or so the Local Legislature will be called together for the despatch of business. From all we can learn the session will not be a very lengthy one. Some importance however will be attached to it on account of its being the last meeting of the present Parliament, and people will naturally look to see the relative strength of the two parties on the floor of the House, and then calculate as to the probabilities of a change before the new Parliament is opened. There are two or three questions that are also likely to come up for discussion and that will demand a little more attention than has been formerly given them. We refer to the Orange Incorporation Bill and to the act for non-exemption of taxes. Mr. Mowat has vacillated too long already as to the course to be taken in regard to these measures. But the time has now come when he will probably be compelled to take some more determined action in respect of them. The Opposition strengthened by recent success will be in a far better position to insist on those rights, which we have contended all along, have been unjustly withheld from the Orange body. They have not one do they now ask for any more than has been accorded other bodies; certainly they do not want to be put off with any thing less. But put the matter off Mr. Mowat may, and put it off as long as he may, the members of the Orange body will not come in their thousands until the matter has been finally set at rest. Another question that has been agitating the public mind for some considerable time is that in regard to tax exemptions. It seems somewhat strange that the Exemption Act has remained so long in force but it is more the less grievous for its long standing. It appears a most unjust thing that the poor should be taxed to enrich the property of the wealthy and those that are in a position to bear a share of the burden of taxation go scot free. What is County Judges, Civil Service, and other officials care about the rate on the dollar so long as they haven't to put their hand in their pocket? They all the same to them whether it is ten mills or twenty five mills. They live on the fat of the land and the people are taxed in order to procure salaries for them. But as we said at the beginning Mr. Mowat will have to give a little attention to these matters when the House meets. He is likely enough, though the session will be rushed through and the more important measures left to the last moment. We have one comforting assurance however that when those of Parliament assemble this place that once knew Oliver will know him no more for ever. Perhaps on that memorable day Hills go to the bench again. Quite likely.

IN SACKCLOTH AND ASHES

Wiry Mowat at the low seat at the King's gate clothed in sackcloth and ashes and bewailed the destruction of his people at the hands of Hayes and his emissaries he, we doubt, presented no more pitiful spectacle than does the Mowat Ministry of to-day mourning over the loss of East Peterboro. That the result of the contest in this constituency was deemed of vital importance is evident from the strong efforts put forth on behalf of Mr. Levy, and no less certain is his defeat looked upon with mortification and dismay. His friends, by whom we mean Mr. Mowat and his colleagues, counted on his success but as it turns out they counted without their host. Their nominee has been defeated, and that too, by one against whom a great party had been raised on the ground of non-residency. Mr. Mowat's has run so hard proud of his victory in the face of all the opposition against him. He has been elected, by a small majority it is true, but one sufficiently large to convince Mr. Mowat that the people are not disposed to set aside the verdict so emphatically given on the 4th ult. Comfort ye, Mr. Mowat, for the fates have not been over kind to the Reform party during the year now waning. Completely routed at the general elections, many of their election cases against them, and now to add to their cup of bitterness already full, East Peterboro has declared against them. If the result of last Saturday is to be taken as an indication of the result of the general election as the Globe said it must be, we cannot but accept it as an indication of what is in store for the Mowat Ministry when they again present themselves for re-election. By the return of Mr. Mousie a blow has been struck that will resound throughout the length and breadth of the Province of Ontario and one that will not cease vibrating until the last remaining stronghold of Grithun has been carried. Had Mr. Mowat and his colleagues been more mindful of the affairs of the Province and less zealous about the welfare of their friends at Ottawa, they probably would not today be full of woe and lamentation over their signal defeat in East Toronto.

MUTINY IN THE RANKS.

From all we can learn disaffection reigns in the Grit camp. Ever since the seventeenth of September demoralization has been gradually going on but now there is open revolt. And this has been brought about there is no use concealing the fact by the Globe's determined opposition to Mr. BLAKE again entering Parliament and assuming the leadership of the Opposition. Everything appears to have been nicely put in train with this end in view but at the last moment there seems to have been a hitch in the arrangements. The Convention that met at Bowmanville the other day refused to accept the resignation of Mr. BURK, M.P., for West Durham. It seems to have been an understood thing that Mr. BURK would resign and Mr. BLAKE be called upon to accept the seat. In fact matters had progressed so far that Mr. BURK had signified his intention as willingness to make way for Mr. BLAKE, and nothing apparently remained to be done but to accept the formal resignation of the former. This however the Convention refused to do, so that matters remain pretty much as they were before excepting, as we said before, the dissatisfaction that has sprung up in consequence among the rank and file at the unexpected termination of the proceedings. The more advanced Liberals, as they choose to call themselves, feel particularly sore over the matter for they had fully made up their minds that Mr. BLAKE would have been on hand to guide their deliberations when Parliament met. And now it seems almost unlikely that he will be able even to secure a seat let alone taking the leadership of the party. Indeed if we are to judge by appearance he is not yet physically strong enough to plunge into the political arena, and engage in what must prove a severe strain on a constitution now sadly undermined. This is a matter for regret, at the same time we cannot help thinking that he would be wiser in adhering to his former resolution of retiring altogether from political life. He may do so now for he cannot fail to see the Globe's opposition to himself, in fact it is patent to everybody, and this the organ of the party need not attempt to deny. That impression has gone abroad all over the Dominion and it will be a difficult matter to remove it, even if it can be done. With Mr. MACKENZIE deposed and refusing to again accept the lead and up, and Mr. BLAKE out in the cold, it would seem as the Mail stated the other day, that there will be no Opposition during the coming session.

EDITORIAL NOTES

THE King Kollora, as they are still of, are at their work again. Fine news is the King of Dommy's, who has received a number of letters congratulating him on his accession.

THE report comes that the Russian Government has been notified of the Czar's intention to propose the Duke of Edinburgh as Prince of Bulgaria. The proposal is looked upon, and it was no doubt intended, as a special sign of Russia's friendship towards England.

A DISPATCH from Vienna states that the Russian Government was in fairly apprehension of demonstrations on the part of the Nihilists, and that a number of arrests had already been made. The temporary closing of the universities is in contemplation. Fresh internal troubles are considered one cause of Russia's conciliatory foreign policy.

WITH the flight of the Ameer from Cabul it would seem as if the disturbance that has been going on in Afghanistan for some time, was about at an end. Late accounts from the seat of war say the Ameer had lost nearly all control at Cabul and that his soldiery were deserting. One of the tribes occupying the Khyber Valley escaped to the mountains before the arrival of the British troops.

THE death of BAYARD TAYLOR, United States Minister at Berlin, on Thursday last, appears to have been somewhat sudden. It now transpires that what was mistaken by his physicians for symptoms of dropsy was in reality a disease of the kidneys from which he had suffered for a long time but had attached no importance to the malady. His remains have been embalmed preparatory to conveying them to the United States.

THE distress existing among the poorer classes at the present time in Manchester and other places in different parts of England, Scotland and Wales, is said to be very great. Thousands of artizans and laborers generally have been thrown out of employment and there is much suffering in consequence. This condition of affairs is not improved by the increasing cold weather. Not only are the workhouses crowded out, but the hospitals there are a larger number of cases than has been known before.

THE MOLLY MAGUIRES.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Dec. 18. Jack Kehoe, the notorious chief of the Molly Maguires, was hanged this morning. As he marched to the scaffold he said: "I am not guilty of the murder of Langdon. I never saw the crime committed." When the drop fell, Kehoe's body was violently contorted for a few minutes. Death was caused by strangulation. Langdon was murdered fourteen years ago. Kehoe, with others in '76, were sentenced for conspiracy, when developments concerning Langdon's death were made, and he was accused of that crime and convicted.

CHARLIE ROSS AGAIN

NEW YORK, Dec. 18. Dr Mary Walker comes to the front with the latest "true version" of the Charley Ross story. She says that when he disappeared she hastened to his parents and gave them not only consolence, but also money and her personal efforts to fathom the mystery. She lived in the family for some time. She stumbled across a bit of information which led her to believe that all was not right; and she finally discovered that Charlie's father had put the little boy out on board with a family who were in the conspiracy. She says she did not expose the fraud, because it took her many months to find out where the boy was kept. She claims that Ross has made a large sum of money out of the sympathies of the public, and that he has offered to pay her handsomely if she would keep her knowledge to herself. The boy would have been discovered long ago, and, indeed, arrangements were at once made to have the child found at St. Albans, Vt., but was known that she would expose the taxes, and so it has been secreted. She says that within three weeks she has seen and spoken with the child, and that she is acquainted with his entire history since the supposed abduction. She will publish a book in two or three weeks containing the complete story of what she calls the greatest hoax ever perpetrated upon the American people. A good many people have given considerable credence to Dr. Mary's story, while others think it is a shrewd device for raising the wind in a forthcoming literary effort.

ADDRESS TO THE MARQUIS OF LORNE AND PRINCESS LOUISE.

WHAT THE GRANGERS HAVE TO SAY.

OTTAWA, Dec. 20.—The following address has been presented by the Dominion Grange of the Patrons of Husbandry to His Excellency the Governor-General and Her Royal Highness the Princess Louise:—

To his Excellency the Right Hon. Sir John Douglas Sutherland Campbell, K.T., G.M.G., the Marquis of Lorne, Governor-General of Canada, and Her Royal Highness the Princess Louise:—

Through the medium of the Dominion Grange, the representative society of the great agricultural of Canada, we extend to His Excellency the Marquis of Lorne and Her Royal Highness the Princess Louise the hearty and earnest welcome of the yeomanry of this country, and desire to express our sincere wishes for your happy life amongst us, and the successful direction of the affairs of the country in the honored position you are called upon to fill. As agricultural representatives of an important industry, we accept the present as a fitting opportunity to give expression to our feelings of loyalty to the British Throne, of love for Her Majesty our Queen and reverence for her late honored consort Prince Albert, whose illustrious name shines bright in the history of the agricultural interests of Great Britain, and whose examples and precepts have given an impetus to the calling of husbandry and added dignity and honor to those engaged as tillers of the soil. We rejoice to know that amid the rural population of Canada strong feelings of fidelity to the mother country exists, which are now strengthened, and the bond of love drawn closer by the presence in our midst of the beloved daughter of our noble Queen. May her lines be drawn in pleasant places, her life with us be such that in future years she may look back to this period of her life with pleasure; and to Your Excellency as Governor-General of Canada our hearts' desire is that your reign may be marked by Canada's unparalleled prosperity, which in years to come will be a source of pride and satisfaction to you. And while we are extending our expressions of loyalty and welcome to Your Excellency and Her Royal Highness, we regret that amid the many welcomes and festive scenes attending your introduction into Canada, you are so soon called upon to mourn the loss by death of one holding a strong place in your hearts' affection—the Princess Alice. We extend to you and Her Gracious Majesty the Queen our heartfelt sympathy in this great sorrow. With these expressions of our loyalty, our love and our sympathy, we commend you to the care of Him whose Divine guidance soothes all sorrow and leadeth into paths of righteousness, and, if sought for, will instruct you in the honorable and responsible duties of your high position.

A PROPHECY REVIVED.

From the Ottawa Free Press

Some seven years ago a California miner made it his business to go prospecting up the Gatineau. While scouring around among the lonely mountains he discovered a cave, and in it was the skeleton of a man. The remains were evidently those of an Englishman of wealth, who had retired to the fastnesses of the forest years before to live a hermit life away from the haunts of men, as papers found in a crevice of the rock seemed to indicate. Among the scraps of paper was a piece of parchment containing the following curious prophecy, which had been in part fulfilled at that period. The scrap as then published is as follows:—

A PROPHECY.

The land is rich and vast and wide,
Laved by two oceans' restless tide,
Yet ere ten years their course run
This mighty land shall all be one.
When first into the Senate Hall,
The nation shall her rulers call,
A mighty man shall murdered fall.

But ere these years have onward past,
Grim war shall ride the Southern blast
And all the land with grief o'ercast.
The Northern land shall victor be,
The Southern land be cleft in three.

And ere a score of years have flown,
A King shall sit on the Northern throne—
The seer sees beyond his death,
This shall not be while I have breath.
But things shall come more great and weighty
Before the year eighteen and eighty.

In the Wilderness, 1860

The prophecy having apparently been written in the year 1860, its fulfilment in the several instances up to date is remarkable, to say the least. The seer wrote: "Yet ere ten years their courses run, this mighty land shall all be one" and in 1867, seven years from the time first mentioned, Confederation was consummated and the Dominion of Canada came into existence. A year later, on the first assemblage of the Federal Parliament, came the death, by assassination, of the talented D'Arcy Mcgee, as brilliant a man as ever breathed the air of this free country. The prophecy of the rebellion in the States was quickly realized, breaking out in the fall of 1861 and extending over a period of four years, during which time scores of thousands of valuable lives were lost and the shadow of sorrow cast on as many households throughout the length and breadth of the neighboring Republic, as well as on those in this country, for many a native Canadian was laid low on the field of battle in the American War. "The Southern land be cleft in three," reads the prophecy, and so it was, by Sherman's march to the sea and Grant's "on to Richmond," the two victories practically dividing the country into three parts when success finally crowned their efforts. The last prophecy has yet to be fulfilled. But will it be?—this is the question. The paper read "And ere a score of years have flown, a king shall sit on the Northern throne," and then "But things shall come more great and weighty, before the year eighteen and eighty." It is a remarkable fact, taken in conjunction with the rumor that a Viceregal Court would be established in this country, that seven years ago, when the prophecy was first made public, there was no thought that one of the royal line would grace the Government House of Canada by our presence, as is now the case with the Princess Louise. We shall see what we shall see!

The total imports at New York during November are a million less than for the corresponding month last year, and the total exports about a million less. The balance of trade for the whole country will be gold, $60,000,000 for the eleven months ending the last month, and upwards by $[illegible] for the year.

THE FIRES OF NEBRASKA.

OMAHA, Dec. 20.—Later reports show that the burning of two men in Custer County was the fiendish work of cattle men, who are determined to keep homesteaders out of that county. The two victims had simply taken homesteads.

LINCOLN, Neb., Dec. 19.—Governor Garber has offered a reward of $10,000 for the apprehension of the gang of villains who burned Ketchum and Mitchell alive in Custer county last week. Additional information from Bordon County stamps the outrage as the worst ever known. The two men were chained to a pole extending horizontally, with their feet barely touching the ground, and slowly burned to death. People in the western part of the State are fearfully excited, and the country will be scoured for the apprehension of the gang.

LAUGHED HERSELF TO DEATH.

From the Providence Journal, Dec. 14th.

One of the most extraordinary deaths that ever was chronicled in this city occurred yesterday, and is to-day the talk of the town. The circumstances are as follows:—Mr. Joshua Walker is a respectable coloured man, residing on Fillmore street, and married a short time since a young woman of excellent character and who was not quite twenty years of age. Joshua proved a worthy husband, always looking after the household comfort. Day before yesterday he purchased some fresh pork which he intended to salt down for the coming cold weather. Yesterday he went to the cupboard for the purpose of obtaining salt with which to make a brine for the pickling, and took from a jar what he presumed was the required article, thereafter proceeding to the cellar to use it on the meat. His wife Rosa, being about her household duties, did not notice what the husband was about, but when she came down from the chambers made the discovery almost immediately that Joshua had taken a quantity of granulated sugar to salt the pork. She did not rave and get mad, but possibly had she taken that turn she would not now be lying cold in death. Instead she set out to a hearty laugh, going to the spot where her husband was. Her laughter continued for some time, there being not the least cessation. She laughed and laughed and laughed, her presumed merriment getting more boisterous each moment. Finally the husband became alarmed, and sent out for assistance, and soon his landlord, Deacon Henry Hazard, arrived, witnessing in a few minutes, the poor woman's departure, it is hoped, for the better land. She had positively laughed herself to death. The husband's horror at this extraordinary result of his innocent mistake can be better imagined than described. He was warmly attached to his young wife, and it is fitting, in drawing the veil over the terrible scene, to say that they were both exceedingly worthy persons and that the husband has the sympathy of scores of people in this hour of his trouble.

A FAITHLESS WIFE

HAMILTON, Dec. 22.—This afternoon an affair took place in the western part of the city which caused a considerable sensation. John Marshall, a mechanic in Greening's wire works, resides at 209 York street. A short time ago he took a young Frenchman named Biros, who was then employed in the same works, to board with him. Soon it was noticed that a close intimacy had sprung up between Biros and Mrs. Marshall, who is the mother of ten children, and it was decided that the Frenchman should look for another boarding place. Biros left Marshall's house about three weeks ago, and since that time a most unpleasant feeling has existed between husband and wife, Marshall having accused her of criminal intercourse with her paramour, which she admitted was the case. Frequently since Biros left the house Mrs. Marshall has by appointment met him, and on Friday last she was followed by her son George, who traced her to a meeting place on James street, whither she had taken the street cars, and where the wily Frenchman was in waiting to receive her. This afternoon the woman stated that she intended to go out after supper, to which her husband replied, "That it seemed strange she should want to go out on such an inclement night." Bent on carrying out her plan, she left the house after tea, and by arrangement between the father and son they immediately followed her, and found that she joined Biros, who was waiting for her on Queen street. Young Marshall went up to the pair, who were moving off, when Biros, discovering he was caught, bolted up to Jackson street followed by Marshall, who, finding he was being bested drew out a revolver and fired five shots at the retreating Frenchman, but from the speed he was making it is probable none of them took effect. The offending woman returned home and young Marshall went to the police office to procure a warrant for the arrest of Biros but was detained in custody himself, and taken before the magistrate, who refused to accept bail. The wretched father procured a long iron bar sharpened at the end and went in search of the demon who had destroyed the happiness of his home, determined to take summary vengeance as the law could not assist him. In this act he was frustrated by Detective Rossenux and eventually returned to his home in a distracted state of mind. Biers, it is said, had to leave Detroit for a similar affair. It is also asserted that he is a married man and is living away from his wife.

ABOUT ADVERTISING.

My success is owing to liberality in advertising.—Bonner.

The road to fortune is through printer's ink.—P. T. Barnum.

Success depends upon a liberal patronage of printing offices.—J. J. Astor.

Frequent and constant advertising brought me all I own.—A. T. Stewart.

My son, deal with men who advertise. You will never lose by it.—Ben Franklin.

How can the world know a man has a good thing unless he advertises the possession of it?—Vanderbilt.

A good advertisement in a newspaper pays no fare on railroads; costs nothing for hotel bills; gives away no boxes of cigars to customers, or merino dresses to customers' wives; drinks no whisky under the head of travelling expenses, but goes at once and all the time about its business free of expense.

Advertising is the oil which tradesmen put in their lamps. They are unwise who put no oil in.

"Where is parte unknown?" asks a correspondent of the Dansury "News." To which, Bailey answers: "Where they don't advertise." And though Bailey does say it, this is no joke.

An advertisement is a window through which all the world may look into your shop and see just what you wish it to see—no more, no less.

People are apt to go where their attention is called, and if they find things as represented will purchase there in preference to spending their time in seeking elsewhere.—Phil. Chemist and Druggist.

It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. VEGETINE.

Its medical properties are Alterative, Tonic, Solvent, and Diuretic. There is no disease of the human system for which the Vegetine cannot be used with perfect safety as it does not contain any metallic or poisonous compound. It is composed exclusively of barks, roots and herbs; it is very pleasant to take; every child likes it. It is safe and reliable, as the following evidence will show:—

Rev. O. T. Walker says:

The following unsolicited testimonial from O. T. Walker, D.D., formerly pastor of Bowdoin-square Church, Boston, and at present settled in Providence, R. I., must be deemed as reliable evidence. No one should fail to observe that this testimonial is the result of two years' experience with the use of Vegetine in the Rev. Mr. Walker's family, who now pronounces it invaluable:—

Providence, R.I., 164 Transit St.

H. R. STEVENS, Esq. I feel bound to express with my signature the high value I place upon your Vegetine. My family have used it for the last two years. In nervous debility it is invaluable, and I recommend it to all who may need an invigorating, renovating tonic.

O. T. WALKER, formerly Pastor of Bowdoin-square Church, Boston.

A Walking Miracle.

MR. H. R. STEVENS. Dear Sir,—Though a stranger, I want to inform you what Vegetine has done for me.

Last Christmas Scorfula made its appearance in my system,—large running ulcers appearing on me, as follows: one on each of my arms; one on my thigh, which extended to the seat; one on my head, which ate into the skull-bone; one on my left leg, which became so bad that two physicians came to amputate the limb, though upon consultation concluded not to do so, as my whole body was full of Scorfula; they deemed it advisable to cut the sore, which was painful beyond description, and there was a quart of matter ran from this one sore.

The physicians all gave me up to die, and said they could do nothing more for me. Voth of my legs were drawn up to my seat and it was thought if I did get up again I would be a cripple for life.

When in this condition I saw Vegetine advertised, and commenced taking it in March, and followed on with it until I had taken sixteen bottles; and this morning I am going to plough corn, a well man. All my townsmen say it is a miracle to see me round walking and working.

In conclusion I will add, when I was enduring such great suffering from that dreadful disease, Scorfula, I prayed to the Lord above to take me out of this world; but as Vegetine has restored to me the blessings of health, I desire more than ever to live, that I may be of some service to my fellowmen; and I know of no better way to aid suffering humanity than to endorse you this statement of my case, with an earnest hope that you will publish it, and it will afford me pleasure to reply to any communication which I may receive therefrom. I am, sir, very respectfully,

WILLIAM PAYN, Avery, Berrien Co., Mich., July 10, 1872.

Reliable Evidence.

MR. H. R. STEVENS. Dear Sir,—I will most cheerfully add my testimony to the great number you have already received in favor of your great and good medicine, Vegetine, for I do not think enough can be said in its praise; for I was troubled over twenty years with that dreadful disease, Catarrh, and had such bad coughs at times that it would seem as though I could never breathe any more, and Vegetine has cured me; and I do feel to thank God all the time that there is so good a medicine as Vegetine; and I also think it one of the best medicines for coughs, and would, claiming feelings of a mother in this, advise everybody to take the Vegetine, for I can assure them it is one of the best medicines that ever was.
