AYER'S PILLS.

A large proportion of the diseases which cause human suffering result from derangement of the stomach, bowels, and liver. AYER'S CATHARTIC PILLS act directly upon these organs, and are especially designed to cure the diseases caused by their derangement, including Constipation, Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Headache, Dysentery, and a host of other ailments, for all of which they are a safe, sure, prompt, and pleasant remedy. The extensive use of these PILLS by eminent physicians in regular practice, shows unmistakably the estimation in which they are held by the medical profession.

These PILLS are compounded of vegetable substances only, and are absolutely free from calomel or any other injurious ingredient.

A Sufferer from Headache writes:

"AYER'S PILLS are invaluable to me, and are my constant companion. I have been a severe sufferer from Headache, and your PILLS are the only thing I could look to for relief. One dose will quickly move my bowels and free my head from pain. They are the most effective and the easiest pills I have ever found. It is a pleasure to me to speak in their praise, and I always do so when occasion offers.

W. L. Page, of W. L. Page & Bro."
Franklin St, Richmond, Va., June 3, 1883.

"I have used AYER'S PILLS in numberless instances as recommended by you, and have never known them to fail to accomplish the desired result. We constantly keep them on hand at our home, and prize them as a pleasant, safe, and reliable family medicine. FOR DYSPEPSIA they are invaluable.

O. R. HAYES."
Mexia, Texas, June 17, 1883.

The Rev. Benjamin R. Hargrove, writing from Atlanta, Ga., says: "For some years past I have been subject to constipation, from which, in spite of the use of medicines of various kinds, I suffered increasing inconvenience, until some months ago I began taking AYER'S PILLS. They have entirely corrected the costive habit, and have vastly improved my general health."

AYER'S CATHARTIC PILLS correct irregularities of the bowels, stimulate the appetite and digestion, and by their prompt and thorough action give tone and vigor to the whole physical economy.

The Farm.

The Happy Farmer.

The farmer leads an E Z life,
The C D sows will rot;
And when at E V rests from strife
His bones all A E lot.

In D D has to struggle hard
To E K living out;
If I C frosts do not retard
His crops there,ll B a drought.

The hired G P has to pay
Are awful a Z too;
The C K rest when he's away,
Nor any work will do.

Both N Z cannot make to meet,
And then for A D takes
Some boarders who eat E P eat,
That E no money makes.

Of little U C finds this life;
Sick in old A G lies
The debts he O Z leaves his wife,
And then in P O dies.

Fixing the Farm.

Those who desire to sell a farm or place in the country should remember that external appearances are important in producing proper impressions upon possible purchasers. A place well fixed up looks as if its owner must be making money and is fortunate in the possession of a fine farm, while one overrun with weeds and encumbered with buildings out of repair repels by the contrary presumption. People are always attracted to a village or locality which has a neat and tidy appearance, and each individual is responsible to a certain extent that his neighborhood shall present a thrifty look.

Stretching Fence Wire.

The most comfortable and fastest way I know is to take a roll in a lumber wagon, make one end fast to the post or tree at the starting point, and then drive on, paying out from the roll as you go. When you get far enough take a wagon-jack and jack up the hind wheel of the wagon, and take a turn or two of wire around the hub, and with one man holding the wire while another turns the wheel, you will find you have power enough to stretch the wire all it will bear almost any distance you desire. Make fast your end and turn around, and pay out another strand back as you go.

The great problem of profitable farming consists in making the soil increasingly fertile.

This year seems to be an "off" one in fruits, the crop being below that of last season everywhere.

Diseases of the liver and kidneys are very common in hogs. The difficulty in this case, and in most cases, comes largely from improper feed.

Although the prospects for a heavy wheat crop may not be favorable, the crops in Oregon and Washington territory promise to exceed that of last year.

Wild mustard is becoming quite a nuisance in many parts of the country, and it will soon be necessary to prevent its spread by legislative interference, as is done with thistles.

There is no kind of stock that responds so quickly to good care and management as sheep, but at the same time, no stock gives heavier losses proportionately where neglected.

Sifted coal ashes are said to be better than sand for rendering stiff soils friable. They are more easily disseminated throughout the mass, and contain a proportion of mineral salts.

The great difficulty in grading up is not in the cattle, but in their owners. The scrub farmer is more in the way than the scrub bull. We can suppose the latter, but the former have to die off.

Skim milk fed with a little oil meal or corn was found excellent food for calves at the Wisconsin Experiment Station. The young animals were kept healthy and growing, but not fat.

It is said that scarcity of water is one chief cause of tough beef. Animals fattened in summer on succulent food are more tender than those of the same age and character fattened in winter.

Cut down all the weeds along the fences and in the corners. When well dried burn them. Never let a weed go to seed if it can be prevented. Every hour spent in their destruction now will save a day in the spring.

There is no better food for young pigs, after they have learned to eat, than good threshed oats. If given dry and alone, the pigs will chew at them till they get all the kernels, but they will swallow little or none of the husks.

Sowing clover in August is best for light sandy soils. Plow deeply, harrow well and apply from 10 to 20 bushels of lime per acre. After sowing the seed go over the land again with the harrow in order to cover it well.

Teach the calf to eat whole oats by the time it is 3 weeks or a month old, by slipping a few small handfuls into the mouth, just after it has drunk milk. When it has learned to eat them, keep a supply before it in a little box.

A contributor to the New York World says: "I think 20 cents worth of plaster on a clover meadow will make half a ton of hay worth $4. I consider this a good investment, while, at the same time, your land is becoming richer."

Those who have grapes should be careful to watch for insects and signs of disease. Sulphur should be dusted with the bellows over the leaves in case of mildew, while lime should always be used freely on the ground around the plants.

A Maine farmer, whose tree was burdened with an extra large crop of apples last season, thinned out the fruit and cut away some of the small branches. To his surprise he secured a larger crop than ever before, and the quality was also superior.

The honey harvest is three times as long in Cuba as in this country, and it is said that the colonies average 400 pounds of honey. The honey is extracted and exported in barrels. The bees swarm four times a year, and are free from loss in winter.

An easy method of killing burdock dandelion and other weeds in a lawn is to place a little sulphuric acid, with a stick, on the crown of each plant, carrying the acid in an open mouthed bottle with a long handle, so as not to touch it with fingers or clothes.

The animal that is obliged to compete for its food among the herd and eat it after it has been befouled and trampled cannot thrive. Give the animals well ventilated, clean and quiet quarters. Fatten them in the stalls, allowing them out for exercise, but never feed them in the yard.

In selecting trees give preference to those with smooth, healthy-looking bark, which have entirely shed their leaves, and have plenty of small fibrous roots. Trees on which the leaves remain after first frost sets in and stick to the branches in the spring may be regarded as not healthy.

To cure clover properly the tedder should be kept in operation from the time it is cut until it is ready to stack.

If the value of all the milk produced in the United States could be utilized for the purpose it would pay the national debt in two years.

Miscellaneous.

The dullness in manufacturing circles in Montreal has given way to a marked increase of business, especially in the cigar factories and cotton mills, and confidence is felt by commercial men of a good fall trade being done before the closing of navigation.

Law and Love.—A Whitby paper contains the following:—It is a post-office law in most countries that a letter once posted belongs to the person to whom it is addressed, not the writer. The law is a good one, but it has its inconveniences. Not long ago a young lady came to the postmaster of a town not a thousand miles away, in a condition of the greatest confusion and distress, and begged him to return to her a letter which she had posted. He explained that it was against the rule for him to do so; but when she confided to him that she had accidentally sent an acceptance of the wrong offer of marriage, he consented to break the rule for once, and returned the letter.

The Lake of Constance is only fifty miles in length, but any one who travels from pier to pier and wishes to know the right time of day at each ought to carry five watches. Its waters wash the shores of five different states—Austria, Baden, Wurtemburg, Bavaria and the Swiss Federation. If you land at Rorschach and want to catch the train for Ragatz or Chur, your watch ought to stand at Bern time. In Frederichshafen you must know the Stuttgart time, in Constance the Baden time, in Lindau the Munich time. The Austrian time is not reckoned from Vienna, but from Prague, which differs no less than twenty minutes from the Bern time. Hence a traveller crossing over the Austrian frontier at St. Margaretan must put back his watch half an hour in order to set himself right at the Swiss station.

An old "salt," when asked how far north he had ever been, replied that he had been so far north that, "the cows, when milked beside a red-hot stove, gave ice-cream."
