SAFETY FOR BATHERS

Outside bathing is healthful. Swimming is a fine exercise since it brings into use all the large muscles of the body. In addition to the refreshing effect of the swim, there is also the advantage of the sun bath.

Unfortunately, every summer there are a number of tragedies resulting from outdoor bathing. Carelessness and over-confidence are the causes of these tragedies. It is not so often the person who cannot swim who is the victim as it is the swimmer who attempts to swim too far.

We do not suggest that a timid fearful attitude is what we should have. We do think, however, with care ful to some extent; we dare say there would have been many more accidents were these safety efforts not in existence at all.

Yet the records very clearly show that drivers smash through the gates; the one in which the public will be very much interested just now has been smashed ten times this season. Drivers go ahead in spite of bells and wig-wags, and they arrive right on the track when an engine gets there. So we can take it for granted that preventive effort of the sort w have used is pitifully insufficient.

We must take into consideration careful drivers blessed with that quality. Put the highways over or under the railroad tracks.

The two things simply do not belong on the same level, and we have been demonstrating this over and over with funeral processions, and with anxious relatives waiting in hospital corridors for recovery of loved ones.

When it was evident that some sort of a top would have to be provided for automobiles, a quarter of a century ago, designers made a survey of vehicles all over the world. The top of a cape cart of South Africa offered the nearest approach to what was needed and, with modifications, was adopted.

Plow In July

"Plow in July while it's dry" is the slogan adopted by farmers of Wellington County in their combat to eliminate the "Million Dollar Menace"—the sow thistle. The method described by Ralph Clemens, agricultural representative, is perhaps the best adapted to the poorly drained heavy clay soils on which sow thistle best thrives. A modern two-furrow plow is used, drawn by four horses or a tractor. The hay is gotten off early and the land is plowed while dry to a depth of six or eight inches. The clods thus turned up, if left for a few days will dry out so that the sun and air will kill perhaps 70 per cent of the sow thistle roots. After a week, if rain has not intervened, a heavy disc is used to expose all the root to the killing effect of heat and drought.
