FOOD PREJUDICES

Many of us are prejudiced against certain foods. We avoid them because we dislike them. Some people secure a considerable amount of pleasure in telling us about the foods they dislike and explaining why they dislike them.

A feeling of dislike for some particular food is frequently the result of an unpleasant introduction to that article of diet. In our minds it is associated with something unpleasant and for that reason we avoid it since we only like things which please us. We would like practically all foods if they were introduced to us in small quantities, just enough to taste, until we have become used to them. He do not acquire a liking for olives by being forced to eat a large number of them the first time. He eat one, or part of one; later we repeat the sampling and then we find that we "like olives."

The idea that some food disagrees is very often the result of that food being associated with the occurrence of some digestive upset. The fact that it had nothing to do with the upset does not banish the dislike as long as the two are associated in the mind. There is no reason why you should not like one food more than another. If one does not want to eat some non-essential food, there is no reason why he should, except that as one of the family, it may be rather a nuisance in planning the meals. It is much more comfortable for every one if you eat everything.

The person who sits down to the table and enjoys whatever food is prepared is the one who has the right attitude towards food, an attitude which all normal people should have. It is not desirable to be thinking of food in the sense of its relative value as you eat it. The one who prepares the meals is the one to assume responsibility for the required variety of food and the regular appearance of milk, fruits, green vegetables and eggs on the table. The pleasant duty of the family is to consume and enjoy what is placed before them and not to fuss about it.

If you have acquired a prejudice against some food, you had better get rid of it. Start by taking a very small amount of it whenever it is prepared. Take it along with something else that you particularly like, and in a short time you will be able to laugh at your own dislikes.

From what has been said, it is obvious that the selection of an adequate variety of food rests with the housewife. It is she who is also responsible for its proper preparation and for serving it in an attractive manner. She should introduce new foods in small quantities along with well-liked ones. It is best for her to ignore the food prejudices of the various members of the family, for if they are encouraged, they become the more firmly fixed in their dislikes.

Cannibals do not care to eat men over 50 years of age. Perhaps this is where the saying, "The good die young" originated.

Coroners Jury Report

"We, the members of the coroner's jury empanelled to enquire into the death of Louis Eydt, find that he came to his death as the result of injuries from an accident on No 10 Highway, when his buggy was hit by a car driven by George Jamieson Stafford was negligent in passing the horse and buggy driven by Mr. Eydt in approaching traffic and, according to the evidence given, we find that both drivers were negligent."

The above is the verdict of the jury in the inquest into the death of Louis Eydt, 63, of Owen Sound. The inquest was held on Friday afternoon in the court room of the City Hall Owen Sound, with Dr. A. B. Rutherford acting as coroner and W. D. Henry, K.C., questioning the witnesses. Mr. Eydt died on Sunday, Oct 9th at his home in Owen Sound. The accident occurred near Holland Centre on the afternoon of September 22nd

Mr. Geo. Jamieson is a Flesherton man. Stafford is believed to be from Trenton, but the police have not been able to locate him.

The evidence showed that Mr. Eydt had died as the result of injuries to his right lung, evidently resulting from this accident. Mr. Eydt was driving north in a buggy on Highway No. 10. Mr. A. E. Hunt of Markdale was driving south. Eydt's buggy was about 175 feet from the brow of a hill, down which he was driving. Two cars came over the brow of the hill. The first, driven by Stafford, passed between Mr. Hunt's car and the buggy. The horse ran away, and Eydt was thrown from the buggy.—Sun-Times.

A SUCCESSFUL CAMPAIGN

"Ontario Farm Products Week" met with general co-operation on the part of merchants and the people of towns and cities throughout the province such that is proved successful beyond the expectations of its sponsors. Its principal result will be to install in Ontario householders the idea of using products from Ontario farms in preference to imported foodstuffs. It is one link in the program to create keener demand for home-grown fruits, vegetables, etc. and thus enhance the prices received by farmers in Ontario. As an example of the unusual methods adopted to stimulate interest in the campaign, an essay competition was conducted among the public school pupils of Peel County on the subject "Advantages of Using Ontario Farm Products."

Presbytery Meeting

The autumn meeting of Grey Presbytery of the United church was held on Tuesday, October 18th in the United church, Flesherton, with Rev. E. Baker, chairman, presiding at the opening session. Two new Ministerial members, Rev. A. Laycock of Holland Centre and 18 new non-Ministerial members were introduced and welcomed as members. Rev. A. D. Cornett, M.A., B.D. of Knox church, Owen Sound, was elected as chairman by acclamation. Rev. J. E. Peters of Meaford was re-elected as Secretary and Mr. W. L. Young of Markdale was re-elected Treasurer by acclamation.

The high light of the morning session was the jubilee address of Rev. Thomas Snowdon of Meaford who has reached his 80th year, fifty of which years have been spent in the ministry of Canada. In glowing terms, delivered with warm passion he congratulated the younger men in that they were living in these wonderful times with such splendid opportunities for service in the Kingdom of God as will come to them ere they reach the end of the journey. He told of the first sermon he preached as a lad of 16 in the presence of his mother seated in the congregation in front of him and his grandfather who conducted the service seated in the pulpit behind him. His text was "The wicked shall be turned into hell with all the nations that forget God."

Presented With Cane

After his moving address Rev. C. Elder Kenney conveyed to him the congratulations and good wishes of the Presbytery, and in their name presented him with a polished ebony walking stick which has on its gold band the inscription, "Rev. T. Snowdon from Grey Presbytery."

The high light of the afternoon session was the address of Rev. Dr. Bryce, the Secretary of the Missionary and Maintenance Fund of the Church. The address was replete with details regarding income and expenditure. It was stated that no matter in what way prosperity may come to other places it can only come to Canada through conditions that will benefit our agricultural workers. A warm tribute was paid to the worth and loyalty of those who are living in our rural charges. Dr. Bryce was heartily thanked for his address and for his answers to questions asked by several members.

Missionary Report

The report of the Missionary and Maintenance committee was presented by Rev. W. H. Smith of Durham One of its provisions was that each pastoral charge receive the same allotments as last year and make an earnest endeavour to contribute as much as last year. The thanks of the Presbytery were tendered to the unknown subscriber or subscribers who had forwarded the sum of $500 to the treasurer of the Church in addition to what they had subscribed through the churches with which they were connected.

Rev. E. Baker and Mr. William Martin, Commissioners of the Presbytery to the General Council, presented their reports regarding their impressions of the recent meeting of the Council and the legislation that had been enacted regarding the Pension Fund and Divorce.
