Editorial Notes

GRADUALLY but in a very thorough fashion interest has been roused in the proposed creamery in this town That it will materialize is now practically an assured fact. Enough stock will have been secured by the end of the week to warrent a meeting of share holders to plan further proceedings. There is still time to erect the building, instal the plant and commence operations before winter sets in. It is expected that three skimming stations will be founded and contribute cream all winter. This undertaking now promises to be a good thing for both patrons and stockholders.

"THERE WAS a time not very long ago," says the Buffalo Mercantile Review, "when it was a matter of general comment that Canada lambs were superior in quality, finish, and freer from bucks than our native stocks, but that day has gone by, and now a full load or deck of prime all ewe and wether lambs is a rare thing. Many of our Canadian breeders, like too many of our western breeders, have evidently lost their pride in bringing their best to the market." This certainly makes interesting reading for Canadian sheep-growers, and accounts for a drop of 75c. per head in the price of our lambs on the Buffalo market. Canadians need that 75c. and Americans would rather pay it to get the superior animals. Can our stockmen raise them? If so, why don't they?

THE LOAN ENDORSED

IT WAS DISCUSSED FROM A BUSINESS STANDPOINT ON TUESDAY NIGHT.

FACTS REVIEWED BY COMPETENT MEN.—THE SECURITY PRONOUNCED GOOD.—MANY OBJECTIONS MET.—A SATISFACTORY MEETING.

Moved by J. D. Flavelle, and seconded by John Kennedy, that this meeting heartily endorses the proposition to loan Mr. Sylvester $20,000.—Carried.

The above resolution was adopted unanimously at the close of Tuesday night's public meeting, at which several hundred of the leading citizens and ratepayers were present. By whatever means these men arrived at such a conclusion it certainly was not through excitement or undue persuasion, for never was a subject discussed more thoroughly on its merits or subjected to a more rigid investigation. It was brought to the standard of cold finance and practical business by several of our citizens best qualified to give a proposition such treatment. In this they were critically followed by the audience and the result of over two hours of such consideration was the resolution above.

Mayor Taylor called the meeting to order and said: I have only the interest of a citizen in the project we are met to discuss, but my official position puts the matter more heavily upon me. I have come by the conviction that the town is stirring itself for a new era of prosperity, and this subject is closely related to it. No town that I know of has the prospects that Lindsay has, and if we do not detect its advantages I am sure outsiders will and thus our progress is assured. We are surely ready to do our part and the by-law soon to be submitted will have a direct bearing on the future welfare of the town. Mr. Sylvester asks, not a bonus, but a loan at 4 per cent, upon a first mortgage on his establishment, $10,000 life insurance and $15,000 fire insurance. He requires the $20,000 loan to pay over his brother's claim against the business at the close of their term of partnership. It is money that his brother invested at the beginning of that contract. He might ask the Bank. Mr. Paddon tells me he stands well at the Montreal Bank, but the rate of interest would be high, whereas the town can do him the favor of getting it at 4 per cent. The experience of loan companies during the depression has led them to reject this sort of security in every case. There is $15,000 fire insurance. A total loss would leave the town $5000 short if it happened in the first year. There have been two fires, the biggest was not more than $6000. I regard it as most improbable that he should have a $15,000 loss by fire. He might fail. Certainly he might. Any security might. The probabilities must govern and in this case they are all against the supposition. His business is increasing. When in the Northwest last year I saw his implements everywhere and heard their praise. He is established in that growing market. It is hinted that he may take the money and leave town. Let me tell you, that is impossible for when the legislature ratifies this loan it will be impossible for any other place to get a bill passed bonusing Mr. Sylvester. The government protects a town at that point. I have made thorough examination and am favorable to granting this loan.

Mr. Richard Sylvester spoke briefly and said: Sixteen years ago I entered into an agreement with this town. I got exemption from rent and taxes. I agreed to employ 20 men. I have done so and now have 100. My factory has risen to third place in the Dominion, and our pay sheets total over $20,000 annually. Some years ago I was placed in an awkward position and obtained two years extension. I met all notes before they were due. Now I want money because of an expiring partnership. I do not ask a bonus or a gift. I want a loan and will give good security for every dollar of it Other towns are granting far more. Brantford, Clinton, Dundas, Oshawa, Belleville, Trenton, Peterboro and others are doing more than I am asking Lindsay to do and when I located here I rejected a $35,000 bonus at Woodstock, for fear I should not be able to employ 40 men. If you vote this by-law down I shall be compelled to go into liquidation and close out my business.

Mr. J. D. Flavelle—I appear on the platform only as a ratepayer to discuss this matter from a purely business standpoint. I am opposed to cash bonuses. In case of a loan I look to the security. I have seen the contract of partnership, and know that it calls for $20,000 that Mr. Robt. Sylvester put into the business, when the contract ceases by effluxion of time. That point has been reached and naturally Mr. Robt. Sylvester wants his money. To give it to him Mr. Richard Sylvester has to borrow. The question is where should he borrow. The bank might lend it to him, but they would discount his credit by the amount of the loan and charge a high rate of interest. That would be a hardship for Mr. Sylvester. With regard to loan companies the mayor has explained the position. Mr. Sylvester naturally wants to get this matter arranged, for the bank will want to know how he is going to manage and hence the withdrawal of this money must be provided for to their satisfaction. It is asked: Why will Mr. Robert Sylvester not lend the money. Well, I don't know, but can see a very good reason. He is a young man and likely wants to be something besides a money lender. Likely he has projects of his own, and is fully capable of carrying them on, and wants his money for that purpose. Why should the town lend the money? Because it is to its own interest to do so; because the security is good, and because without a cent of expense they can in that way show their appreciation of Mr. Sylvester's success here. He spends $20,000 a year and that demands consideration when he needs it. The security is first-class. I have gone over Mr. Sylvester's books and examined the whole matter and stake my business reputation on saying that it is a perfectly safe thing and will not cost the town anything. I am convinced of that. His factory is in a flourishing condition. The $20,000 wages he spoke of do not include salaries to agents or office expenses, and there is every indication of permanency that we could ask. In fact so confident do I feel that it is a perfectly safe investment, that I would if I were a money-lender advance him the entire amount on the security he offers, and if it were necessary I would be one of twenty to lend him $20,000. I think his death is the worst danger. That possibility is secured by $10,000 insurance. Besides we have his personal covenant, which attaches all his property in addition to the mortgage. When he was in difficulty before it was because the bank would not support his Northwest business. It has proved his greatest success. Then he said to his creditors: I'm not insolvent. Give me two years. They were given and before they expired every dollar was paid. I am a large ratepayer and don't usually give something for nothing, but with my knowledge of this matter I am prepared to vote for the loan and take all the responsibility it will put upon me.

John Kennedy—I have ample knowledge of Mr. Sylvester's standing and in my judgment the oan is a perfectly good one. I know that he has a large surplus in his business. On account of the credit system large sums are out on notes. Some of it is on notes, but with this surplus, the mortgage and the insurances I cannot see that the town need fear that they will ever lose a cent on this transaction. I would certainly have no hesitation in being one of twenty to lend the money.

The mayor—We all want to come to correct conclusions and hence it is desirable that any questions shall be asked. Personally I am anxious to be informed and am open to conviction.

Mr. D. R. Anderson—What value does Mr. Sylvester set on the building and plant?

Mr. Sylvester—Over $40,000 and I shall extend it still further.

Mr. Jas. Graham—It is stated that the men favoring this loan are customers of the Bank of Montreal, who are trying to get this money into Mr. Sylvester's hands for the benefit of the bank.

Mr. Flavelle—So far from that being true the bank would a good deal rather the business should stay as it is than that the change should be made.

Mr. Graham—It is said he intends going to the Northwest.

Mr. Sylvester—I have no intention of leaving Lindsay as long as I get fair treatment.

Mr. Geo. Lytle—If as Mr. Flavelle has said, the covenant makes all of Mr. Sylvester's property liable it ought to be emphasised here for it is important.

Mr. Flavelle—That is certainly the case.

Mr. G. H. Hopkins—The covenant is equal to a promissory note and makes all his estate liable. If he failed to pay in any year it would only raise the taxes $1 on $1000. If the works were closed, working men would find their jobs scarce and cheaper, while men renting houses would lose their tenants. We can't afford to lose Mr. Sylvester even if our taxes were advanced $1 on $1000 by keeping him.

Mr. Jas. Hamilton—Mr. Sylvester bought $4000 worth of our goods this year for his Northwest agencies, and if they were closed we should lose that market. This week we have put on several extra men working on a new order.

Messrs. Knowlson, Bryans, Kylie, Dr. McAlpine, W Grace, Col. Deacon spoke approvingly of the loan.

Mr. H. O'Leary followed with a clear statement of the case again and an appeal for the loan.

Mr. Paton, agent, for the G.T.R. read a statement showing that in 1895 Mr. Sylvester shipped by that road 40 cars of implements, in 1896, 52 cars, in 1897, 74 cars, and in half of 1898, 81 cars.
