Radio Stars Take Toronto By Storm—Bert Lahr on New Program—Will Roger's Popularity

Amos 'N' Andy and Countess Albani

Ovations . . . cheers and encores greeted those two famous stars of the National Broadcasting Company . . . Amos 'n' Andy. These popular artists of the networks came to Toronto through the arrangements of officials of the Canadian Radio Commission, and made their appearance at a large theatre, which was packed to capacity. The entire proceeds were handed over to charity . . . the Commission put it's best foot forward when they engineered such a fine entertainment. We had the privilege of meeting these two black-face comedians and having a few words with them. They expressed themselves in this way . . . "During our whole career we have not been accorded a reception from an audience that will compare with the one tendered us by this gathering of Canadian people. We are going to return to Toronto and meet all our friends again as soon as the time will permit". These two chaps are a splendid example of congeniality, and no doubt this has helped in no small way to bring to them the popularity which they enjoy.

Appearing on the same program was Olga Countess Albani, soft voiced soprano of the National Broadcasting Company. Countess Albani was an instant hit with the audience and received encore after encore. The Countess came to the United States from Spain when five years old with her parents . . . spent most of her earlier years in a convent . . . spent her vacations on her father's sugar plantation in the West Indies . . . later studied music at the Horace Mann school in New York, finishing this she sought an interview with the director of a new show and which was an immediate hit. It was Romberg's "New Moon". After one audition Countess Albani was given the dramatic lead, following this she was quickly signed by the National Broadcasting Company.

Countess Albani has many hobbies, she writes, paints, fences and rides horses, spends most of her spare moments translating American songs and ballads into Spanish.

Regardless of her love for a career, her six-year-old son is the biggest interest in her busy life. Countess Albani says—"If I thought my professional career interfered with my being a good mother, I would desert the microphone."

Bert Lahr Stays

Eddie Cantor returns to the Chase & Sanborn Hour, Sept. 10th but that isn't going to interfere with Bert Lahr at all. Lahr's sponsors have been so pleased with his work that they have just signed him to a new 65 week contract, and will put him back on the air October 4th, as the star of the Wednesday night Chase & Sanborn Tea program with George Olsen and his music . . . "Funnyman" Lahr's microphone success has followed closely on an equally rapid rise to theatrical stardom.

Will Rogers

Will Rogers, that be-splattered dispenser of current humour was brought back to the air at the request of several senators. Rogers presided over a mock meeting of the Senate during one of his broadcasts from Washington earlier in the Summer. The Senators enjoyed the fun he poked at them on that occasion so much that when it was announced that he was leaving the air all of them who were available sent him a telegram expressing the hope that "you will return soon with your humourous and wholesome comment on national affairs". It is said that Will has a great time with a mouthful of gum before he is called to the mike for his program . . . Wonder if Will does it for a publicity stunt in the hope that some of the gum manufacturers might sponsor him on one of their programs.

We Hear That—

Ben Bernie the "Old Maestro" says the movie producers in Hollywood are certainly practising economy. The producers are only using half-breeds instead of full-blooded Indians for their Western films. Ben says "That's sure cutting things in half."

The romance of "Jimmie" Melton, NBC tenor and Marjorie McClure, a Cleveland society girl, began at a house party in Cleveland. 'Tis said it was a case of love at first sight and their engagement was announced three weeks later.

Gordon Calder, popular singer on commercial and Commission programs is to announce the Neilson Hour this fall.

An actor identified with the famous stage star, Irene Bordoni, is now in Toronto rehearsing a program that is to be commercialized on the air within the next few weeks.

A Smart Neat School Dress

By HELEN WILLIAMS.

Illustrated Dressmaking Lesson Furnished with Every Pattern.

The original was smart brown and yellow gingham check with fresh yellow pique trim. It is a splendid choice for first fall school days.

Many other materials would be suitable however. The wool jerseys in plain or patterns are very desirable and sturdy.

Tartan plaids in gingham or in woolens are promised much popularity for school girls.

The buttoned yoke is smart idea, and note the inverted skirt plaits for freedom.

Style No. 2788 is designed for sizes 8, 10, 12 and 14 years.

Size 8 requires 2⅜ yards 35-inch material with ½ yard 35-inch contrasting.

HOW TO ORDER PATTERNS.

Write your name and address plainly, giving number and size of such patterns as you want. Enclose 15c in stamps or coin (coin preferred; wrap it carefully) for each number, and address your order to Wilson Pattern Service, 73 West Adelaide St., Toronto.

Dentists Disagree on Method of Brushing Teeth

Chicago. — Dentists themselves apparently don't agree on the proper method of brushing teeth, judging from statements of delegates to the American Dental Hygienists' Association in convention here.

"Use a large toothbrush in a swift rotary movement," advised Dr. A. C. Fones, Bridgeport, Conn.

"Use a very small brush with fine bristles, to be jiggled up and down between the teeth," recommended Dr. W. J. Carter of Des Moines, Ia.

"Use any brush, but use it well and often, and it isn't necessary to apply powder, paste or mouth-wash," was the formula of Dr. Benjamin Tishler of Boston.

"Even the dullest work is to most people less painful than idleness."—Bertrand Russell.

Hay fever cures are consistent anyway. It isn't a fever and it isn't caused by hay, and they don't cure it.

The most important manufacturing industry connected with field crops in Canada is flour milling, which dates back to the settlement at Port Royal (now Annapolis, N.S.) in 1605.

37 lbs. OF FAT GONE

No Wonder She Looks Younger

"How much younger you are looking!" What a pleasure to hear that compliment from your friends' lips—as this woman did.

"Since I started taking Kruschen Salts," she writes, "I have reduced myself by 37 lbs. I am still going down and hope soon to be normal weight. My health has greatly improved. My friends see such a difference in me now. I look younger, and I have such a fresh look always about my face which I never used to have. I take my usual food, but my first drink in the morning is my little dose of Kruschen Salts, which I will never be without."—(Mrs.) K.

The six salts in Kruschen keep the organs of elimination in perfect trim and so ensure a regular, gentle and natural clearance of all fat-forming food refuse.

"Return of Horse" Noted in Britain

Improvement Evident in Quality and Quantities of Annual Entries

Derby, Eng.—Motorcars may crowd British highways, but in the country the horse is still holding its own. This was indicated by the marked improvement in both the quality and quantity of the horse entries in the Royal Show Britain's principal agricultural exhibition—held here recently.

While all of the horse classes showed an increased number of entries, both Suffolks and hunters were of markedly fine breeding. All 10 hunter classes were well filled, and in the hunter-breeding classes there wer 102 entries as against 56 a year ago.

The King and Queen, who visited the show on the second day, showed particular interest in an allotment which had been cultivated on the show ground by the unemployed men as an illustration of what was being done by the Society of Friends' Allotments Scheme for the Unemployed. The plot was representative of more than 100,000 men's gardens, which have been started with the help of that scheme in England and Wales.

Chatsworth, the famous Derbyshire house, at which the King and Queen are staying during show week, contributed an interesting noncompetitive exhibit to the forestry section. It consisted of a variety of farm requisites—from carts to window frames—manufactured at Chatsworth from the timber on the estate, and showing the possibility of a large estate in the English Midlands being self-supporting in this way.

A miniature farm made on the show ground was shown by the Derbyshire County Council, which started it nearly a year ago.

The exhibits included an appeal by the British Wild-Plant Nurseries, which is under the direction of the Wild Plant Conservation Board. Following the lead of many other countries, this British society is protecting the countryside from being denuded of its wild flowers and plants.

Cattle entries, totaling 1,149, showed an increase. Dairy Shorthorns were strongest with 171 head, the famous Lincolnshire Red predominating. The Prince of Wales won a first prize with Cambus Matchmaker, in the class for two-year-old Shorthorn bulls. The King also had some fine entries in the cattle section from his farms at Windsor and Sandringham.

The goats were remarkable this year as the one kind of animal which surpassed all precedent, both in numbers and milk yield.

In the sheep section, for which there were 573 entries, Mr. J. D. Morgan was an outstanding winner with his South Down exhibits. Altogether he had 42 entries in the show and was one of the largest exhibitors. The pig entries showed a big jump, advancing from 551 to 688, and including several new breeds.

Sees Big Boom For Dominion

Wants Financial Structure Ready Declares Lord MacMillan

Winnipeg.—Canada is on the eve of a great economic development and the task of the Royal Commission on banking is to determine whether the Dominion's banking and general financial equipment is equal to bear the strain when that development comes, in the opinion of Lord MacMillan, chairman of the commission.

The commission passed through Winnipeg en route to Victoria, where western hearings will begin.

"The real question of the moment is whether Canada has an adequate and general financial structure and the proper equipment to deal with its problems," said the noted English jurist.

"This investigation is in no sense an attack on the Canadian banking system," the chairman told interviewers. "The question is, rather, whether the present banking structure is adequate to meet the strain that will be put upon it when Canada enters upon the period of great economic development which is near at hand.

"Our work is not to be restricted to an ordinary decennial revision of the Bank Act. I think the reason for approaching the revision this year through a Royal Commission rather than through a parliamentary committee is the desire for a wider survey of the whole economic situation.

"It would be presumptuous for us to prescribe to the Canadian Government anything that might have a political import. Our inquiry will be scientific."

Lord Macmillan said he expected to hear some criticism in the west.
