NEWS OF THE WEEK.

HOME AND FOREIGN ITEMS OF INTEREST.

Gathered from the Telegraph and Exchanges.

—An Indian died at South Bend, Ind., on Friday, who is known to be 105 years of age, but he claimed himself that he was 110 years old.

—Cholera is spreading in Afghanistan and Persia. Russian frontier officials impose 40 days quarantine upon arrivals from the infected countries.

—The condition of Grand Duke George of Russia is very serious. His lung disease is becoming worse, and his death is now regarded as inevitable.

—Charles Miller, only eighteen years of age, was hanged at Cheyenne, Wyo., on Friday for murdering two companions more than a year ago.

—For a nickel mining property near St. Stephen, N.B., the owner has refused $20,000. He wants $130,000 and a guarantee that operations will be begun at once.

—The London Times says that a decided majority of those competent to judge regarding the issue of notes based on silver view the proposal with great disfavor.

—There is a terrible epidemic of cholera at Benares, where on Friday there were 180 new cases and 135 deaths. The disease has been traced to the use of water in filthy tanks.

—The police, not alone in Paris, but throughout France, are very active in arresting anarchists, and there will be very few at liberty on May day to create further trouble.

—The Vossische Zeitung of Berlin thinks that Mr. Robert Louis Stevenson, designing to strengthen English influence in Samoa, is planing a new coup against Germany.

—Miss Teetzel, who some months ago went off with "Rev." Walter Thompson from near Port Burwell, and subsequently returned, has been married to a Mr. Chute of Malahide.

—The steamship Conemaugh, with a cargo of 1,000,000 pounds of flour, 830,000 of rye and other provisions for the famine sufferers of Russia, sailed from Philadelphia on Saturday.

—Count De Lessue, a Frenchman occupying a ranch in the Northwest, has announced himself as an independent candidate for Woodlands. Mr. Pendergast, the present member, will retire.

—On Saturday Robert Blakely attempted to disrobe himself on a public thoroughfare in Hamilton, and subsequently attempted suicide in the police cell to which he was conducted. These two acts raised a question respecting his sanity, and his mental state will engage the attention of medical men this week.

—The five year old daughter of James P. Roe, Pottstown, who swallowed a five cent nickel a week ago, is dead, the doctors being unable to remove the coin. The child suffered great pain. A post-mortem examination showed that the nickel had lodged in the passage-way to the stomach, the membranes of which were greatly diseased.

—A serious loss befell Mr. Wright of Pembroke recently. Alone in his office he had been engaged in making up cash by the light of a coal oil lamp. About $350 was lying on the table, with remittance slips. Mr. Wright left the office for a few moments, and when he returned only ashes were left of the pile of bank notes. The lamp had exploded.

—Windsor Record: "We thought there were some very provident young men in our county. The following letter received by one of our ministers confirms the belief: 'This is to give you notis that I and Miss ——— is coming to your church on Saturday afternoon next to undergo the operation of matrimony at your hands. Please be promp, as cab is hired by the hour'."

—Reports from the Crimea state that Russia is fortifying Sebastopol in a most formidable manner. The new ironclad which was recently launched at Sebastapol is now being painted and equipped with great speed. Men were kept at work night and day. The Russian volunteer fleet has also been increased during the past two months by two fast cruisers.

—A St. Petersburg despatch says:—The highest circles of society were startled by the revelation of a horrible deed committed by one of the choir masters of the private chapel in the imperial palace at Peterhof. While in delirious frenzy he murdered his wife, after which he chopped her body into fragments, which he burned in a stove. He then threw his three children into the river.

—The Rome correspondent of the Times says a great German authority has assured him that the new Italian rifle is the best yet introduced, being superior to the Lebel, Mauser, or Mantiche weapon, and that the Italian army authorities, conscious of this fact, are determined to go on manufacturing the rifle, whatever sacrifice be entailed, even to the abandonment of the African colony.

—A London cable says: The hereditary Grand Duke of Luxembourg, who is reported to be betrothed to Princess Victoria of Wales, is fat, short, easy going and good humored. He is very short-sighted and very rich, possessing a personal fortune of about $18,000,000. The prince is just about 40 years of age and is very popular in the Austrian army, in which he served his way up from subaltern to the rank of general.

—An experiment in mobilizing the garrison at Thorn, Prussia, was tried recently with a rather amusing result. The Russian sentries on their side of the Drewenz conceived that the Germans were about to invade Russian territory, and reported to their superior officers, who kept a large force on the bank of the river with fixed bayonets, and there they remained till long after the Germans had laughed themselves to sleep.

—A the convention held in the Florence building, Fifth-ave., and Second-ave., New York, Monday, by representatives of the ship makers of the various states of the union, Father James Huntington, the Episcopalian monk, made known a plan for a unique "slumming tour." He proposed to take a party of his parishioners up among and into the homes of the "400" in New York, and show them what life was like in the so-called upper circles. The rich had long been in the habit of going down into the tenement districts and trying to correct and elevate their less moneyed fellow-mortals. This was all very well, but to him it seemed that the poor should have a chance to return the calls, and it was with this view that he had made his arrangements for his novel excursion. A number of wealthy families had agreed to his scheme and were ready to aid him in it, but who they were he would not say. In concluding his remarks Father Huntington said he favored the establishment among working men and their employers of boards of conciliation, which should meet several times during the year and settle by arbitration such difficulties as are wont to arise between the labourers and the capitalist.

—Plimmer Turner, a big negro, stamped upon and killed a 3-year-old child at Niagara Falls, N. Y., Tuesday because the little one cried. The brute is held for trial.

—A machinist named Conrad Buhl, employed in a saw mill at Elmwood, Ont., was instantly killed on Monday night by the breaking of a large driving belt.

—Mr. Henry Phipps, jr., one of Mr. Andrew Carnegie's business associates, has leased for the summer the late Lord Lytton's beautiful country seat, Knebworth.

—The little daughter of Mr. Donaldson of the Sehl-Hastie-Erskine Co., Vancouver, by accident got choked by the kernel of a peanut. Two doctors made ineffectual attempts to save her life.

—Georgina Walters, a pretty cigar store girl in New York, has won her breach of promise suit against the rich bachelor Louis Schultz. The jury awarded her $25,000 and $1,000 costs.

—John G. Heckaher and Henry Winthrop Grey, of New York, fought a duel at Rouse's Point, Canada, in 1873. Grey was killed, and now Heckaher, whose wife died a little over a year ago, has married his former antagonist's widow. The parties belong to the upper class of society.

—A shocking case of suicide occurred Tuesday morning between 9 and 10 o'clock when Fred Bennett, aged 26, son of the late R. N. Bennett, butcher, committed suicide by hanging himself in his slaughter house, which is just beyond the western limit of the city, near the agricultural show ground.

—Edmund Yates, in his London cable to the New York Tribune says:—Of course there is not a shadow of foundation for the most unwarrantable statement that the official intimation of the engagement of Prince George and Princess Mary is to be promulgated in a few days. Under the circumstances such an announcement must be offensive to the royal family as it cannot fail to cause pain and annoyance. It is highly reprehensible that such gross fabrications should be recklessly circulated about the country.

—A case of special importance to widows was settled in the high court of justice on Tuesday last. The plaintiff was the second wife and is now the widow of one Mearns, who insured with the Ancient Order of United Workmen at the time when he was a widower with two children, making his policy payable to his "legal heirs." The question to be determined was whether or not the plaintiff could be held to be within the description quoted so as to entitle her to share in the insurance moneys, amounting to $2,000. Held that the two children of the insured are entitled to the whole amount, and an order was made accordingly.

—The Manchester Courier says the betrothal of Prince George, only son of the Prince of Wales, and Princess Mary Victoria, daughter of the Duke and Duchess of Teck, has been definitely decided upon, and that it will shortly be announced. No surprise is occasioned by the statement. It is said that the queen, who is very fond of Princess Mary, is heartily in favor of the the betrothal, and that, in fact, it was her influence that brought it about. The marriage of the prince and princess would be greeted with much satisfaction by the people, with whom both are extremely popular.

—A London cable says:—Hon. Patrick Greville-Nagent, brother of Lord Greville, was on Tuesday last arraigned in the police court of having indecently assaulted a young woman named Price. The offence is alleged to have been committed last night in a compartment of a train running to London from Brighton. Miss Price stated she made a most desperate struggle against her assailant and that he only succeeded in his attempt after she was exhausted by her fighting against him. The prisoner was remanded in bail of £400. He strenuously denies the charge and declares the case is one of attempted blackmail. The affair has caused a tremendous sensation.

—Patrick O'Rielly of Montreal, aged 81 years, who for the past thirty years has eked out a livelihood by picking up cigar ends and selling the dried tobacco to small storekeepers, died in the general hospital Saturday night. He was brought to the hospital on April 1 suffering from internal injuries, having been knocked down by a cart. He was clad in filthy rags, but would not allow his clothes to be taken away. A nurse accidentally discovered that the old man's hat was lined with bank bills. When she spoke about the matter he tried to scratch her eyes out, but only succeeded in badly marking her face. On Saturday, finding that his end was near, he made a will leaving $210 to a boarding-house keeper with whom he had lived; $5 to the hospital and the remainder to St. Patrick's parish. In one pocket a City and District bank book was found showing a deposit of $947.75. The account has been running since 1876.

MIDLAND DISTRICT NOTES.

—Burglars stole a coat and vest from A. Lemoine, Penetang. A watch and chain went with the vest, while the trousers with $65 were left untouched.

—On Saturday Mayor Dice of Milton fined Thomas McLean $1 and costs, total $7.15, for knocking off C. S. Racey's silk hat and kicking it when it was down.

—The tongue of the bell in the Central school at North Bay fell on Janitor Tippett and made a very severe bruise on his shoulder. He nearly rang his own death knell.

—Charboneau, who was shot at Tweed, Ont., nine or ten days ago by a woman whom he had insulted while intoxicated, died at the Hotel Dieu, Kingston, Thursday night.

—All male persons seeking shelter for the night in the police cells of Kingston will hereafter be required to give three hours labour in return for the lodging, if not physically incapacitated.

—Patrick Conway of Orillia went to Stayner two weeks ago to purchase the Queen's hotel there. Excessive use of intoxicants, resulting in heart failure, caused his sudden death last Thursday.

—While chopping in the bush one day last week Andrew Sedore of North Gwillimbury lacerated his left foot so badly with a blow from his axe that it was found necessary to amputate two of the toes.

—A young man named Garret, whose father lives near Roslin, was on Saturday afternoon so seriously injured by the running away of a team which he was driving before a seed drill that his death will probably result.

—Rev. W. H. Barnes of Belleville, who was once a Methodist and then a Reformed Episcopalian, has become an adherent of the Church of England. In a published letter he states his conviction that he was in error when attacking the Church of England through the newspapers two years ago.

—In a sermon at Kingston on Sunday, Rev. Dr. Jackson, a congregationalist clergyman, spoke of the proposal to use one of the martello towers in that city as the base of a monument to Alexander Mackenzie, and suggested that another tower should be used for a like purpose in memory of Sir John Macdonald.

—Last Sunday night burglars broke into the store of Mr. W. R. Foot of Parry Sound, making the entrance at the rear of the store. Then they proceeded to the safe, bored three holes into the vault, put in powder and blew the door open and took $200, all the money there was there. Mr. Foot is treasurer of the town, and had returned from Toronto the day previous, where he had negotiated debentures to the amount of $28,000 which had been borrowed for paying for water works. It had been announced in city papers that these debentures had been sold, and it is believed that Mr. Foot was followed home by experienced burglars who went after the $28,000.

SAMPLES OF LIQUOR.

Rev. Madison C. Peters of New York city has been preaching some practical temperance sermons of late. One Sunday evening recently he gave a lecture on "Samples from Sample Rooms," which was reported in the Herald of that city as follows:

Mr. Peters began by saying that in December he visited a dozen of the best kept liquor stores in the neighborhood and bought pint samples of their best brandy, gin, whiskey, port wine, sherry, etc. These he had taken to expert chemists for careful analysis.

"In the sample of pure Holland gin," said he, "we found neutral spirits, rotten corn, juniper berries, turpentine and vitriol. We dropped the white of an egg and an oyster, both easily digestible articles, into this compound, and saw them shrivel up into hard, stringy masses. This shows how nicely a drop of gin aids digestion.

"In the sample of 'fine old hand-made Kentucky whisky,'" he continued, "we found neutral spirits, glycerine, sulphate of zinc, chromic acid, creosote, unslacked lime and fusil oil. Now, fifteen drachms of fusil evaporated in a box will make the toughest cat that can be put in that box insensible in less an hour.

"But the port wine," said Mr. Peters, "that rich, fruity drink which some respectability is proud to take after dinner, that was the worst of all. What do you think we found in the best sample that I could buy? Well, there were neutral acid, glycerine, licorice, zinc, mercury, antimony, salts of tartar and ether, muriatic acid and alum.

"I have statistics to show that one hundred times more imported port is sold than can be made from all the grapes in Oporto. It is the same with all other wines. Maderia produces thirty thousand barrels of wine per year, and America alone drinks fifty thousand barrels of Maderia in that time."

In the best lager beer he could get Mr. Paters said there were discovered pepper, ginger, vinegar, capsicum, cream of tartar, acetic, nitric, citric, tartaric, sulphuric and prussic acids; nitric, sulphuric and acetic ether; spirits of nitre; the oils of vitriol, turpentine and cassia; caraway seed, cloves, japonica extract, bitter almonds, orris root, grains of paradise, Spanish juice, black ants, dried cherries, orange peel, coriander seed, white oak bark, tannic acid, fennel seed, cardamon seed, wormwood, copperas, alum, sulphates of iron and copper, licorice, opium, gentian root, quassia, cocculus indicus, tobacco, saltpeter, logwood, marble dust, eggshells, hartshorn, nutgalls, potash and soda.

WHAT LOCAL OPTION HAS DONE.

The city of Cambridge, divided from Boston by the Charles river, has a population of 70,000. Boston has 800 drinking saloons; Cambridge not one. The local option law has enabled the temperance people to keep the saloons out of Cambridge for the last five years. At first only by the hardest work, now more easily by the steadily accumulating good results, the vote goes, every December, "no license." Prior to every voting day the Citizens' committee sends to every voter a large and handsomely printed paper showing the practical benefits of the anti-license vote. The name of this little paper is "Frozen Truth." It sets forth the results in better trade, larger savings of working men, tidier homes, better work and more pay for labor, fewer arrests, less idleness, better food for the poor, etc. It is found that many of the former patrons of the saloon, now that it is gone, do not wish it to return. The leaders of this movement believe that the secret of their permanent success is in the publicity given to the results of the experiment. Appeals to sentiment will fail where the cold facts will win conviction.

MISS GROVE AND HER WORK.

Evangeline Grove
Stood at the stove
Preparing her Diamond Dyes;
Her mother looked on,
While fat brother John
Stood gazing with wondering eyes.

Now little Miss Grove,
She dearly did love
A dress or a costume to dye;
And mother, she smiled
Whenever the child
Her skill to this work did apply.

This fine afternoon,
With stick and with spoon
The dye she was closely 'tending;
'Twas Fast Navy Blue,
So rich and so true,
O'er which she was eagerly bending.

Now into the pot
She gently did drop
A faded blue French wool serge dress;
'Twas boiled in the dye,
Rinsed, and then put to dry,
And restored quite to usefulness.

The neighbors around,
Have all quickly found
What wonders with dyes can be done;
And now they all use,
And never refuse
These dyes that stand washing and sun.

The moral taught here,
Should all women cheer,
It refers to economy rare;
The agents are small,
But useful to all
Are the Diamond Dyes fadeless and fair.

VARIETIES.

An innocent remark—not guilty.

No Disappointment.

Disappointments of one kind and another crop up all along life's pathway, for unfortunately it is the unexpected that always happens. There is at least one article of acknowledged merit that never disappoints. Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor is sure to remove the worst corns in a few days, and as no claim is made that it will cure anything else, it cannot disappoint. If you have hard or soft corns just try it. Beware of the article "just as good." N. C. Polson & Co., proprietors, Kingston.—103-1.

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria,
When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria.
When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria.
When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

For the past year I have been troubled to a very great extent with Dandruff, also a dullness of color in my hair, and through the advice of a friend (who spoke from experience) I tried your Anti-Dandruff, which, upon the application of less than a bottle of your liquid, I find my head not only thoroughly cleansed but a vast improvement in the color and growth.

I have and do recommend it as highly beneficial to the profession and public generally as an agreeable and welcome innovation in the remedies put forth for public favor. Yours, etc., 1702-2. WM P. WOLFE, Advertising Agt., "Frank Daniels Co." Season 1890-91.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR COLUMN.

[Conducted by the Christian Endeavor Editor.]

[All communications for this department to be addressed to C. E. Editor, care Canadian Post, Lindsay.]

—The great New York convention in July of this year will be marvellous; 25,000 delegates are expected. Ontario ought to send 100 at least. Are you planning to go? The return rates are single fare, and this along with five days board in New York and other expenses can be brought under $30. Try and plan to go.

—Don't forget the provincial convention in London next October. The provincial committee and the London committee are going to give you the grandest convention this province ever saw. Already Bishop Baldwin is secured, and that name alone should inspire a wish to be present. Pray for this and all other Christian assemblies.

A DOUBLE RELEASE.

Story of a Life Reclaimed—A Prisoner Pardoned Because Dying of Consumption is Recalled to Strength.

Alexander Newman was sentenced to serve twenty-one years in the Penitentiary at Kingston, Ont. His physical system gave away under the confinement and reduced him to weakness and emaciation. Consumption easily found him a subject for its remorseless attack. He wasted away steadily in spite of the well meant energies, skill and kindness of the hospital staff. His case was pronounced hopeless, with no expectation that he could survive another winter, consequently the authorities, which never act in such cases till hope of life is utterly abandoned, released him on Oct. 24th last, after a confinement of four years. Alexander Newman was carried from the prison hospital on a stretcher, placed in an ambulance and conveyed to the home of his relatives. His home-coming was anything but joyful, as his new-found liberty seemed doomed to be cut short by the world's great gleaner—death. But happily fears grew groundless—life was again to glow with vigor, and hope for the hopeless one was revived. Three days after Newman's release, a friend who understood the remarkable power of Miller's Emulsion to sustain and strengthen life, advised his sister to procure a bottle of the remedy. Animated with the belief that while there is life there is hope, she purchased a bottle of Miller's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil. From the first dose taken the patient looked forward with hope when it was found that his system could retain and assimilate this palatable preparation. His digestive organs had been so weak he was unable to retain sufficient food to nourish his body, from that cause he had so wasted away as to weigh only 102 pounds. The life-giving qualities of Miller's Emulsion soon exercised influence over Newman by arresting decay and checking his dreadful enemy—the consumption. Steadily improvement has continued. Strength came with added flesh. Alexander Newman is a new man indeed. We present a copy from a photograph taken on the 2nd instant. Mr Newman weighed on that date 145 pounds, a gain of ten ounces a day for sixty-six days from the time he began to use Miller's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil. We trust this very singular recovery will not have the effect of restraining the hand of mercy in the release of sick prisoners. Far better if this resulted, that the case of Alexander Newman were not known publicly, but it is too valuable in the interest of public health to be overlooked. To verify the above facts the certificate of the patient is appended.

October, 1891.

January, 1892.

KINGSTON, January 2nd, 1892.—I hereby certify to the above being correct in every particular. Miller's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil saved my life.

By the aid of the new Hydro-Carbon Gas Furnace he can make indestructible porcelain fillings and restore broken and decayed teeth to their original shape, contour and color. By this process old roots can have porcelain crowns attached; consequently there is no plate required.

Gas, Vitalized Air, administered with great success for nearly 22 years, extracting teeth for thousands of persons without a particle of pain. He uses the latest approved appliances for administering the Gas. He studied under Dr. Colton of New York, the inventor of gas for extracting teeth, who has given it to over 160,000 persons and not a fatal case.

MR. NEELANDS uses Ball's Local Anæsthetic for extracting teeth. He is now using a new style of forceep which he had expressly manufactured while on his last visit to New York, which removes the teeth without danger of injury to the gums or jaw, the gums healing up beautifully in a few days and no consequent trouble. Artificial Teeth inserted on all the popular bases and by the most approved styles and appliances for their retention and comfort. Numbers of persons are wearing teeth made by Mr. Neelands over 20 years and never required repairs. Prices from $10 to $65 for an upper or under set

Persons from a distance will please send postal card before coming. Office, Kent-st., Lindsay, nearly opposite Congress Hall.
