

219-221 Charles St.

The former Holton house at 221 Charles St. today.

the roof, is a small window with a commanding view of the neighborhood.

Hartwig says she was told by former owner Mrs. Landau, that the woman saw a ghost in the building. The house is now for sale but prospective buyers needn't worry about the spirit of George Holton prowling the grounds as Hartwig hasn't seen anything unusual.
