VALENTIA.

(Special to The Post.)

Revival services are being held in the church here beginning on Monday last. Rev. Mr. Clarke, of Little Britain circuit, attends each evening and the indications are that a good work will be accomplished.

The young people of the district are looking forward eagerly for Thanksgiving day to arrive, as the indications are that this year's fowl supper will eclipse anything of the kind hitherto attempted. With good roads it cannot fail to be a complete success.

Mr. Jas. Hobbs, of Janetville, who, by the way, has become quite a fowl fancier, was here the other day and secured a few fine specimens of speckled Wyandottes from Mr. W. Marks, to add to his breeding stock.

Mrs. Jas. Stokes last spring sent for and secured, from Dentonia farm, a setting of White Rock eggs, a fowl which are much in demand for table use. The results were not as satisfactory as looked for, as only one chicken came to maturity out of the whole setting, it being of the male persuasion. The results along the line of breeding will be slow.

The home of Messrs. Thos. Fisher and W. Myles have been blest by the arrival of two little visitors who have come to stay.

Mr. Jas. Casey had the misfortune to have the first joint taken from one of his fingers, by coming in contact with a turnip machine. It has quite painful, but no serious results are anticipated.

Mr. Thos Shouldice, one of our progressive young farmers, paid your town a visit on last Saturday, combining business with pleasure.

FLEETWOOD

(Special to The Post.)

The anniversary services in connection with the Methodist church at the Brick Corners was held on Sunday and Monday, the 16th and 17th of Oct. The weather being fine and the roads in perfect condition, the attendance on both occasions was unusually large. The fowl supper on Monday evening, which has become an annual affair, was looked forward to with marked interest by the young people for miles around and the many friends at a distance who turned out, the managing committee feel grateful to those in such goodly numbers to send a helping hand to the good work. The supper was all that could be desired, there being full and plenty for all. After the inner man was refreshed all that could gain admittance repaired to the church, where a musical and literary programme was given and thoroughly enjoyed by all. The opening chorus by the choir was given in good form and was warmly applauded. A duett by the Misses Slegitt and Dundas with mandolin accompaniment was well executed. Mr. Joe Best gave several violin selections in a masterly style, accompanied on the organ by Miss Dundas. Miss Prisbin and Mrs. Peel sang a couple of duetts and little Eddie Shea, proved himself a favorite in a few humorous recitations. Space will not permit us to particularize on each performer, but will say that special ...dering of a couple of well-selected duetts was the chief feature of the evening's entertainment. Those young ladies possess voices of a clear, rich tone and of more than ordinary compass, and blend harmoniously together. They were frequently encored. The Rev. Mr. Harrison was unavoidably absent and was much missed. Your correspondent not being furnished with the names of the speakers or the name of the minister in charge, is unable to give much information as to those taking part in the speeches. We understand the handsome sum of about $84 was realized from the receipts of the supper.

IRONDALE.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

Hunting and elections are on. The talk we hear these days is about a great many who have taken their departure for their old hunting grounds once more.

Rev. Mr. Henderson, of Lindsay, gave a lecture on Monday night, the subject of his speech being, "A Walk at Sea." Everyone enjoyed it very much. Refreshments were served.

Mr. Geo. Hancock, and wife, of Toronto, are the guests of Mr. and Mrs S. E. Hancock.

Miss L. M. Barr was visiting her brother for a short time this week.

Mr. Wilfrid Hancock gave a dance on Monday night, and we believe it was a swell affair. Some of the dames returned home in the wee hours of the morning, and if all went home as fast as they started they would surely get home before breakfast.

Mrs. A. Graham returned home on Monday.

JANETVILLE.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

Hallowe'en passed without any harm being done. Some gates were removed from their places and other small tricks were played.

Mr. Thomas Syer, sr., has returned from Manitoba. He speaks very favorably of that province.

Misses Eva Bradburn and Julia Richardson, students at the Lindsay Collegiate Institute, were at home over Sunday. Also Miss Maggie Burn, a student attending the Lindsay Federal business college, was at home over Sunday. Janetville has more young ladies in Lindsay than any other village of its size.

Our cheese factory closed on Saturday of last week, and Mr. J. Purden, our clever cheesemaker feels proud of the season's success.

Mr. Isaac Feir is kept busy chopping these days.

The election contest, which has occupied the people's minds for the past fortnight, was decided on Thursday, and now they can breathe more freely and settle down to work.

The Orange hall was crowded with a mixed political audience on Wednesday evening, Oct. 26th, to hear the Hon. A. B. Aylesworth, who appeared for the first time before a Janetville audience. Mr. Robt. Philip, of Cartwright, presided in the absence of Dr. Nasmyth, and on the platform were Mr. A. Gibson, barrister, of Toronto, and Mr. Thos. Stewart, barrister, of Lindsay. The first speaker was Mr. Gibson who introduced Mr. Aylesworth to the people. He was followed by Mr. T. Steward, of Lindsay, Messrs. Stewart and Gibson d... not make long addresses because they said the crowd came to hear Mr. Aylesworth and they did not want to deprive them of the... rights. Mr. Aylesworth was ... to address the audience ... greeted with applause. His address was plain and practical and dwelt on the political issues of the day. He concluded with an appeal to the electors for their support if they thought he was worthy of it, and if not then vote for Mr. Ward.

Miss Wilson, teacher, accompanied by Miss Grace Hobbs, spent Saturday with her parents near Lindsay.

On account of the anniversary services on Sunday last, at Ballyduff, there was no service here in the Presbyterian church.

Our merchants are well supplied with coal oil of the best quality for the winter. Now is the time to bring along your cans, large and small, and get them filled for the cold and stormy weather.

Mr. Robt. McDowell has decided to quit farming for a term of five years. He has rented his farm to Mr. Richard Grandy, of Mount Horeb.

Mr. Thos. Gostlin's sale of farm stock and implements is to take place on Nov. 11th.

Our teachers, Mr. A. W. Bradburn and Miss L. Wilson, are engaged for another year. This is a step in the right direction. Mr. A. W. Bradburn's success this year at the entrance examination was seven pupils.

to hold their annual fowl dinner this year, but to have thanks-offering services at some future date instead.

The service in connection with the sacrament of the Lord's supper will be held in the Methodist church her on Sabbath next, at half-past ten o'clock. In the evening at half-past six, an evangelistic service will be held.

WOODVILLE.

(Special to the Post.)

The residence of Mrs. Wm. Warram, "Maple Cottage," was the scene of a happy event on Wednesday, Oct. 24th, 1904, when the eldest daughter was united in marriage to Mr. P. A. DeGuirre, of Toronto, formerly of Woodville, the ceremony being performed by the Rev. W. Elliott, in the presence of over 40 guests. The bride, who was given away by her uncle, Mr. Wm. Hobbs, of Oshawa, was becomingly dressed in cream silk with chiffon and lace trimmings and carried a bouquet of white chrysanthemums. The bridesmaid, Miss Addie S. Warram, sister of the bride, was attired in brown silk and carried a bouquet of pink carnation chrysanthemums. Miss Norma Warram, sister of the groom, as flower girl, was prettily dressed in white silk and carried a basket of white carnations and pink and white maidenhair ferns. The groom was attended by his brother, Mr. F. DeGuerre, of Woodville. As the strains of the wedding march, which was played by Miss Leta M. Oliver, the bridal party entered the parlor under an arch, which was surrounded by choice flowers. After the ceremony the party adjourned to the dining room, where a sumptuous repast was served. The presents were numerous and costly, the groom's gift to the bride being ten dollars in gold, to the bridesmaid a cross set with pearls, to the flower girl a necklace, and to the groomsman a stickpin. The bride's traveling suit was of blue broadcloth, with hat to match. Mr. and Mrs. DeGuerre left for Toronto amid showers of rice.

LORNEVILLE

(Special to the Post.)

Political notes from Watchman-Warder: The Globe describes Sir Wilfrid Laurier as being given an ovation at Lorneville. An ovation given by three people is a new sort of performance, but that is the sort Sir Wilfrid got. The only people on the platform with him were Mr. Gallum McKinnon, the hotelkeeper, Bob Fitzsimmons, his erratic hostler, and Postmaster Plank. Sir Wilfrid asked whose riding the place was in and was enthusiastically informed by "Bob" that "this is Col Sam Hughes' riding." This "ovation" of the Globe's and its wild description of the crowd at the Peterboro meeting have seriously jolted up that paper's reputation for veracity.".

The Lindsay Watchman-Warder seems to take considerable pleasure in misrepresenting ordinary occurrences and scattering the same broadcast throughout the country. In particular we refer to the above comment, which appeared in the Watchman-Warder of Oct 27th. The facts of the case are that about twenty-five persons were present at the ovation (as Watchman-Warder states) given to Sir Wilfrid Laurier at Lorneville, several of the prominent citizens of Woodville, among whom was the Reeve, being on the platform, and also three of the leading Conservatives of Lorneville, added to the number present. Robt. Fitzsimmons, hostler at the Matheson house, and not at the McKinnon hotel, who was wrongly represented as spokesman for the party, was not present on the occasion. When a newspaper makes such misleading statements, which the public of this vicinity know are untrue, regarding an unimportant affair of this kind, we can only arrive at the prompt conclusion that the charges, which appeared in the Watchman-Warder columns, made in the recent election campaign against the Liberal candidate, R. J. McLaughlin, in his business relations with Fenelon township, were false. We leave it to the intelligent people to judge of the "reputation for veracity" of the Globe and the Watchman-Warder respectively bear. Thanking you for your valuable space, we are, yours, etc.,

S. O. McKINNON,
P. O. PLANK.

BROWN'S—MARIPOSA.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

The people of this vicinity are about finishing up their root crop.

Detective Forrest, of Toronto, was visiting at his father-in-law's, Mr. Daniel Lee's, last Saturday and Sunday, also his brother, William, of the Glen.

We understand Mr. Arkesy is giving up farming and purposes buying Mr. B. L. Maunders' residence in Cameron, where he intends to reside.

Mr. S. H. Jacobs, of Huntsville, paid a flying visit to these parts last week.

Mrs. Watts, of Baddow, visited with Mrs. Wistaway last week, also Mr. and Mrs. Wicket, of Little Britain, visited Mr. and Mrs. Westaway last Sunday.

Miss I. Thurston, teacher, and Miss Addie Anderson called on Mrs. Harry Rich on Monday evening.

Mr. A Rich attended the ploughing match at Oakwood on Tuesday.

REABORO.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

Mr. David Reid, having disposed of his farm property some time ago, to Mr. W. J. McNevin, will hold an auction sale on Nov. 15th of his farm stock and implements. He has purchased a lot in the west end of Lindsay, and will build in the spring, and become a resident of your town in the summer of 1905.

Mr. Mead, the young student, who occupied the pulpit of the Baptist church here during the past few months, has gone to McMaster College College, to finish his studies, when we may hope to see him back with us, a full-fledged minister of the gospel. As he was a general favorite here, especially with the young ladies, he will be much missed.

Mr. John Reid, who has spent the past two months in the West, is home again and is fairly well impressed with the country. He visited many old Ops boys, whom he reports as doing well. David Cornell, who is farming there quite extensively, had some 2300 bushels of wheat this year, with prospects of doing even better another year.

Mr. Robt. Allen, cheese-maker, visited the parental home in Peterboro, last week.

Mr. D. Reid purchased a Shetland pony last week, from M. M. Boyd, of Bobcaygeon, and will keep it for his own private driving.

LOTUS.

(Special to The Post.)

A fowl supper under the auspices of the I. O. E. was given here last Thursday evening, and from every standpoint it was a complete success. The supper itself was of the most appetizing type, and full justice was done to it by the stalwart youths, many of whom drove for miles to be present. After supper a very choice and varied programme was rendered. Mr John Richards, organizer for the order, was asked to take the chair, and for upwards of an one half hour he held the attention of those present describing the benefits to be derived from becoming a member of the order. Mr Richards is a most forcible speaker, and has been singularly successful in organizing work since starting. A musical programme was then given, a phonograph adding much to the evening's amusement. Miss McNally sang a couple of solos in a most pleasing manner and was very loudly encored. An instrumental duett by Mr. and Mrs. Williamson was worthy of special mention. Mr. Jas. Sharpe, of Lindsay, in several humorous songs appealed to the tastes of the young men, many of whom would willingly have had him render the full program. Mr. Jas. Howe, of Janetville, gave a comic sermon and many concluded that Jim had missed his calling in life, that church work would have been more in his line that his present occupation. A children's drill was much enjoyed by the young people. A grand tableau was given with colored lights, which brought the programme to a close. The receipts, we understand, were most satisfactory, and a most enjoyable evening was spent.

Big Bend Lumber Co.

Mr. F. Edmonds, jr., of the Big Bend Lumber Co., of Arrowhead, B. C., is in town on a visit to his parents. Fred is most enthusiastic concerning the affairs of the Company, and the photographs he shows, together with the amount of lumber milled, must prove encouraging to the local stockholders. Mr. Edmonds returns shortly to Arrowhead. Mr. Wm Wm. Flavelle and Mr. G. A. Jordan are directors of this gigantic concern, which is operated the year round. We are glad so many of our townsmen are interested in such an enterprise, although at a distance.

Railway Commission Praised.

The fruit growers of the province, according to a statement to be published in the November issue of the Canadian Horticulturist, are much pleased at the action of the railway commission in appointing a special committee, including the President of the Ontario Fruit Growers' Association to visit points in the United States to see what measures have been adopted by the railroads and fruit growers across the border for the transportation of fruit. A special effort will be made by this committee to see if a car can be found that will be suitable for the transportation of fruit during the fruit season and that the railroad companies will be able to use at other seasons for other purposes. The short season for shipping fruit has been the chief obstacle in the past to the supplying of properly fitted cars for the trade.
