LOCAL HAPPENINGS.

ting fire to the fringe of a couch, but with the assistance of the neighbors the fire was extinguished before it had got beyond control.

—Mrs. D. G. Graham received word Tuesday from Kansas City that her youngest brother, Frank Graham, was dead, having died suddenly.

—An informal reception was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Stanley on Saturday from 2 until 5, for Mr. Phillips of the Baptist church.

—"Twentieth Century Examples of Persecution of Home and Abroad" will be the topic for discussion in the Philathea class room Sunday at twelve o'clock. Everybody welcome.

—Miss Mildred Briggs has finished a course of stenography at the Chicago Business College, and is now situated at 84 Washington street, Chicago, room 21, as a public stenographer.

—Mrs. Martin White is again at home after four weeks' absence spent at the Post Graduate Hospital in Chicago, where Dr. Goldspohn performed an operation on her, which was entirely successful.

Mrs. Edith Shannon, widow of late James Shannon, formerly of place, died at Hinsdale on the of February. Mrs. Shannon left n and daughter, James Shannon, Hinsdale, and Mrs. Edith Hudson, k Park.

—Ed. Barrett fell in getting off the 6:29 train last Saturday. He sustained some injuries and broke his artificial limb, making it useless. This train is started up too quickly, not giving passengers a chance to alight and the company may have a heavy damage suit to pay for somebody's negligence.

—Eleanor Cook entertained twenty of her little friends on February the 15th at her home. The occasion was in honor of St. Valentine, and the jolly games planned by this small hostess were thoroughly enjoyed by her guests, who testified to having spent a very merry evening.

—A delightful Valentine party was given by Miss Ruth Briggs February 13 to eighteen of her friends. The prize winners were Miss Agnes Stevens, Miss Hazel Marvin and Master Edgar Henderson. Miss Eleanor Cook and Master Lester Barr were crowned Queen and King of Hearts. A good time was enjoyed by everyone.

—The committee on visitation, of which Miss Emma Fletcher of the Philatheas is chairman, met with the class president on Tuesday evening. Temporary plans were made, by which the work may be carried on until their chairman is fully recovered and able to again direct the work, which time, it is hoped, is not far distant.

—The Young People's Society of the Maple Avenue Evangelical Church will give an "Old Colonial Party" in Penner's Hall, on the evening of Feb. 23d, at eight o'clock. A special program of unusual interest haf been prepared, and other features of interest promise to make the evening a most pleasant one.

—The fourth of the series of social afternoons being given by members of the Woman's Club for the benefit of our schools, will be held next Wednesday afternoon, Feb. 24th, at the home of Miss Jessie Bryce, No. 218 East Maple avenue. The hostesses are Miss Bryce, Mrs. M. E. Stanger and Mrs. J. C. White. A cordial invitation is extended to all friends of the club and schools. Hours, two to five.

—Take average number of lamps burned during evening, multiply by number of hours, then by 56, divide by 1,000 and multiply by 15 cents gives cost of carbon lamps; then multiply by 25 (instead of 56) and divide by 1,000 and multiply by 15 cents and subtract and see the difference in cost, and four candle power more for each lamp at less cost on meter. Miller & Hange, Berwyn, Ill.

—The controversy between the village officers and T. E. Brooks on account of the sidetrack at Washington street, has finally been settled, the village board has drawn up and passed an ordinance which the railroad company has accepted, and they can go right ahead and build it. Let us hope there will be no more delay, so that the grounds along the track at the depot can be cleaned up. If only the stock yards could be moved at the same time the vicinity of the depot could be put in respectable condition instead of looking like a dumping ground, as it does at present.

—There will be a celebration of the Holy Communion at St. Andrew's Episcopal Church on Sunday, Feb. 21, at 11 o'clock in the morning. A cordial invitation to all; strangers especially welcome.

—D. J. Huff and Miss Jennie E. Reynolds of New York City were married in La Grange last Saturday and will be at home to their friends after March 1 at 12 Curtis street.

Special instruction in mission study and teachers' training given every Friday evening. All are welcome.

Morton W. Gress, a former resident of this village, is at present in a sanitarium at Colorado Springs, Colo., and members of the M. W. of A. will be interested to read an extract of a letter received from him. "I am taking treatment at a sanitarium, which was built by the Modern Woodmen of America, an insurance lodge of which I am a member. I was not getting well very fast so have come to try this. The treatment is free to beneficial members only. How fortunate that I am a member of the lodge. Patients have it nice and easy here, no work to do, in fact, the doctors will not let us work.

We rest outside all day in an easy chair and all we have to do is to go to our meals three times a day. We live in tents, of which there are at present sixty, and more to be put up soon, one patient to a tent, which is furnished with a bed, stove, coal pail, poker, wash stand, pitcher, writing stand, broom, rocker and easy chair, clothes closet, dresser, looking glass and lamp, which will be replaced by electricity by and by. Nothing is left undone to make it pleasant for us. Trained attendants look after our daily needs, and we certainly have a snap of it here, if it wasn't for being so far away from our loved ones. I expect to stay here six months and cannot say too much of this noble work of the Woodmen of America."

JAMES PRIDHAM.

Mary Anderson, who, when she married several years ago, retired from the stage, was asked the other day, on her arrival in New York, for her views of the comparison between life on and off the stage. She replied that "on the stage you only play love and romance, while in real life you have them always, and that is the life that is best." This is a complete and satisfying explanation of why she left the stage.

The children of the late Charles E. Perkins of Boston have given to the city of Colorado Springs "The Garden of the Gods," one of the scenic wonders of America. The park has long been open to the public, and the formal transfer is in accordance with Mr. Perkins' wish. This gift is similar in spirit to Mr. Kent's gift of Muir Park, California, to the nation, and to a bequest recently received by the city of Boston of a large sum of money to maintain the city parks.

At one time there were two members of the British House of Commons named Montague Matthew and Matthew Montague; the former a tall, handsome man, and the latter a little man. During a session of Parliament the Speaker, having addressed the latter as the former, Montague Matthew observed that it was strange he should make such a mistake, as there was as great a difference between them as between a horse chestnut and a chestnut horse.

The law-breaking Indian should not be coddled or supported in idleness at national expense. But the government certainly will not help the solution of the Indian problem by turning the Indian tribes out of their lands at the urging of greedy speculators or settlers who want the rich reservation lands. This is not a matter on which the friends of the Indians can afford to be at odds.

Going barefoot seems to be growing less popular in the West Indies than it used to be. During the last fiscal year the United States exported more than two and a half million pairs of shoes to the islands, one-third as many as the exports of the whole world.
