A Boy's Remedy

In thinkin' over different ways a boy can get relief,
To lighten up his load o' cares an' overstock o grief,
It 'pears t' me there's only one that fills the bill at all,
An' that's to scamper to his ma an' let her hear him bawl.

It don't need much hard thinkin' to call some times to mind
When I had bitter grievances against the human kind;
And how they use' t' lighten up an' kind o' float away,
When I'd sit down an' bellow near my ma for half a day.

If you get licked at fight'n, or get hit with a ball
Or if you're climbin' in a tree and have a real bad fall;
You don't want patent medicines to soothe your throbbin' breast,
But what you need's to find your ma and bawl your level best.

And if your ma's away from home, don't waste a single tear,
For not a grain o' comfort comes unless she's 'round to hear.
Just tuck your grief away till night, when she comes home again,
Then run and jump right in her lap and bawl with might and main.

Ev'n now it of'en seems t' me, when busy cares perplex,
An' things all work out crisscross, my peaceful soul t' vex,
If I could only bellow like I use' to when a boy,
The noise would scare my grief away an' fill its place with joy. —Youths' Companion.

Mr. Cressman of Hanover who recently assigned will be allowed to buy back his stock at a rate of 35c on the dollar. Cressman's liabilities are placed at $20,000 and his assets at $5,000

Owen Sound carried a bylaw on Friday granting the C. P. R. $40,000 for the construction of another elevator, and another for $6000 to extend the waterworks system. Oh ye of great faith.

Maggie, the three-year-old daughter of J. T. McCannell, of Inglewood, met her death under the most distressing circumstances. Mr. McCannell was in Orangeville attending to some business and Mrs. McCannell went to the stable to attend to the cow, leaving the little one alone in the house. She was absent only a few minutes, but when she returned she found the baby's clothes afire. The mother succeeded in extinguishing the flames but the child was so badly burned that she died shortly afterwards.

Miss Susie McMath, youngest daughter of Mr. Wm. McMath, Dungannon, went out on Saturday morning for a pail of water. The platform of the pump being unsound the young lady fell through it, into a 60 foot well with 16 feet of water in it. As she did not return, one of the household went out to see what was wrong. She was seen clinging to the frame of the pump. Ropes and ladders were obtained and Miss McMath rescued.—Chatsworth News.

She Wore 'em Right

Over in the eastern part of the county of Grey there is a village called Wareham. Nothing very odd about the name; yet thereby hangs a tale. A young women in knickerbockers— a visitor from an American city—was riding along on her wheel in the neighborhood of Wareham. Being a stranger she lost her way, and seeing a farmer in front rode up to him, alighted and said: "Can you tell me if this is the right way to Wareham?" The man looked her up and down with great attention, and then slowly replied: "Yes Miss—yes; you seem to have them on all right."—O. S. Times.

Old established wholesale House wants one or two honest and industrious representatives for this section. Can pay a hustler about $12 a week to start with. Drawer 29, Brantford, Ont.

One of the district school trustees was a crank on the subject of fire, and when he called he always confined his remarks to a question addressed to the pupils as to what they would do in case the building should catch fire. The teacher well acquainted with his hobby, prompted her scholars as to the answer they should give to his accustomed enquiry. When the board called, however, this particular trustee, perhaps from a desire to emulate his associates in their addresses, rose and said: "you boys and girls have paid such nice attention to Mr. Jone's remarks, I wonder what you would do if I were to make you a little speech?" Quick as thought a hundred voices piped in unison: "Form a line and march down stairs."
