Heard's Improv'd HARROWS.

Artemesia, June 16th, 1883.

MR. JOHN H. HEARD,

Dear Sir,—I take pleasure in testifying that the set of ten-bulled Harrows I purchased from you last April has given me entire satisfaction. It being given to me on trial, I closely watched its operations when at work to find a fault with it, but I failed to see any. It is no heavier on my team than my six-bull wooden harrow. I am yours truly, JOHN WHITBY.

A Trying Trip.

Terrible Experience of a Party Journeying from Wolfe Island to Kingston.

KINGSTON, March 31.—Saturday afternoon last several persons left Wolfe Island in two open flat-bottomed boats for Kingston, with several chests of baggage and forty bags of mail. The boats were on runners to slide along the ice, but they frequently broke through. A furious storm raged, the wind blowing at a terrific rate and the snow fairly blinding the party. They had a terrible time, breaking through at almost every step, and being most of the time in the water and ice flow. The hours passed and still they struggled, their clothing frozen stiff, the cold wind cutting into the flesh, feet and hands. When within a short distance of the city they were so weak, sore and exhausted that they climbed into the boat and huddled together as closely as their stiff and icy garments would permit. Some of them expected death, and became silent and resigned. They got so little shelter that they pulled the leather and canvass bags over them, and patiently awaited the dawn of day. They could not sleep, they dare not do so. At daybreak they found that the frost had improved the condition of the ice, and they made a new start for the city. They reached it more dead than alive. Some will lose their toes, and one man will have his feet amputated. All had frozen hands, and limbs, but were glad to escape with their lives.

Drowned in the Street.

A despatch from East Saginaw, Mich., says: Orbis Hotchkiss, aged 28, was seized with an apoplectic fit and fell into the water on Douglass street Friday and was drowned. He was a married man from Walsingham, Norfolk county, Canada. The streets in the southern part of the city, for three blocks from the river, are covered with from one to two feet of water. Water street is under water, and its pavement is weighted down with iron.

A QUESTION TO THE POINT.—Reader, have you a languid, weak and tired feeling, with nervous exhaustion, especially in the early spring? Then your liver is inactive and circulation poor. Arouse the torpid liver cleanse the sluggish blood and regulate the secretions with that purifying tonic Burdock Blood Bitters.

Rules In Poultry Raising.

An article entitled "Good, Sound Rules," and credited to Jno. M. Claiborny in the New Industry reads as follows:

1. Do not buy your parent stock of eggs because they are cheap. No man can afford to sell a thorough bred of any kind at a small price.

2. Buy your stock as near home as you can find your stock and an honest man to deal with. It saves expense, and you have acclimated stock.

3. Buy your stock at an exhibition if you can, as few breeders will risk poor stock on exhibition.

4. Never buy your stock on the streets from vendors, unless accompanied by a certificate from a reputable breeder. No matter how well the birds may look, you may be sure few breeders of thoroughbred will allow their stock to be hawked on the street.

5. Do not allow your fowls to run with an inferior male. A fowl, however fine, having at any time run with an inferior male, will only now and then throw you a thoroughbred, and never one worth more than 25 cents.

6. Never try to breed bad fowls into good ones. It cannot be done.

7. Never buy a fowl that you cannot exultingly show to your neighbor. Disparagement by a friend or neighbor is a sure cure for fine stock fever.

8. When setting fine eggs, do not give them too much attention. Many eggs are spoiled by to much handling, and the same rule obtains with regard to chicks.

9. Kill off the fowls not up to standard size. Then breed from your best and you will always have good fowls.

10. Give your fowls fresh, clean water clean walks and low roosts, and you can easily keep them in fine health. Care in moult is required.

NATIONAL PILLS acts promptly upon the Liver, regulate the Bowels and as a purgative are mild and thorough.

Rev. Father Wilds' EXPERIENCE.

The Rev. Z. P. Wilds, well-known city missionary in New York, and brother of the late eminent Judge Wilds, of the Massachusetts Supreme Court, writes as follows:

"78 E. 54th St., New York, May 16, 1882.
MESSRS. J. C. AYER & CO., Gentlemen:

Last winter I was troubled with a most uncomfortable itching humor affecting more especially my limbs, which itched so intolerably at night, and burned so intensely, that I could scarcely bear any clothing over them. I was also a sufferer from a severe catarrh and catarrhal cough; my appetite was poor, and my system a good deal run down. Knowing the value of AYER'S SARSAPARILLA, by observation of many other cases, and from personal use in former years, I began taking it for the above-named disorders. My appetite improved almost from the first dose. After a short time the fever and itching were allayed, and all signs of irritation of the skin disappeared. My catarrh and cough were also cured by the same means, and my general health greatly improved, until it is now excellent. I feel a hundred per cent stronger, and I attribute these results to the use of the SARSAPARILLA, which I recommend with all confidence as the best blood medicine ever devised. I took it in small doses three times a day, and used, in all, less than two bottles. I place these facts at your service, hoping their publication may do good.

Yours respectfully, Z. P. WILDS."

The above instance is but one of the many constantly coming to our notice, which prove the perfect adaptability of AYER'S SARSAPARILLA to the cure of all diseases arising from impure or impoverished blood, and a weakened vitality.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla
