There never was, and never will be, a universal panacea, in one remedy, for all ills to which flesh is heir—the very nature of many curatives being such that were the germs of other and differently seated diseases rooted in the system of the patient—what would relieve one ill in turn would aggravate the other. We have, however, in Quinine Wine, when obtainable in a sound unadulterated state, a remedy for many and grevious ills. By its gradual and judicious use, the frailest systems are led into convalescence and strength, by the influence which Quinine exerts on Nature's own restoratives. It relieves the drooping spirits of those with whom a chronic state of morbid despondency and lack of interest in life is a disease, and, by tranquilizing the nerves, disposes to sound and refreshing sleep—imparts vigor to the action of the blood, which, being stimulated, courses throughout the veins, strengthening the healthy animal functions of the system, thereby making activity a necessary result, strengthening the frame, and giving life to the digestive organs, which naturally demand increased substance—result, improved appetite. Northrop & Lyman of Toronto, have given to the public their superior Quinine Wine at the usual rate, and, gauged by the opinion of scientists, this wine approaches nearest perfection of any in the market. All druggists sell it.

Rapid Decay of Teeth.

A rapid tendency to decay, hitherto unknown in extent, is taking place in the teeth of the children and youth of the present generation. Of the children of a large number of parochial, industrial and other schools in England over 10,000 mouths were examined and the condition of each tooth was marked upon a chart. Less than 15 per cent. of such boys and girls of an average age of 12 years did not require some treatment for decayed teeth.

Powerful New Explosive.

A German has produced a new explosive. It is composed of liquid oxygen, sulphur and carbon. It has to be prepared just before required for use, and must be exploded by means of a detonator. There is consequently no danger in transport or from an outbreak of fire close to the explosive when ready for service.

Village of Rifle Shots.

Attinghausen, a village in the Swiss canton of Uri, as one of the homes of William Tell, tries to keep up its reputation for good shooting. Out of 500 inhabitants 184 men and women are skilled rifle shots. The first prize in the last contest was carried off by a 15-year-old girl. Her father, seven brothers and three sisters all shot, the family taking nine prizes.

Thousands Like Her.—Tena McLeod, Severn Bridge, writes: "I owe a debt of gratitude to Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil for curing me of a severe cold that troubled me nearly all last winter." In order to give a quietus to a hacking cough, take a dose of Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil thrice a day, or oftener if the cough spells render it necessary.

Deaths in France.

France loses every year by infectious and contagious diseases 240,000 lives, or nearly double the number of lives lost in the Franco-Prussian war of 1870. According to the Pharmaceutical Journal, a committee has been formed to organize a public subscription in aid of scientific research of methods of preventing and treating these diseases.

Women Little Esteemed.

The Corean woman is so little esteemed that she has not even a name. In childhood she has a nickname bestowed upon her, by which she is known to her family and intimate friends, but after she arrives at maturity she is called thus only by her parents. To the rest of the world she is simply "the daughter" or "the sister" of So-and-So.

EXCRUCIATING PAINS.

THE VICTIM A WELL-KNOWN AND POPULAR HOTEL CLERK.

After Other Medicines Failed He Was Cured by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills—Every Dose Counted in the Battle Against Pain.

From the News, Alexandria, Ont.

There is no more popular hotel clerk in Eastern Ontario than Mr. Peter McDonell, of the Grand Union Hotel, Alexandria. At the present time Mr. McDonell is in the enjoyment of perfect health, and a stranger meeting him for the first time could not imagine that a man with the healthy glow and energetic manner of Mr. McDonell could ever have felt a symptom of disease. There is a story, however, in connection with the splendid degree of health attained by him that is worth telling. It is a well known fact that a few years ago he was the victim of the most excruciating pains of rheumatism. Knowing these facts a News reporter called on Mr. McDonell for the purpose of eliciting further particulars. Without hesitation he attributed his present sound state of health to the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. "I am," said he, 33 years of age, but three years ago I did not expect to live this long. At that time I was connected with the Commercial here and as part of my duties was to drive the busses to and from the C. A. R. station, I was exposed to all kinds of weather and subjected to the sudden extremes of heat and cold. Along in the early spring I was suddenly attacked with the most terrible pains in my limbs and body. I sought relief in doctors and then in patent medicines, but all to no purpose; nothing seemed to afford relief. For two months I was a helpless invalid, suffering constantly the most excruciating pains. My hands and feet swelled and I was positive the end was approaching. My heart was affected and indeed I was almost in despair, when fortunately a friend of our family recommended the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I began using them in May, 1896, and had taken three boxes before I had noticed any change, but from that time every dose counted. The blood seemed to thrill through my veins and by the time I had finished the fifth box every trace of the disease had vanished. Ever since then I have been working hard and frequently long overtime, but have continued in excellent health. Whenever I feel the slightest symptom of the trouble I use the pills for a day or so and soon feel as well as ever. I feel that I owe my health to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and never lose an opportunity of recommending them to others suffering as well.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills cure by going to the root of the disease. They renew and build up the blood, and strengthen the nerves, thus driving disease from the system. Avoid imitations by insisting that every box you purchase is enclosed in a wrapper bearing the full trade mark, Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. If your dealer does not keep them they will be sent postpaid at 50 cents a box, or six boxes for $2.50 by addressing the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

A Man With Many Titles.

The Emperor of China as a ruler of the Celestial Kingdom, is probably the most titled human being in the world. He is said to rule the whole world, and not satisfied with that, he assumes sway over the sun, moon and stars. The sun is a brother, and all the other planets are his relations. In fact, the Emperor of China has literally claimed everything worth having.

A Small Pill, but Powerful.—They that judge of the powers of a pill by its size, would consider Parmelee's Vegetable Pills to be lacking. It is a little wonder among pills. What it lacks in size it makes up in potency. The remedies which it carries are put up in these small doses, because they are so powerful that only small doses are required. The full strength of the extracts is secured in this form and do their work thoroughly.

Girls Who Sell Their Hair.

The human hair industry is an active one in France, the departments most frequently visited by the hair merchants being those of Correze, Creuse, Allier, Cher Dordogne and Haute Vienne. The average price given for a full long head of hair is from eight shillings to twenty-five shillings for the best quality and color. The girls of the districts mentioned above, which are exceedingly poor, stipulate that their hair shall not be cut short in front, and conceal the shorn appearance at the back by a draped colored handkerchief. The best shades of light and blonde hair are obtained from Germany and Switzerland, and for these high prices are given.

They Are Carefully Prepared.—Pills which dissipate themselves in the stomach cannot be expected to have much effect upon the intestines, and to overcome costiveness the medicine administered must influence the action of these canals. Parmelee's Vegetable Pills are so made, under the supervision of experts, that the substance in them intended to operate on the intestines are retarded in action until they pass through the stomach to the bowels.

Conquered By Sparrows.

It is said that Frederick the Great was never conquered but once, and that was by the sparrows. Going into his cherry orchard one day, he found many sparrows there, and ordered them all killed or driven out of the orchard. The result was that the next summer his cherry trees were covered with worms and he had no cherries. He ordered the sparrows to be again admitted to his orchard, and so the sparrows did what the armies of Europe could not do, conquer Fredereick the Great.

Tuberculosis in the German Army.

In an article in the Militar Wochen-Wochenblatt it is stated that the number of cases of tuberculosis in the German army has fallen from 2.9 per thousand in 1890-'91 to 1.8 per thousand in 1898-'99. This decrease is attributed largely to Koch's discovery of the bacillus of tuberculosis, owing to which the diagnosis of the disease is easier, and recruits suffering from it are rejected who would otherwise have passed the medical examination.

Main Cause of Idiocy.

Dr. Walmsley, of the Darenth asylum schools, says that of the 132 imbecile children that were admitted to his institution in a year, the family history was well ascertained and clear in 104 cases, and he further demonstrated that alcoholic intemperance of parents and hereditary predisposition are the main factors in the production of idiocy and imbecility.

A Lake That Turns Red.

The Lake of Morat, in Switzerland, has a queer habit of turning red two or three times every ten minutes, owing to the presence of little acquatic plants. The peculiarity of the matter is that Lake Morat is the only lake in which this curious growth is developed.

There are cases of consumption so far advanced that Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup will not cure, but none so bad that it will not give relief. For coughs, colds and all affections of the throat, lungs and chest, it is a specific which has never been known to fail. It promotes a free and easy expectoration, thereby removing the phlegm, and gives the diseased parts a chance to heal.

How to Stop It.

"There is a cat who sits every night on our fence," he explained to the lawyer, "and he yowls and yowls. Now, I don't want to get into any trouble with my neighbor, but I would like to know if I am not justified in putting a stop to it."

"Certainly," replied the lawyer.

"I am well within my rights if I shoot the cat, then?" he inquired gleefully.

"Um—well, I would hardly say that," answered the lawyer. "The cat does not belong to you, as I understand it?"

"No."

"And the fence does?"

"Yes."

"Well, then, I think I may safely say that you have a perfect right to tear down the fence."

A Kindly Princess.

A rather pretty story is just now current about the Princess of Wales. A few weeks ago, when at Sandringham, an old lady-in-waiting of the late Queen of Denmark lay dying in the royal palace at Copenhagen. She had known the Princess of Wales since the latter's infancy, and was deeply attached to her. King Christian writes every week to his daughter in England, and in one of his letters mentioning the illness of the old Countess, declared that her one dying wish was to speak with the Princess before she expired. The Princess was quite unable to leave England at the time. But she spoke a tender and sympathetic message into a phonograph and despatched it to Copenhagen by special messenger. The latter arrived only just in time. Already the dimness of death had veiled the old lady's eyes, when the phonograph gave out its message of love and hope, and as the last words died away, and only the vibrations of the phonograph lingered on the air, she sighed happily, and with "God bless you, dear," on her lips, passed away to another world.

Travels of Migratory Birds.

The distances over which birds migrate vary between wide limits, and are often surprisingly great. The kingbird lays its eggs as far north as the 57th degree of latitude, and is found in the winter in South America. The biennial pilgrimages of the little redstart exceed 8,000 miles, and the tiny humming bird 2,000
