Don't Send Leek Flavored Cream

Grading of print butter, which went into effect last fall, will not enable us to accept leek flavoured or off-grade cream. We, therefore, wish to announce that this grade of cream cannot be accepted from now on, to be manufactured into butter.

The production of leek flavoured cream can be prevented by keeping the cows out of pastures where leeks grow. All cows do not eat leeks and leek flavoured milk from individual cows should be kept separate and not put through the separator.

Farmers of this community have taken advantage of the ideal weather conditions of the past week and have seeding operations well under way. Due to the generous supply of moisture now in the ground and prospects of normal conditions for the rest of the season, and despite the drought of last year, they are very optimistic regarding the resultant crops.

Mr. and Mrs. John Brown spent a day recently with Mrs. Brown's mother near Markdale, and friends in Flesherton.

Mr. Schutz of Durham, who has been engaged to crush and haul several thousand yards of gravel for the roads in this township, has his crusher in Mr. James Hudson's pit. Already upward to a thousand yards have been put on by 4 trucks and additional trucks are coming on this Monday morning in order to keep up with crushing operations while on the longer hauls.

SHOULD BE EXEMPT FROM TAXES

Anyone making improvements to his home under the Home Improvement Plan of the government, should be exempt from taxation on the improvements made during the period of the loan. This is a main obstacle in the way of achieving maximum success for the Plan, for it is the practice of most assessors to raise the assessment when improvements are made. It would be unfortunate if municipalities kept to that policy where loans are secured.

However, we understand that a bill has been or will be prepared to present to the Ontario Government. This bill proposes to exempt such alterations from assessment for three years from the date on which the loan was applied for, and is to be effective back to January 1st, 1937. If this bill is passed it will help to boost the loans.
