NOTES AND COMMENTS.

More cases of consumption appear among needle-makers and file-makers than any other classes of laborers.

A woman aged eighty-four years, living at Balasheve, in Russia, is said to have just given birth to twin girls.

Hiram S. Maxim, the inventor, has given up his American birthright for a British naturalization certificate.

The weight of the heaviest horse ever known was 3,000 pounds. This Clydesdale was exhibited in New York in 1889.

Britain's coal fields still cover an area of 5,400 square miles. Canada's coal fields cover over twelve times that area.

In France, for the privilege of wearing men's trousers, the French government charges women a tax of about £2.

When a person is lying down his heart makes ten strokes less per minute than when he is in an upright position.

The salary of a captain of a Trans-Atlantic liner is £1,000 a year. The wages of the men are £4 5s per month.

There never was, and never will be, a universal panacea, in one remedy, for all ills to which flesh is heir—the very nature of many curatives being such that were the germs of other and differently seated diseases rooted in the system of the patient—what would relieve one ill in turn would aggravate the other. We have, however, in Quinine Wine, when obtainable in a sound unadulterated state, a remedy for many and grevious ills. By its gradual and judicious use, the frailest systems are led into convalescence and strength, by the influence which Quinine exerts on Nature's own restoratives. It relieves the drooping spirits of those with whom a chronic state of morbid despondency and lack of interest in life is a disease, and, by tranquilizing the nerves, disposes to sound and refreshing sleep—imparts vigor to the action of the blood, which, being stimulated, courses throughout the veins, strengthening the healthy animal functions of the system, thereby making activity a necessary result, strengthening the frame, and giving life to the digestive organs, which naturally demand increased substance—result, improved appetite. Northrop & Lyman of Toronto, have given to the public their superior Quinine Wine at the usual rate, and, gauged by the opinion of scientists, this wine approaches nearest perfection of any in the market. All druggists sell it.

Use Pure-Bred Roosters.

With a small flock of 15 hens, which should raise during the season a hundred chickens easily, the use of a full blood cock of some large breed will add 100 pounds to those hundred chickens if allowed to grow to maturity. The extra hundred pounds of flesh will be laid on without any additional cost of feeding, for a scrub chicken eats as much as a full blooded one. This gain can be made by the purchase of a single good rooster, and should not cost over three dollars at most.

It is because they improve the powers of assimilation that Miller's Compound Iron Pills cause the red corpuscles to multiply and the weight to increase so rapidly.

A Long Reign.

On September 24 the Queen's reign exceeded by just three years the duration of that of King George III., her Majesty having reigned 62 years and 96 days—from June 29, 1837—while her grandfather's occupancy of the throne lasted 59 years and 96 days—from October 25, 1760, to January 29, 1820.

Totally Deaf.—Mrs. S. E. Crandell, Port Perry, writes: "I contracted a severe cold last winter, which resulted in my becoming totally deaf in one ear and partially so in the other. After trying various remedies, and consulting several doctors, without obtaining any relief, I was advised to try Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil. I warmed the Oil and poured a little of it into my ear, and before one-half the bottle was used my hearing was completely restored. I have heard of other cases of deafness being cured by the use of this medicine."

Hand-Painted Coats For Men.

The latest thing in male fashion, is to have painted silk facings to our white or black cloth coats, and, to be quite in the very forefront of the fashion, we must have our favorite flower painted thereon. We all have our favorite flower, of course, and so this fashion may be a popular one.

St. Vitus Dance rapidly cured by Miller's Compound Iron Pills. Cases of years' standing now enjoying the best of health as a result of taking them.

Nutrition in Chocolate.

The great nutritive powers of chocolate are now so generally recognized that it has been adopted for campaign use in the armies and navies of almost every European government. The increased consumption in Europe within four years is 35 per cent.

A TRYING EXPERIENCE

A NOVA SCOTIA FARMER SUFFERED FOR FIFTEEN YEARS.

Consulted Four Doctors, But the Only Relief They Gave Him Was Through Injections of Morphine—Dr. Williams' Pink Pills Restored Him to Health and Activity.

From the News. Truro, N. S.

Mr. Robert Wright, of Alton, Cochester Co., N. S., is now one of the hardiest and hardest working farmers in this section. But Mr. Wright was not always blessed with perfect health; as a matter of fact for some fifteen years he was a martyr to what appeared to be an incurable trouble. In conversation lately with a News reporter, Mr. Wright said:—"I am indeed grateful that the trouble which bothered me for so many years is gone and I am quite willing to give you the particulars for publication. It is a good many years since my trouble first began, slight at first, but later intensely severe pains in the back. Usually the pains attacked me when working or lifting, but often when not at work at all. With every attack the pains seemed to grow worse, until finally I was confined to the house, and there for five long months was bed-ridden, and much of this time could not move without help. My wife required to stay with me constantly, and became nearly exhausted.

During the time I was suffering thus I was attended by four different doctors. Some of them pronounced my trouble lumbago, others sciatica, but they did not cure me, nor did they give me any relief, save by the injection of morphine. For years I suffered thus, sometimes confined to bed, at other times able to go about and work, but always suffering from the pain, until about three years ago when I received a new lease of life, and a freedom from the pains that had so long tortured me. It was at this time that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People were brought to my attention and I got two boxes. The effect seemed marvellous and I got six boxes more, and before they were all used I was again a healthy man and free from pain. It is about three years since I was cured, and during that time I have never had an attack of the old trouble, and I can therefore strongly testify to the sterling quality of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Since they did such good work for me I have recommended them to several people for various ailments, and the pills have always been successful."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills cure by going to the root of the disease. They renew and build up the blood, and strengthen the nerves, thus driving disease from the system. Avoid imitations by insisting that every box you purchase is enclosed in a wrapper bearing the full trade mark, Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People.

Some Advice to Shippers.

Don't fail carefully to inspect your shipment before closing the box. Put in the memorandum on your bill head, or an envelope, showing the count and other data. Keep a duplicate yourself, and thereby save much annoyance and frequently a loss. Don't chase off into a new market with untried people just because of a possible temporary advantage. Nine times out of ten you will lose. Keep in touch with a good house in several markets., and use judgment in shipping to any of them. Watch the reports and forecasts, and then allow for weather changes.

The Demon, Dyspepsia.—In olden time it was a popular belief that demons moved invisibly through the ambient air, seeking to enter into men and trouble them. At the present day the demon, dyspepsia, is at large in the same way, seeking habitation in those who by careless or unwise living invite him. And once he enters a man it is difficult to dislodge him. He that finds himself so possessed should know that a valiant friend to do battle for him with the unseen foe is Parmelee's Vegetable Pills, which are ever ready for the trial.

A Magic Pill.—Dyspepsia is a foe with which men are constantly grappling but cannot exterminate. Subdued, and to all appearances vanquished in one, it makes its appearance in another direction. In many the digestive apparatus is as delicate as the mechanism of a watch or scientific instrument in which even a breath of air will make a variation. With such persons disorders of the stomach ensue from the most trivial causes and cause much suffering. To these Parmelees Vegetable Pills are recommended as mild and sure.

A Remarkable Gown.

Princess Czartoryski has just had a remarkable gown made in Paris, on which her coat of arms is produced in jewels on a white satin ground. For this purpose the stones had to be pierced, and though their value is thus deteriorated, the costume as it stands is reputed to be worth $75,000.

Mental and physical vigor follow the use of Miller's Compound Iron Pills.

Deadly Field Guns.

The new field gun, which fires a shrapnel shell, and which, in its perfected state, is now being used for the first time by the British in South Africa is perhaps the most deadly weapon of modern warfare. Each gun can fire twelve aimed shots a minute and each shot carries 260 bullets, weighing 42 to the pound. The shrapnel shell consists of a piece of steel tubing filled with small balls. At the head of the shell is a time fuse, which can be adjusted to suit the range at which the gun is to be fired. This fuse ignites the small charge of powder which lies in front of the bullets. The firing of the gun ignites the fuse, which burns for the time for which it has been set. It then fires the powder, which bursts the shell and sends the 260 bullets flying among the enemy. It is said that these bullets scatter like shot from a fowling piece, and cover a space of 24 square yards with a rain of lead. The guns have a killing range of 3,500 yards.

There are so many cough medicines in the market, that it is sometimes difficult to tell which to buy; but if we had a cough, a cold or any affliction of the throat or lungs, We would try Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup. Those who have used it think it is far ahead of all other preparations recommended for such complaints. The little folks like it as it is as pleasant as syrup.

A Romantic Career.

The recent death in Italy of Giacoma Naretti ended a most remarkable career. The son of poor Italian parents, Naretti learned the trade of a carpenter, and went to Africa during his country's early occupation of that continent. There his trade stood him in good stead. He attracted the attention of Emperor John of Abyssinia, for whom he built a throne, called the throne of Solomon. It was a modest, wooden affair, but it excited the admiration and wonder of the dusky king. Later for Emperor Menelek he built a royal palace, and was then made a sort of minister of public works. He married an English woman, got rich and lived in a palace of his own.

An Opportunity Lost.

Mabel—Cholly is awfully slow. Yeterday when he and I were walking in the woods I picked a big bunch of autumn leaves and stuck them in my belt.

Bessie—Yes! And then—

Mabel—Why the stupid fool didn't have sense enough to press them.

The Soap Mine in Ashcroft.

The so-called soap mine at Ashcroft, British Columbia, is really a lake containing water strongly impregnated with borax and soda. These have solidified on the bottom and sides, where the substance can be sawed out in blocks as if it were ice.

Miller's Worm Powders cure all ailments of children like magic.

It is no unusual thing for a vessel plying between Japan and London to carry 1,000,000 fans as a single item of its cargo.

Green Bones for the Hens.

A mess of green bones at least twice a week will always prove beneficial, as they provide lime for the shells and serve as a change. Some do not believe in feeding grain at all in the summer season, preferring to allow the hens to work. A pound of green bone cut with a bone cutter, twice or three times a week, given to a dozen hens at night is better than feeding grain, as the hens nearly always come up with full crops when they are on the range. When in confinement in late fall or winter the green bone will continue to be of valuable assistance.

If the child is restless at night, has coated tongue, sallow complexion, a dose of Miller's Worm Powders is what is required; very pleasant and perfectly harmless.

A Magnificent Thimble.

The queen of Siam owns a thimble which was a present from her royal husband. It is made in the shape of a lotus bud, of the finest gold, and is studded with diamonds, which are so arranged that they form their names and the date of their marriage.

Sorry to Have Troubled Him.

The Dunner—So you cannot pay, and I have had my labor for my pains?

The Dunned—Sorry, I'm sure. If you had only sent word you were coming, I might have let you know it would be worthless. You know me well enough to know that I would not willingly put you to the trouble to call. —Boston Transcript.

Sure Relief for Insomnia.

A Swiss physician, Dr. Otto Naegell, declares that the best way to overcome insomnia is to imitate the breathing of a man who is asleep, and to make the head undergo the various movements to one side and the other which one occasionally makes while falling asleep in a sitting posture.

Stubb—Why, it's the only thing in our house that dares to blow up the cook.

Miller's Worm Powders are a wonderful medicine for the ailments of children.

Quite Refreshing.

"Your husband says he always feels refreshed after one of my sermons," said the minister.

"Yes," replied the wife, absentmindedly; "a good sleep does refresh one."

Human Nature.

"Yes," said the founder of the co-operative colony, "we got on very nicely for the first six months; then the trouble began."

"Didn't your industries pay?"

"The industries promised favorably But we couldn't stand prosperity. One of the men discovered a gold mine in the mountains and one of the women subscribed for a fashion magazine and then the trouble started.

A BRAVE WOMAN.

How a Drunken Husband Was Made a Sober Man by a Determined Wife.

A PATHETIC LETTER.

She writes:—"I had for a long time been thinking of trying the Samaria Prescription treatment on my husband for his drinking habits, but I was afraid he would discover that I was giving him medicine, and the thought unnerved me. I hesitated for nearly a week, but one day when he came home very much intoxicated and his week's salary nearly all spent, I threw off all fear and determined to make an effort to save our home from the ruin I saw coming, at all hazards. I sent for your Samaria Prescription and put it in his coffee as directed next morning and watched and prayed for the result. At noon I gave him more and also at supper. He never suspected a thing, and I then boldly kept right on giving it regularly, as I had discovered something that set every nerve in my body tingling with hope and happiness, and I could see a bright future spread out before me—a peaceful, happy home, a share in the good things of life, an attentive, loving husband, comforts, and everything else dear to a woman's heart, for my husband had told me that whiskey was vile stuff and he was taking a dislike to it. It was only too true, for before I had given him the full course he had stopped drinking altogether, but I kept giving the medicine till it was gone, and then sent for another lot to have on hand if he should relapse, as he had done from his promises before. He never has, and I am writing you this letter to tell you how thankful I am. I honestly believe it will cure the worst cases."

A Remedy for Bad Language.

An ocean-going captain was so much given to using bad language that his first mate made a bet with him that he could not do without swearing for a week. It went on all right for the first two or three days, until a bit of squall came on and the sailors were up aloft doing their different duties. But their captain was displeased with their work. He stood it as long as he could, and then he threw his cap on deck in a towering rage, jumped on it, and shaking his fist up at the men with an angry scowl, he hissed:—"Bless you, my dears—you know what I mean!"
