Jane Addams Figurine Is Added To Gallery

A figurine representing the late Jane Addams, founder of Hull House and internationally known world peace worker, has been added to the gallery of these little figures of prominent Chicago women in the Chicago Historical Society in Lincoln Park, says the Christian Science Monitor in a story from Chicago.

The small wax figure dressed in an orchid-colored silk gown is carrying a tiny book titled "Forty Years at Hull House." It was made by Mme. Minna Schmidt, costumer and originator of several thousand figurines of women from many nations who have contributed something to the progress of humanity. Some 400 of her "women of the world" are now in Washington, D.C., and are gradually added to when diplomats of foreign countries propose women of their nation who, they think, deserve this honor, Miss Schmidt said.

Alleged WIT

It never pays to worry about what other people are thinking about you, for they are probably wondering just what you are thinking about them.

Harold — "Was Ed shocked over the death of his aunt?"

Jacob — "Shocked? He was electrocuted."

Ashes to ashes, dust to dust;
If it weren't for paint, women would rust.

Handler — "He failed on legs — not long enough."

Exhibitor — "Well, they touch the Man (to farmer) — "Why are those bees flying around so frantically?"

Farmer — "I guess they have the hives."

BILLBOARDS

I think that I shall never see
A billboard lovely as a tree
Perhaps, unless the billboards fall,
I'll never see a tree at all.

Lady — "Here you are again, and I just gave you a pair of shoes last month."

Tramp — "Yes, lady. I just came back to see if you would have them half-soled for me."

READ IT OR NOT !—Dutch clocks are made in Germany.

Exhibitor — "Why didn't my dog win a prize?"
floor, don't they?"

Operator — "Number please?"

Drunk — "Number nothing. I just put a nickel in here. Where's my chewing gum?"

Guest — "Well, goodnight, I hope I haven't kept you up too late."

Host (yawning) — "Not at all. We would have been getting up soon anyway."

Breathing through the mouth is said to be harmful, talking through the mouth also has very serious results at times.

Friend — "She'll come along soon, without a doubt."

Man — "Yeah? Shell be doubting my sobriety, my veracity and my fidelity."

Explaining gets to be a chronic habit with a lot of people.

Traveller — "This rain should do a lot of good."

Porter — "Yes, sir. An hour of it would do more good in five minutes than a month of it would do in a week any other time.

The fellow who got that job away from you yesterday is a low-down, chiseling so and so, and he cut the price to the bone to get it. When you got that job away from him last month it was superior salesmanship.

June Groom — "Who spilled that mustard on this waffle, dearest?"

June Bride — "Oh, Jack how could you? This is lemon pie!"

His employer said he was an independent salesman; he took orders from nobody.

Bountiful Crop Ruined By Rains

Serious Loss Caused in Grain Fields in Many Points in Ontario Potatoes in Danger, Too

TORONTO—Rain, tumbling down out of sodden skies during the past week and soaking farmlands over a large section of the Province, has blasted the hopes for a bountiful grain crop held by farmers earlier in the season.

Reports from numerous Ontario points indicate that an over-abundance of rainfall is liable to cause a serious loss of grain, while farmers in the Chatham district have encountered an outbreak of foot rot among their herds of cattle, result of wet ground.

Farmers in the vicinity of Woodstock report grain crop conditions in Oxford County to be the worst in many years. In the London district, several cases were reported of grain sprouting in stooked wheat on the field. The hot, damp weather, it was said, is also having a bad effect on the potatoes, and it is feared that a continuance of such weather may result in blight.

In the St. Thomas district there were also reports of grain sprouting while lying in the fields. Many sheaves have fallen over, sprouted and grown fast into the ground.

Rain fell upon Kingston in heavy sheets, coming down in such quantities that windshield wipers were of little use and street lights were turned on to enable drivers to see approaching traffic.

Some apple growers in the Ingersoll district are preparing to give their orchards an extra spraying to counteract the effect of the wet spell. An attack of apple spot is feared. Usually the orchards receive five sprayings, but owing to the almost continuous wet weather for nearly a week, it has been deemed advisable to give an extra spraying.

One grower stated that there is a plentiful yield of early apples. The later varieties, it was estimated, will not be more than 60 per cent of an average crop, with the indications that the Spys will probably not be 50 per cent of the average.

Soviet-U.S. Trade Pact Won't Affect Canada

OTTAWA. — The new commercial agreement between the United States and Soviet Russia proclaimed at Washington will have little or no effect on Canada's trade with either of the countries in the opinion of trade officials here.

Interpretation placed on the agreement here is that the principal change will be to give Russian coal and coke free entry into the United States. Canada and Russia are not competitors in this commodity and there is little competition in others

The expansion of Russia's purchasing in the United States will also make little difference to Canada. The trade between Canada and Russia, freed last September from a mutual embargo, amounts to only a few thousand dollars a month.

"The great task of this generation is to save democracy, to preserve it and to inspire it."

Size of Dairy Herd to Keep

To Prove Most Profitable on Average Farm

The question is often asked as to the size of a dairy herd likely to prove the most profitable on the average farm.

The profit in milking cows lies mainly in the selection from, and in the breeding of high-producing, pure-bred dairy stock. Good cows are seldom bought, but they can be raised. This means beginning with a pure-bred sire with either the cows one already has or with young heifers selected from practical, pure-bred herds.

The size of the herd should be determined by the amount of pasture land that is available, the possibility of growing the bulk of other feeds necessary, can be cared for without the employment of additional regular labor, or without requiring added buildings.

A group of fewer than five cows is unprofitable because it requires too long to fill the cream can, does not easily justify buying a separator and demands approximately the same amount of labor and barn room as a large number of cows. A herd of more than ten cows per family demands further employment and assistance, and more buildings on the average farm.

SCOUTING
Here There Everywhere
A brother to every other Scout, without regard to race or creed

Boy Scout world census figures for 1937, just compiled by the International Bureau, reveal a new record increase of 340,000. The figures bring the world total membership to 2,812,074. The last world census, taken in 1935, gave a total of 2,472,014. Scouting is active today in 49 countries counting the British Empire as one.

The Herculean job of feeding some 25,000 Boy Scouts is reflected in some of the catering figures of the American National Scout Jamboree, recently held in Washington. For the 75,000 "boy meals" served each day, the cooks ordered 250 tons of foodstuffs. This included 900 bushels of potatoes, 13,000 pounds of bread, 25,000 quarts of milk, 4,000 pounds of butter 50,000 eggs and 1,200 gallons of canned vegetables, such as tomatoes, corn, succotash and string beans, which, after consuming, the boys went out into the arena and played Indians-and-cowboys.

The rescue after two hours' of effort of a young woman clinging to the face of a cliff was an achievement this summer of the 6th Bridgewater Boy Scout Troop, Somerset, England. A young man and his fiancee had been caught by the tide in a cove, and attempted to scale the cliff. The young woman was unable to complete the ascent, and her companion, finally gaining the top, discovered the Scouts, and called upon them for help. With rope and tackle the Scouts descended the cliff by another route, then ascended to the young lady, secured her with their lines, and climbing ahead, hauled her by stages to safety.

An interesting introduction of a public official involving Boy Scouts took place in New York recently. Governor Lehman appointed Charles W. Frossel, a Justice of the City Court, and he was inducted into office before nearly 400 people. As the ceremony was drawing to a close, Eagle Scout Theodore Endres was called to the Bench, and he administered the oath of the Boy Scouts of America, with Justice Frossel repeating. This ceremony was requested by Justice Frossel, who has given 16 years of service to the Scout Movement.
