Mortgage Sale.

The attention of our readers is directed to the mortgage sale of valuable farm property in the Township of Proton advertised in this issue of THE ADVANCE. The sale is to take place by public auction at Atkinson's hotel, Priceville on Monday, July 25th, instant.

The Crazy Durham Editor.

There are just two ways of dealing with an editor who is childish and sneak enough to draw a respectable woman's name into a newspaper controversy, viz., to give him a thorough good horsewhipping or cuff his ears. That Jenkins of the Chronicle, deserves both, any one who read his insolent references to the Editor of this paper's wife last week, will freely admit. We don't care a continental what he says about us, but when he seeks to draw a womans name into a public discussion—and a woman compared with whom this contemptible cur shrinks into a vulgar know-nothing—then we begin to feel like "blowing up our muscle." However, "every dog has his day," and we feel confident that the time is not far off when Arthur Henry Newton Annanias Jenkins will reach his proper level. The whipping post and pillory must have been invented for the especial benefit of crazy whiskey sots;—the only pity is, therefore, that those instruments are so uncommon now-a-days.

TO REMOVE DANDRUFF—Cleanse the scalp with Prof. Low's Magic sulphur Soap. A delightful medicated soap for the toilet.

A CRYING EVIL.—Children are often fretful and ill when Worms is the cause. Dr. Low's Worm Syrup safely expels all Worms.

In no other medicinal preparation have the results of the most intelligent study and scientific enquiry been so steadily and progressively utilized as in Ayer's Sarsaparilla. It leads the list as a truly scientific preparation for all blood diseases.

The Reason.

The splendid success attained by Russell, the noted Flesherton Jewelry man, is to be attributed to the fact, that he sells goods for what they are really worth, and is a first-class hand at repairing watches, clocks, Jewelry, &c. See new advt.

New Law Firm.

As will be seen by reference to our card advertisement columns (1st page) the late firm of Lauder & Hands has been succeeded by that of Hands & Perry, as Barristers, Solicitors, &c. The extensive patronage accorded to the firm, of which the late lamented M. P. P. for East Grey was the senior partner, would no doubt be extended to the new firm, Messrs. Hands & Perry. Those desiring to do business with city lawyers, will do well to consult this popular firm.

The Funeral of Mrs. R. J. Sproule.

The funeral of the late Mrs. R. J. Sproule took place from the late residence of deceased on Friday afternoon, and was largely attended by friends and acquaintances. The body, encased in a handsome casket, was interred in Flesherton Cemetery. The Sunday School class formerly taught by deceased, attended in a body.

Deceased was a member of the Methodist Church, and a devout Christian. Quiet, unassuming, and pleasant in her manners, she found a warm place in the hearts of a large circle who deeply and sincerely mourn her loss. Her death was not unexpected; that dread disease, consumption, which has sounded the death-knell to many a bright and useful life, claimed her as one of its victims. But she was fully prepared to meet Him whom she had faithfully served on earth, and she calmly closed her eyes on this side of the dark river, to open them in the brighter world on the other side.

Plagiarism.

To the Editor of The Advance.

DEAR SIR,—I find one of your "learned" citizens has been good enough to charge me with above in my recent article on the "Wilmington Ghost," while I am well aware that much that is disreputable is frequently attempted to be palmed off us original by some of those "bookworms who are always grubbing for parallel passages." I claim that the circumstance, locality, and personages mentioned in said article, are each and all facts which have come under my own personal observation. Permit me in conclusion to commend to the attention of my friend the following quotation from the Graphic.

"There is a great deal too much of this loose imputation of literary dishonesty; .....Plagiarism may be a very ugly offence indeed; but we all know when a man has deliberately sat down to "unmark another's linen" as they say abroad. The operation is at best a troublesome one, and it has become too risky in these days of ubiquitous research to be undertaken by any but very silly men. The difficulty of the modern writer is rather to guard against coincidences."

Yours Respectfully,

DEACON SNUKES.

Eugenia.

(From our own Correspondent.)

[The following should have appeared in last weeks paper.—ED.]

Crops looking as though they needed rain.

The lightning. a week ago last Sunday, struck a large tree on Mr. Soloman Turners farm,—entering at an old dead limb near the top, it tore the tree into rails, stovewood, and matchwood, hurling them to a considerable distance. The tree not being far from the house, the shock was terrific.

A heifer belonging to Mr. Whewall had two calves lately.

When is Sterling's great Fenian raid to come off?

—Mr. Harry Piper, the popular manager of the Zoological Gardens, will kindly accept our best thanks for complimentary season ticket admitting to that famous Canadian museum.

—The body of Mrs. Cæsar, wife of the Markdale Station agent, was not interred at Orangeville as stated in our issue of the week before last, but in the family plot in Mount Pleasant Cemetery, north of Toronto.

Maxwell Items.

The several Orange lodges of Osprey will meet as a district this year. Most of them purpose going to Shelburne.

Mr. R. Y. Burke still poses as a strong Scott Act man.

Road work almost done, but too many large stones still left on the road.

Haying will be well under way next week. Crops are looking pretty light, but a good deal better since the rain.
