WANTED.—Ffty Cords of White Ash timber for Butter Tubs. Length, 18 inches.—JOSEPH MCCORMACK, Flesherton.

—A Brass Band is about to be organized in Markdale.

—Mr. J. M. Ansley, of Parry Sound, is visiting friends in Flesherton and locality.

—Toronto correspondence and other matter crowded out this week; will appear in our next.

—Just arrived: another case of prime Bacon, at 12½ cents per pound., at Sept. Good's meat market, Flesherton.

—Messrs. Paul, of Eugenia, are veneering the residence of Mr. Richard Smith, Flesherton, with red brick.

—A violent thunder, and rain storm passed over this village on Wednesday afternoon. The rain fell in torrents, while it thundered almost incessantly.

—Next week we will issue five hundred copies of THE ADVANCE more than our regular number. Advertisers make a note of it.

—The Fifth Division Court of the County of Grey will hold its regular sittings in the Town Hall, Flesherton, on Thursday, October 30th next.

—Third Class School Teacher wanted for S. S. No 6, Artemesia, duties to commence on the 15th inst. Apply to Mr. Thos. Butler, Markdale P. O.

—Mr. Johnston Little, the energetic Maxwell blacksmith, advertises the famous Chatham Waggons at astonishingly low prices in another column.

—A thorough-bred Cotswold Ram, several Leicester Ewes and Ewe Lambs for sale. Apply to John H. Heard, Flesherton.

—Do you want a good pump? If you do, just enquire of A. R. Fawcett, ADVANCE office Flesherton, who is agent for H. Bull & Sons' famous make.

—We are glad to learn that Mr. Wait has resumed his position as mail carrier between here and Meaford. Mr. Wait's many friends heartly welcome him back to his old occupatiou.

—Mr. Monroe, who formerly taught school in Artemesia, has been engaged as head-master of Flesherton Public School. Mr. Monroe is very highly spoken of, and we welcome him to our village.

Flesherton has now six secret societies! The denizens of that clachan ought surely to be blessed. The Pope would'nt think much of that place.—Thornbury Standard.

—The cattle fair held in Flesherton last Monday was well atteded by buyers and sellers. Quite a number of cattle changed hands at fair prices, considering the fall in the market.

—Mr. W. K. Flesher took train at Flesherton Station en route for England on Thursday morning last. He will be absent for a year or two and will be missed greatly by our villagers generally.

—The members of Flesherton Brass Band have been practicing diligently of late. They will play on the days of East Grey Fall Exhibition, September 23rd and 24th.

—The Markdale Standard will not be issued this week. Mr. C. W. Rutledge, the editor, is spending, his holidays in Leeds and Carlton. His place has been very efficiently filled in his absence by the genial foreman, Mr. Jackman.

—Why does friend Jones feel so happy this morning? Why, the reason is quite plain—he has just paid the ADVANCE man. He says the crops are good this year and he intends to pay for the ADVANCE in advance next January.

—Rev. Dr. Strongman, of Eugenia, preached an excellent sermon in Flesherton Methodist Church last Sabbath evening, to a large congregation. He also filled the same pulpit very acceptably in the morning.

—We omitted to mention in our last issue, that Mr. M. Richardson's handsome new store was brilliantly illuminated by gas on Friday evening, Aug. 29th, for the first time. There was a large number of spectators.

—Miss Lizzie Richardson and Miss Milly Vandusen have had charge of the junior department of Flesherton public school during the past week or two, as the new head master had not entered upon his duties. Miss Hopkins had charge of the senior department.

A horrible outrage was recently committed on a weak-minded Proton girl by some Shelburne and Dundalk roughs. She was in Dundalk seeking employment when she was taken to a hotel by roughs and plied with liquor until she was in a beastly state of intoxication. She was then carried to Hagan's bush and outraged by the inhuman fiends.

Ask Him Yourself.

To the Editor of The Advance.

Sir—Is it true that one of the Artemesia Councillors, recently, charged $2 for letting and superintending a $14 job in ward No 3?

Yours truly,
ANTI OVERCHARGE.

Dentistry.

Don't forget that Mr. J. P. Marshall, L. D. S., will be in Flesherton the first and third Thursday in each month for the practice of his profession. He was here last Thursday, and his next visit will be made on Thursday, Sept. 18th. Marshall is an excellent dentist.

An Upset.

On Monday evening last, shortly after dark, Duncan Dallas and a Markdale gentleman were driving with a horse and buggy near the Flesherton tannery, when the wheels af the vehicle suddenly ran over a steep embankment and precipitated the occupants out on terra firma with great violence. Mr. Dallas sustained same severe cuts and bruises, as did also the other occupant. The buggy was broken in several places, but we think the horse escaped unhurt.

RESPECT AGE.—Age should always command respect, in the case of Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry it certainly does for 25 years that has been the standard remedy with the people, for Cholera Morbus, Dysentery, Diarrhœa, Colic and all Bowel Compaints.

Death of Miss Annie E. Pearson.

On Tuesday of last week, at the early age of 23 years, died Miss Annie E. Pearson, daughter of Thos. Pearson, Esq., of the Township of Artemesia.

About two years ago deceased went to California. Something like ten months ago, while still residing in the "golden state," she contracted a cold which eventually ended in that dread disease which carries of so many bright young lives every year. She returned home about two months ago, since which time she has been faithfully attended by the family physician, Dr. Christoe, and received all the care an attention loving hands could give. All that medical skill could accomplish was done, but death claimed her as its own; and on the day mentioned she slept the sleep which knows no awakening on this side of eternity. As the shades of death gathered around, deceased made a strong effort to speak to one of her sisters who stood weeping at her bedside; but the words she framed were never uttered.

Throughout her long illness, deceased was patient and cheerful, and frequently spoke words of cheer to members of the family who, at times, were unable to restrain their feelings as they saw how rapidly their darling was drifting out to the boundless ocean of eternity. She had many warm and sincere friends, who, with the sorrowing relatives, deeply mourn her loss.

The remains were interred in the Irwin (Methodist) burying ground, on Thursday, 4th inst., whither they were followed by a large concourse of people. Rev. Mr. McGregor, Baptist minister, Flesherton preached an impressive funeral sermon.

Deceased was a member of the Church of England.

LINES ON MISS PEARSON'S DEATH.
BY A RELATIVE.

In life's rosy morning death's message has come,
E'er her life was blighted by sorrow or care,
And Christ in his kindness has taken her home,
The delights of His kingdom forever to share.

A lingering illness she patiently bore,
With touching Christian fortitude,
And a saintly smile her sweet face wore.
As watching by her death-bed we stood.

Sadly, deeply we mourn our loss,
But we know Christ needed our loved one,
So we pray for strength to bear our cross,
And to murmur meekly, "Thy will be done."

We have been asked to publish the following lines, which were written by a friend of the deceased:—

LINES ON THE DEATH OF MISS ANNIE E. PEARSON.

Another friend has passed away,
Up to that blissful throng,
To join the choir that chants today
That never ceasing song.

The cares on earth that crossed her breast.
She left them all below,
And now enjoys that tranquil rest,
Washed whiter than the snow.

She's reached the river's sunny side,
Where storms and tempests cease,
Her boat has crossed the surging tide,
And found a port of peace.

Why greive we then with tear dimmed eyes,
The loss which we sustain.
But let this thought soothe all our sighs,
To her our loss is gain.

Priceville.

Mr. John Latimer, the pushing, energetic Priceville merchant, gave us a pleasant call last Tuesday morning. Since he started business in Priceville, Mr. Latimer has, by close attention to business and giving good bargains in every line, greatly increased the volume of trade done by his popular predecessor, Dr. Ghent.
