Company Protects 'Aspirin' Trademark

Judgment Obtained Against Parties Marketing the Product Under Other Names

OTTAWA. — The Bayer Company Limited having brought actions to restrain infringements of its registered trade mark "Aspirin" the Exchequer Court of Canada has given judgment against its five defendants. In each case the Exchequer Court perpetually restrains the defendants Ivan Lambert, Joseph Nozick, Standard Bottlers and Packers Ltd., B. Neuman and Joe Beckman from using the trade mark "Aspirin" on preparations put out by themselves and awards the Bayer Company costs and damages.

The defendants were marketing the infringing product under various names including Pioneer Sales Co., Western Sales Co., Western Distributing Co., Advance Specialty Co. and Acme Specialty Company. The tablets labelled "Aspirin" were not of Bayer manufacture and were packed in small envelopes, each containing three or four tablets, and mounted on cards.

It is the intention of The Bayer Company Limited to take every legal method to uphold its trade mark.

"Aspirin" is the trade mark of The Bayer Company, Limited, Windsor, Ontario.

Alleged WIT

The bus was crowded. People were going home for the holidays. The lights had gone out in the bus and the tall man asked the young lady who crowded on at the last stop if he could help her find a strap.

Young Lady—I've already found one.

Tall Man—Then, would you mind letting go of my necktie?

This one from the Wall Street Journal strikes us as being funny:

An Irishman had been thrown over a fence by an enraged bull. He had just recovered when he noticed the bull pawing the ground and furiously tossing his head.

"If it wasn't for your bowing and scraping," said Mike, "I'd think you threw me over on purpose."

Often think the most praiseworthy human quality is the power of self restraint. . . . Takes much will power to overcome habit or desire of any kind. . . . "He that overcometh," says Revelations," shall not be hurt in the second death." . . . "Overcome evil with good," admonished St. Paul. . . . Not bad for Christmas thinking, what?

The train with three drunks aboard slowed down for the stop at Wembley.

Said the First—Is thish Wembley?

Second—No, it's Thursday.

Third—So'm I.

"Always laugh when you can; it is cheap medicine. Merriment is a philosophy not well understood. It is the sunny side of existence." — Lord Byron.

Patient — Am I g-g-g-oing to d-d-d-die, d-doctor?

Doctor—My dear Mr. Smith, that's the last thing you'll do!

Junior (your town) — Take off your hat, please.

Big Sister's Boy Friend — Sure thing, but why?

Junior (Your town)—I wanna see if it's so; sister said you're cracked in the head.

Here's a tip that'll save you oodles of time in the next two weeks: Buy all the stamps you'll need for Christmas greeting cards right now and you won't have to spend hours in the post-office line a little later on.

You May Have Noticed That—
The race nearly always goes to the swift,
The solace to him who frets;
It's the babe who yells that gets the milk,
And it's he who grabs that gets.

Harold had taken his girl to lunch and she had spoken to a very nice-looking man at the next table.

Harold—Is that man a friend of yours?

Girl—Yes.

Harold—Well, why don't you ask him to join us?

Girl (cooing)—Oh, Harold, this is so sudden!

Harold—What's so sudden?

Girl — Why —— Why —— he's our minister!

TIRED or NERVOUS?
Is bile doing its work?
Your liver is lazy, that's why you feel so rotten half the time. Your system is not getting enough bile. Your head aches, your back aches. Your food doesn't digest properly. It stagnates and decays for lack of bile. Bile is a digestant and an antiseptic. Your liver should produce 18 to 36 fluid ounces of bile every 24 hours.
Tanol Tablets will make your liver do its work. Based upon a small proportion of Calomel blended with certain other useful medicinal ingredients, Tanol Tablets act promptly and directly upon the liver, stimulating the flow of bile. They are easy to take and provide a safe, easy way of using calomel, probably the most effective liver stimulant known. They are not harsh—but they are efficient. Your druggist has them. 50c. (a)

SCOUTING
Here There Everywhere
A brother to every other Scout, without regard to race or creed

Lieutenant-Governor J. C. Bowen of Alberta honoured the 22nd Edmonton Boy Scout Group by officially opening its new headquarters, in the absence of Mayor Clarke and a large gathering of prominent citizens and Scout leaders.

* * *

Again proving that Boy Scout activities need not interfere with school work, Troop Leader Arthur Schawlow, of the 46th Toronto (Humewood School) Troop, and a student at Vaughan Road Collegiate, won two of the year's scholarships, the Edward Blake Scholarship in Physics and Chemistry and the Moses Henry Aiken Scholarship in Science and Mathematics. He was honoured at the collegiate's commencement exercises with the role of valedictorian of the 1937 class.

* * *

A 28-foot whaler was presented to the Sea Scouts of Vancouver by the Vancouver Lions' Club. The craft, which will accommodate 16 boys, is the second of a fleet of four which the Club plans to provide the British Columbia Sea Scouts. The first was presented last spring.

* * *

Boy Scouts of distant points attending the year's International Scout Jamboree in Holland included 8 from Venezuela, 9 from Siam, 12 from Japan, 25 from China, 5 from Iran, 30 from Mexico and 30 from Iceland.

* * *

Unlike many adult hunters and prospectors from time to time lost in the North country, when Scout Louis Vollans, 15, accompanied by four younger boys, including one of five found he had lost his bearings in the heavy bush near Wanless, north of Flin Flon, during a Saturday afternoon hunting expedition with a small rifle, he did not lose his head.

When darkness shortly came on with a chilling wind, he bivouacked for the night, kindled a fire for warmth and comfort, and grilled the partridge they had shot. The partridge he divided with care, giving the breast meat to the youngest boy. Then, in preparation for daylight, he took direction from the North Star and set a stick pointing in the direction that should bring them out on the railroad. Early in the morning they set off, and finally came out on the rails four miles from home.

Meanwhile the alarmed searchers who had failed to find them the previous afternoon and evening, were on the point of summoning aid from Flin Flon. A lookout on top of the station water tank reported distant figures on the track. A section man sped away on a gas-car to investigate, and the lost quintet were soon safe back at home.

But for Scout Vollans' coolness and head work the lads might have been lost for several days, if nothing more serious had resulted. The partridge was the only food eaten since leaving home, and they had been without water. The stout little five year old, when asked if he had not been terribly tired, replied, "Well, I was getting tired, but I could have gone two more miles."
