They are running Sunday excursions from Wiarton to Owen Sound. What kind of people are the Wiartonites that they allow such things? Surely a branch of the Lord's Day Alliance would find work cut out for it in Wiarton.

The political situation remains where it was last week so far as either party gaining any direct advantage over the other is concerned. Mr. McKay is evidently safe in his North Grey seat, with a majority of 5. The Liberals are struggling for Sault ste. Marie and Manitoulin and many other constituencies are seeing the smoke of battle not afar off.

The terrible accident in Toronto last week by which five fireman lost their lives seems to have been one of those things which it is impossible for humanity to guard against. The calling of fireman is a perilous one at any time, and the great wonder is that more fatalities do not occur. These men are supposed to enter a burning building through smoke and fire, not knowing conditions inside, rescue any inmates, direct the water where most needed and look out for their own safety: As in the army there is an emulation among firemen as to who shall exhibit the most bravery and earn special mention. A lengthy freedom from accident breeds contempt of danger and really foolhardy deeds result. We do not know that such was actually done in this case, but the men destroyed are said to have known the danger they were encountering. No blame is attached to anyone but the system which encourages daring deeds at fires where lives are not at stake.

Collinson-Byers

The Advance has received a copy of the Hamilton Herald of date July 5 with the following wedding notice marked: A very pretty wedding took place on July 2 at 4.30 p m. at Bonnie View, the residence of Mr. and Mrs Henry Byers, Hampden, when their youngest daughter, Amelia H., was united in marriage to James G. Collinson, of Hamilton. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. W. Farquharson, of Durham, in the presence of about fifty guests, the bridal party standing under a canopy of ferns The bride was becomingly gowned in white brilliantine, trimmed with chiffon and pearls, and wore the customary bridal veil and orange blossoms, and carried a bouquet of bridal roses. Her only ornament was a diamond and pearl pendant, the gift of the groom. Her going-away gown was of a suit of brown broad-cloth. The bridesmaid, Miss May Rousseaux, of Hamilton, was prettily gowned in white lustre, and carried a bouquet of pink roses. The groom was assisted by his brother, W. Thomas Collinson, of Toronto university. The bridal party entered the drawing room to the strains of a march played by the groom's sister, Miss Nesa Collinson. The groom's gift to the bridesmaid was a turquoise ring, and the groomsman a diamond ring. The newly-wedded couple left next morning on a wedding trip to Toronto and other cities before returning to their home in Hamilton.

A young man in Arthur purchased a bottle of medicine at a drug store the other day and after returning home and reading the directions found that it should be taken in tepid water. He immediately hitched up and hurried back to the store and asked for some tepid water. The druggist in his usual pleasant manner picked up a bottle, filled it with water, handed it the customer, cautioning him to warm it a little before using, charged him 25 cents and took a snap shot of him as he went out of the door.
