Glenelg Agricultural Show.

The above Exhibition was held at Markdale on the 2nd and 3rd inst. The entries were numerous, and the quality in each class above the average. The horses were a specialty, from the draught to the roadster; while the young brood of one, two and three-year olds shows that Markdale and vicinity is paying special attention to this branch of farming industry. Cattle were only a fair average; sheep and swine equal to any we have seen this year, some specimens of each class would have compared favorably with those we saw at the Provincial Exhibition the other day in Toronto. The entries in Poultry were numerous, considering that it was only a Township Show, and the quality good.

We next came to the Mechanical exhibit, and although not numerous, the specimens were good in quality. Our townsman, Mr. Heard, exhibited a market waggon, buggy, bob sleigh, &c., which, fully sustained the credit of Flesherton in this respect. Mr. Pulford, of Walkerton, exhibited three specimens of ploughs, which were models of skilful workmanship. Markdale was well represented in this department.

was replete in every respect. Photographs, water and crayon paintings in abundance. However, the most attractive feature in the Fine Arts was not only the excellent work in embroidery, coverlets, &c., but the number of these articles displayed. The first stand was surmounted by a display of choice flowers, lillies, &c., the work of Mrs. Douglas, and lent a charming appearance to the exhibit of choice fruits beneath. Of the fruits, we need only say that both the County Shows of South and East Grey have a more than successful rival in fruits: indeed the number of articles in each class shows that pomology is ahead of every other section of both Ridings. We come to the roots: here again they are superior to both County Shows. The dairy was ably represented in numerous firkins of butter and mammoth cheeses, and being in choice proximity to some fifteen or twenty loaves of competing bread, our editorial lips watered and teeth yearned for an onslaught upon each and every one of them. The successful bread was manufactured from flour at Mr. Ford's Mill, by the new process.

Mr. Hill, tailor, and W. J. McFarland, respectively, exhibited a neatly-made suit of Men's clothes, the material in both cases from the establishment of the latter.

The proceedings in the field wrought as smoothly as clock-work, no doubt owing to the superior business management of the President and Secretary, Messrs. Douglass and Turner, respectively. In the evening some eighty members of the society took dinner at the City Hotel. The banquet was well worthy of the bounteous spirit which has always actuated our old friend, Mr. J. McAlear, who conducts the "City." A noticeable feature in the day's proceedings, was the diminution of the quantity of alcohol consumed, and the increased quantity of eatables indulged in as compared with ten years ago, there being no less than two hundred and eighty-seven persons who took dinner at the "City," while the three other hotels seemed to be also extensively patronized.
