The Dear Little Heads in the Pew.

MRS. M. E. SANGSTER.

In the morn of the holy Sabbath,
I like in the church to see,
The dear little children clustered
And worshipping there with me.
I am sure that the pastor
Whose words are like summer dew,
Must be cheered as he gazes over
The dear little heads in the pew.

Faces earnest and thoughtful,
Innocent, pure and sweet,
They look in the congregation
Like lillies amongst the wheat;
And I think that the tender Master,
Whose mercies are ever new,
Has a special benediction
For dear little heads in the pew.

Clear in the hymns resounding.
To the organ's swelling chord,
Mingle their fresh young voices,
Eager to praise the Lord.
And I trust that the rising anthem,
Has a meaning deep and true,
The thought with the music blended,
For the dear little heads in the pew.

When they hear "the Lord is my shepherd"
Or "suffer the babes to come,"
They are glad that the loving Jesus
Has given the lambs a home.
A place of their own with his people,
He cares for me and for you.
But safe in his arms he gathers,
The dear little heads in the pew.

So I love in the great assembly,
On the Sabbath morn to see,
The dear little children clustered,
And worshipping there with me.
For I know that my precious Saviour,
Whose mercies are ever new,
Has a special benediction,
For the dear little heads in the pew.

An Explanation.

To the Editor of The Advance.

SIR,—Davy Madill has misrepresented affairs in your last week's issue, by saying "Mr. Grearson" lived in Collingwood Township, and leading the public to infer that he had no dispute with any of the judges except young Cruickshanks of Heathcote. Will he deny that he had a dispute with Mr. Richardson (one of the judges) of Euphrasia, if not with Mr. Grearson, who was not present?

ONE WHO KNOWS.

SERIOUSLY ILL.—A person suffering with pain and heat over the small of the back, with a weak weary feeling and frequent headaches, is seriously ill and should look out for kidney disease. Burdock Blood Bitters regulate the kidneys, blood and liver, as well as the stomach and bowels.

Unjust Justice.

Oakville Independent.

Police Magistrate Cahill, of Hamilton, is a highly discriminative individual. A few weeks since he was called upon in his official capacity to inflict punishment upon a lad, brought before him under the vagrancy act, for the great crime (sic) of being found tramping alon the track of the Grand Trunk R. R. The Magistrate committed the fellow to jail, as he considered it was the best punishment for such a being. Last week, a scoundrel in the person of Joseph Kendall, was bro't before him, charged with criminally assaulting a young girl. Such an offence has carried men in earlier days to a short shrift and a long rope over the limb of the nearest tree. But Joseph Kendall is a well-to-do man, and has passed many years in the best society. Prison fare and gaol garments were not to his style of life at all: one day and night in such a den of thieves was enough to distract such a fine toned gentleman! So the judge thought. And to Mr. Cahill's brain it appeared that, "To a man in the prisoner's social standing the ignominy of being in a prison for a day is quite as severe as though he were there for a month." But to a poor man—well, he will get accustomed to it. Not a word about the shame and ignominy of the act when perpetrated by an aged man, well educated, with all the advantages of position and affluence on his side. That is all lost sight of, and the only fact that appears to have affected the Magistrate's cranium was that the poor fellow in the dock was not used to prison walls. He therefore inflicted a fine of $100, which, to a man in the prisoner's position would not be more than a hundred cents to a poor man. Mr. Cahill would fain carry his "justice" back to the period when one law was made for the rich and another for the poor. Canada is no home for justice of this kind and the sooner this magistrate is deposed from his high position the sooner will such old villains as Joseph Kendall get their just deserts.

A WISE CONCLUSION.—If you have vainly tried many remedies for rheumatism, it will be a wise conclusion to try Hagyard's Yellow Oil. It cures all painful disease when other medicines fail.

From Toronto.

To the Editor of The Advance.

In this day of widely circulated daily newspapers and fast mails, there seems to be little left for the correspondent of a local weekly journal to write about, especially when he is situated at a central point such as Toronto. Yet there are some points of interest which these channels may not have conveyed to many of your readers, which strikes the mind of the observant stroller through the streets of this interesting city.

Progress and improvement seems to be the order of the day, though we hear much of dull times and depression of trade, yet the march of improvement goes steadily on, and if the winter should prove mild, the building trade promises to be fairly good, even through the winter. A very large number of buildings are now being commenced and others are being prepared for.

The growth of the city towards the west is rapid. Street paving is being pushed in several places and street railway enterprises are being developed. The latter has lately given rise to considerable discussion in the city council and through the press, being a sort of monopoly which seems to be rather an elephant on the hands of the council, and not managed in the best interests of the citizens, the accommodation furnished not being up to the expectations. One thing very remarkable about those street cars is their carrying capacity, which seems to be only equalled by the accommodating spirit of the conductors and drivers who never fail to stop the most heavily loaded car to take on passengers; in fact it is said that you cannot fill a street car so full that it will not hold more. Yet when all is said and done, the system is a great convenience and accommodation.

Very great interest is taken here on the Scott Act agitation, and on the evenings of elections in the various counties, the sidewalks in front of the news-offices are thronged by an anxious crowd waiting for a sight of the bulletins in the windows announcing the result.

To-day one of the principal topics of conversation is the sermons of Rev. Mr. Jeffery, of Queen st. Methodist Church, preached yesterday, in which he takes a position in opposition to the Scott Act, which is likely to get him into hot water. Temperance and Christian people seem to be surprised at a prominent Methodist minister using the old hackneyed objections so long used by King Dodds and his party.

Extensive revivals are now going on in several of the city churches. In Elm st. church, under the management of Rev. Thos. Harrison, popularly known as the "boy preacher," hundreds of souls are being counted. At Agnes st. church, under the pastor, Rev. Mr. Kerr, where a grand work is being accomplished, and sinners being saved in large numbers. I attended a mass meeting in the latter church at 4 o'clock on Sunday last, addressed by Master Newman Matthews of Yorkville, a lad of 15 years of age who is doing a wonderful work for good. The address, which was especially directed to the children and those connected with the Sabbath School, was eloquent, instructive and edifying. The subject was, "Seed Time, Summer, and Harvest," and was handled with an ability worthy of mature years. The impression on the audience was: surely God is with the boy and has a great work for him to do. Q. K.

SURE TO CONQUER.—The most troublesome cough cough is sure to yield if timely treated with Hagyard's Pectoral Balsam. Pleasant to take and safe for young and old.

To the Editor of the Advance.

DEAR SIR,—In the report of S. G. T. Association which appeared in your paper it is stated that Mr. Winterborn was appointed Librarian for eastern end of Inspectorate. This was a misprint. It should have been Mr. Munro was appointed Librarian. It appeared the same in the ADVANCE. Please correct the error in next issue, and oblige

Yours truly,
W. L. DIXON.

HALL'S Vegetable Sicilian HAIR RENEWER

was the first preparation perfectly adapted to cure diseases of the scalp, and the first successful restorer of faded or gray hair to its natural color, growth, and youthful beauty. It has had many imitators, but none have so fully met all the requirements needful for the proper treatment of the hair and scalp. HALL'S HAIR RENEWER has steadily grown in favor, and spread its fame and usefulness to every quarter of the globe. Its unparalleled success can be attributed to but one cause: the entire fulfilment of its promises.

The proprietors have often been surprised at the receipt of orders from remote countries, where they had never made an effort for its introduction.

The use for a short time of HALL'S HAIR RENEWER wonderfully improves the personal appearance. It cleanses the scalp from all impurities, cures all humors, fever, and dryness, and thus prevents baldness. It stimulates the weakened glands, and enables them to push forward a new and vigorous growth. The effects of this article are not transient, like those of alcoholic preparations, but remain a long time, which makes its use a matter of economy.
