Egg and Bacon Trade, 1903

The following is the report of Mr. A. W. Grindley, agent of the Department of Agriculture in Great Britain, regarding an important branch of the Canadian export trade in food products.

The Canadian egg trade is in a good way, best brands selling as high as fresh or Danish selected. The eggs are chiefly shipped in the Canadian box, with fillers holding thirty dozen. The style of package is popular and being of good quality gives general satisfaction. A limited number of eggs are shipped in the foreign box which holds twelve long hundred (1440 egs). The eggs in these large cases are packed in straw or excelsior and are put up in this style at the request of the importers. Continental and Irish eggs are packed in this style of package.

Both fresh and glycerines have come forward late in the year in large quantities; the quality was good, but the total shipments have not been so large, owing to scarcity of eggs in Canada.

According to a book recently published in Russia, that country boasts of having left Denmark behind as regards export of eggs. Russian competition in butter, eggs and poultry is becoming more serious by reason of adopting up-to-date methods, and these products are becoming much more popular on the British markets, owing to the improved quality. Russia, Denmark and other foreign countries are now taking greater care in selecting, grading and packing eggs, as well as getting them marketed as fresh as possible.

These foreign eggs now arrive regularly several days every week, as well as regularly every week of the year.

The bulk of these eggs are perfectly clean, and are graded into as many as six sizes, so that to-day the British importer is not inclined to speculate as in former years, and will have little of anything to do with stocks which have been held in cold storage.

As Canadian exporters have to meet this competition, great care must have been taken in selecting and sending forward only eggs which are perfectly fresh, clean and graded into sizes.

During 1903 the United Kingdon imported 18,848,897 great hundreds (120) of eggs, valued at £6,617,619. Canada's share of this large trade amounted to only 557,080 great hundreds, valued at £218,571. The imports from Russia amounted to £1,856,421 and from Denmark to £1,648,367. Germany, Belgium and France are the other leading exporters of eggs to Britain, each of these countries sending from three to four times as many as Canada.

Mr. Grindley also reports as follows concerning the bacon and ham trade:—

Canadian mild-cured bacon and hams are becoming very popular in Great Britain and are preferred to those imported from the United States, as they are leaner and there is always a demand for lean cuts. Canadian packing houses should make a close study of the various British markets and supply them with the cuts which are in demand by the consumer.

There is still room for improvement as regards packing cases—these are often knotty lumber, badly nailed, and no battens at ends (same as American packers use) which give double nail bearings. Heavy split wood hoops should be used to bind round the centre.

Shippers of these mild cured meats must take advantage of the best means of transportation which are now provided. Ship goods as little as possible to be sold on commission, and then only to reliable firms who will see that they are warehoused under proper conditions as regards cleanliness and temperature.

Why Brain Workers Break Down

Man is not a machine that keeps going as long as the steam is applied. He is a creature of blood, nerves and delicately balanced organism. Many don't realize this, but overwork their brains and break down. Brain workers need a strong bracing tonic like Ferrozone to fortify their nerves and keep the blood pure and rich. Take Ferrozone and you'll do more work. You will have the strength, the ambition and the desire for work because your system will be in first-class order. For your health and strength take Ferrozone regularly. Price 50c. at druggists.

On Wednesday of last week Mr. Duncan Hay met with a painful accident and narrowly escaped being instantly killed. As he was about his work at the foundry a large piece of ice slid off the roof and passing over his head struck him on the point of his shoulder. He has not been able to work since, but is improving and going about. Had the ice struck him on the head the possibility is that Mr. Hay would be with the spirits by this time.—Chatsworth News.

Two or three townsmen have told The Sun of a curious thing they saw early this week on the lake shore road. About half a mile west of McAllister's, in the snow at the roadside, stands a dog. It is in an attitude suggestive of a lively, active disposition, with eyes open, ears up. To the traveller on this lonely road, he looks as if he were just about to jump out on the track. But the dog does not move. He is dead—frozen stiff. How long he has been there, and in what manner death overtook him so suddenly as to leave him there fixed like an alert sentinel are puzzling questions. A casual examination revealed no sign of the animal's having been shot or poisoned. He is a fair-sized black and white dog, smooth haired, and of no standard breed. —Stayner Sun.

HOW IT'S DONE.

It's from the stomach the blood is fed and the nerves controlled.

Undigested food ferments for lack of gastric juice. The fermentation and putrefaction in the stomach and alimentary canal are the main causes of disease.

It upsets the nerves.

It poisons the system.

Dr. Leonhardt's Anti-Pill increases the necessary supply of gastric juice in quantity and quality to insure perfect stomach action. It has similar action on bile formation. Anyone can prove this for himself by addressing WILSON-FYLE Co., Niagara Falls, Ont., for free sample.

Joseph Hatley, storekeeper and postmaster at Austruther, near Peterboro, was fined $50 and $100 in two cases against him for selling liquor without a license, the costs and fines amounting to $224.68. One old man walked sixty miles through the deep snow to give evidence against Hatley.

How It Spreads

The first package of Hem Roid (the infallible Pile cure) that was put out went to a small town in the State of Nebraska.

It made the cure of a case of Piles that was considered hopeless.

The news spread and although this was only two years ago the demand prompted Dr. J. S. Leonhart of Lincoln Neb., the discoverer, to prepare it for general use. Now it is being sent to all parts of the world.

It will cure any case of Piles. There is a months treatment in each box. Sold for $1.00, with absolute guarantee. It is for sale by druggists.

A SHORT CUT TO SUCCESS

Preparation is necessary if you wish to succeed. If you inted to transact business of any kind you would be sadly handicaped without a business education. The most thorough training of this kind can be obtained at the

The Page Wire Fence.

PAGE fences are the only ones on the market made of coiled wire, as we are the only concern having machinery that will weave a coiled woven fence. Some concerns unable to make or get looms that will weave and coil the wire, try to estoblish a talking point by kinking or corrugating the wire. But this does not of course, have the life or spring, that does a coil. Also the kink in the brittle, low grade wire used in other fences is liable to break in frosty weather or whenever the fence receives any sudden shock.

Nearly everyone understands that our coiled wire is practically a coil spring drawn out till only a spiral or wavery appearance is left. When a Page fence is erected on posts with the powerful stretching tools we supply, the coil in the wire is still further drawn out. But there is enough coil left in the wire to make it very springy and enables the fence to stand extremely rough usage without breaking.

Now, it would do no good to coil a common wire in this way, as the coil to be effective and not pull out straight with the first strain and stay that way must be of higher temper—that is, hard and tough. In order to meet these requirements, we use a specially made high carbon wire.

Some fence concerns try to trade on our success by using a so-called high carbon wire 'just like Page," and as ordinary fence users have no good way of telling the difference till the fence has been in use some time, they succeed in placing considerable of it in use.
