A Chicago Alderman Owes his Election to Chamberlain's Cough Remedy.

"I can heartily and conscientously recommend Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for affections of the throat and lungs," says Hon. John Shenick, 220 So. Peoria St. Chicago. "Two years ago during a political campaign, I caught cold after being overheated, which irritated my throat and I was finally compelled to stop as I could not speak aloud. In my extremity a friend advised me to use Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. I took two doses that afternoon and could not believe my senses when I found the next morning the inflamation had largely subsided. I took several doses that day, kept right on talking through the campaign, and I thank this medicine that I won my seat in the Council." This remedy is for sale by W. E. Richardson.

On Saturday afternoon, a very serious accident was happily averted. In the home of Mr. Emery Dean, two little children, a boy about seven, and a little girl about five, were left alone in the house. Mr. Dean is a widower, and was engaged at work at the station, and the eldest daughter, a young girl, we imagine twelve or thirteen years of age, was out a few minutes at the skating rink. During her absence the fire got low, and the folks tried to start it up. In doing so the boy used the coal oil can, which caught fire and exploded in his hands, the top being completely blown off the can. The little fellows hair and clothing were singed and the oil ignited the floor, which quickly assumed a threatening appearance. A gentleman passing the house heard the explosion, saw the children rush out, and the smoke issuing from the door. Fortunately, however, the flames were rapidly extinguished with very little loss. The children were more frightened than injured, we are pleased to say, and we think it will be some time before they again resort to a coal oil can to start up a fire.—Chronicle.

FEED TO FATTEN

Steers are bought, raised, and fattened to make money; so just a few words as to how this profit can be made and, in many instances, increased. The increase in weight in steers, is due to the amount of food that is digested and assimilated, and the greater the amount digested and assimilated, the greater the increase in weight. In close confinement the feeding ration lacks the variety of the open field, therefore, the food must have the "salt, pepper and gravy" added; this is Clydesdale Stock Food. It stands to reason, that, like a human being, if the food is made more palatable by the addition of the "salt, pepper and gravy" it will eat more of the thing it likes because "it makes the mouth water." This is "wise feeding." Furthermore, it will do them more good because it not only helps to digest the food, but after it is digested, it helps the blood to take up or assimilate a large proportion of it. This is where the profit comes in by putting on extra weight, giving them a nice, fat, smooth finish that brings top market price. The feeding period can be shortened thirty days at least; this is money saved. The increase over and above the ordinary feeding increase is, easily ¾ of a lb and over per day. You can stop feeding Clydesdale Stock Food at any time without injurious effects. If you find you cannot feed Clydesdale Stock Food at a profit your money will be cheerfully refunded by the dealer from whom you buy it. It is sold in your district by:
