Human Physique in War.

The physical endurance of the Japanese soldier in the present wonderful campaign in Manchuria impresses 'American Medicine' as the one great revelation which has come out of the Orient. There have been no authentic reports upon which we can base estimates as to his immunity from disease or the protection from infection, so that it is entirely too soon to form any opinion as to the organization and work of the medical department of the army. We do not know definitely, indeed whether it is true that the Japs have escaped diseases in greater proportion than the Russians or than other soldiers in similar campaigns, and if they have so escaped, whether it is due to racial immunity or watchful care of the officers. Of this much we are certain—the man carrying the gun on his shoulder has accomplished feats of physical endurance which were not thought possible by physiologists.

The Russians could not estimate where the Japanese would be and were, therefore, constantly surprised by tremendous forces at places twenty to fifty miles beyond the point where good strategy would have placed them. When Napoleon began to defeat the well tried generals of Europe they complained that he was always far in advance of where he should have been by the rules, but it was all due to his better knowledge of how to get work from his soldiers. In the Orient there is a new art of war depending upon a new style of physique of a race which has never before been put to this work. Repeatedly the Russians have reported the Japanese to be so exhausted that they could not pursue, yet the pursuit kept up with no change of vigor.

Like Old Times

The Bicycle is again a favorite with the public.

It may be that it is because of the recent improvements introduced into the wheel or that the public have recently arrived at the conclusion that it is of unusual value as a convenience or for exercise, but sure it is that the bicycle is again in vogue. Toronto papers report an exceptional revival in wheeling. Boulevards and Avenues of the Queen City have an old time appearance being crowded all hours of the day with bicyclists, some apparently being bent on pleasure and others employing the wheel as a vehicle of utility. Toronto merchants claim that several times as many bicycles have been sold up to the present this year as during the same period for the past three or four seasons. Cleveland and Massey Harris bicycles have all the new improvements besides cushion frame, Morrow coaster brakes and Sill's handle bars—they have greatly assisted the revival.

The C. P. R. engine attached to the Monday 3.50 p. m. train broke a spring buckle at Chatsworth and had to give up the train at Flesherton. The Orangeville yard engine was sent up to take the train to Toronto. It was over an hour and a half late in leaving Flesherton. The railway delegation were passengers and the Ottawa train was held for the party at Toronto.—Times.

A Swede named Peterson, while employed on the Ss. Westmount, met with a terrible accident on Wednesday afternoon of last week. He was at work aloft when by some means he lost his balance and fell to the iron deck below, a distance of thirty feet, but strange to say, he landed on his feet and was not fatally injured. He was at once removed to the G. & M. Hospital, where it was found that his injuries were of a very serious character, the bones of his feet were spread out, several ribs were fractured and an arm broken. The patient is now doing well. —Collingwood Enterprise.

The large structure known as the roller rkate rink, owned by R. P. Butchart & Bro., was completely consumed by fire last Thursday. As the building was situated in the heart of the business section of Owen Sound, the main part of the town was threatened for some time but a conflagration was prevented by the efforts of the firemen, whose newly appointed chief, Mr. W. J. Carr, acquitted himself well. The loss is: R.P.Butchart & Bro.. $10,000; B. Greenwood, tobacconist, $800; Dr. R. Howey, 300.

An accident that only by the merest chance was prevented from resulting very seriously, occurred at the home of Mr. John Duffield, Normanby St., last Thursday. The youngest, son a little fellow aged two years, on getting out of bed in the morning after the other members of the family had gone down stairs, got hold of some matches and striking them set fire to his nightgown. Fortunately his mother was in hearing of the child's screams and rushing to the room found the little fellow enveloped in flames. Mrs. Duffield succeeded in promptly extinguishing the flames and a flannel underskirt prevented the body from being burned. One leg was blistered badly clear to the body, but the little sufferer is recovering and the parents have reason to be thankful the result is no worse.—Mt. Forest Representative.

It runs hand in hand with poor blood and weak nerves. Health runs down, nerves get irritable, neuralgic torture follows. For the moment applications may relieve—but to thoroughly cure, the system must be strengthened with nutritious blood.

FEED TO FATTEN

Steers are bought, raised, and fattened to make money; so just a few words as to how this profit can be made and, in many instances, increased. The increase in weight in steers, is due to the amount of food that is digested and assimilated, and the greater the amount digested and assimilated, the greater the increase in weight. In close confinement the feeding ration lacks the variety of the open field, therefore, the food must have the "salt, pepper and gravy" added; this is Clydesdale Stock Food. It stands to reason, that, like a human being, if the food is made more palatable by the addition of the "salt, pepper and gravy" it will eat more of the thing it likes because "it makes the mouth water." This is "wise feeding." Furthermore, it will do them more good because it not only helps to digest the food, but after it is digested, it helps the blood to take up or assimilate a large proportion of it. This is where the profit comes in by putting on extra weight, giving them a nice, fat, smooth finish that brings top market price. The feeding period can be shortened thirty days at least; this is money saved. The increase over and above the ordinary feeding increase is, easily ¾ of a lb and over per day. You can stop feeding Clydesdale Stock Food at any time without injurious effects. If you find you cannot feed Clydesdale Stock Food at a profit your money will be cheerfully refunded by the dealer from whom you buy it. It is sold in your district by:
