Socials.

Talking about socials reminds us that we have almost invariably advertised these things free of charge, thereby considerably increasing the attendance at such gatherings. Yet we have not in a single instance been tendered the usual press complimentary. In future, all advertisements for church or state will be charged, and then when the plate comes around we may have the where-with to pay. We cannot afford to advertise free of charge, very often contribute besides, then spend time, wear and tear of type puffiing the affair after it is over, and pay our way into the bargain. No sir; we can't do it.—Dundalk Herald.

We have been there ourself, friend Hall, and know all about it. We do not mind advertising these socials, so long as we receive anything like a decent equivalent. Merely thanking the Editor for a notice doesn't pay—the latter. Country newspaper men require something more substantial for the services.

Mysterious Dissappearance.

Maria Jane Foster, about 14 years of age, the daughter of Mr. Samuel Foster, merchant, of this place, was staying with her aunt for a few days, and left the house about noon on the 11th inst., since which time she has not been seen or heard of. Her parents at first thought she had gone to some of her many relatives in this section but on enquiry they found she had not been seen by any of them and their anxiety has grown into alarm. When she went away she wore a bright plaid stuff dress, but had no hat, coat or other outer garment; she is large for her age, has grey eyes and rather swarthy skin. Any information concerning her will be most thankfully received by her parents or any person in the village. We would suggest the organzaition of a searching party to make a thorough search of the woods and swamps surrounding the village.—Chatsworth News.

Rev. Mr. McDowell's Farewell Sermon.

Rev. Mr. McDowell preached a very affeicting sermon in the Methodist Church here on Sunday evening last. The building was crowded so much that the side seats had to be used. The pastor held the most profound attention of his audience throughout. His text was chosen from II Cor. 13c.5v.: "Finally, brethren, farewell. Be perfect, be of good comfort, be of one mind, live in peace; and the God of love and peace shall be with you." The time for parting between pastor and people had come, and in this solemn moment he would endeavor to impress on his hearers the necessity for vigilance and earnestness in the cause of the Master, for the time would soon come when all would have to stand before the judge of all, and give an account of their actions in this life. He had done his duty to the best of his ability, but there were some in the congregation he was now bidding farewell to, for whom he had often prayed and wept, and who in this selemn moment, weighed heavily upon his heart. He inplored them to come to the Saviour while yet there was time. He left the Flesherton circuit without any remorse of conscience as to the manner in which he had performed his duties as pastor.

The character of the perfect Christian was then sketched in language beautiful, simple and logical. The sermon was a most earnest, powerful and impressive one, and delivered with that plainness of speech and vigor for which the pastor has ever been characterized. Many in the audience were in tears, and the pastor himself was deeply affected.

At the close, the Gospel Amry held a powerful "Salvation Meeting." Major Sutherland and his wife made powerful appeals, and a large number made their way to the altar to be prayed for. In every respect the services were amongst the most remarkable held in this church, and will long be remembered by those who were present.

SHILOH'S CATARRH REMEDY—a positive cure for Catarrh, Diptheria, and Canker Mouth. Sold by D. S. Munro.

Singhampton & Flesherton.

A friendly game of Base Ball was played between the Singhampton and Flesherton B. B. C's on the grounds of the former, on Monday afternoon last. The visiting team went to the bat and made one run. The home team were whitewashed on the 1st inning, the playing being very keen all around. After this the latter team gradually, and by their brilliant fielding, worked up a big score. The Flesherton team did not seem to be in good trim for playing and made some rather wild fielding, although the back-stopping of Vokes was universally admired. Sampson of the Singhampton team caught a "red hot" ball at long field in spendid style, and Hannah, of the visiting team, caught two balls neatly on fly third inning. Sampson made a fine two base strike on the same inning. In the fourth inning Capt. Clark made a powerful three base strike, although the wind was blowing directly in the teeth of the ball. Rutherford made a good catch "on fly" in the same inning. In the seventh inning, Chittick—the Singhampton back-stop—was struck full in the mouth by a red-hot ball from pitcher Bulmer, and disabled. Will Mastin formerly of Thornbury, filled the gap and did some good playing. Some remarkably fine playing was made by 2nd baseman Peace, an old Uxbridge player, who never let a ball pass him even when [illegible] above his head. He seemed to [illegible] of rubber. Mitchell made [illegible] playing. Johnston did good work for one who had not played base ball for four years before. Clark pitched well, but missed several good flys owing to the roughness of the grounds. This latter fact, no doubt, had something to do with the wild fielding. Bulmer's pitching helped the home team greatly. Rutherford played well. Sampson did good work running the bases. Leitch did not play anything like as well as usual. Clayton was also behind, and even Hannah was not up to the mark. The really brilliant back-stopping of Vokes did not appear to such good advantage as it would have had the grounds in the rear been as devoid to obstructions as they should have been.

The decisions of umpire W. J. Davis gave general satisfaction, and there was no disputing or wrangling worth speaking about throughout the entire game. Our team took their defeat with perfect good humor. At the close of the 9th innings for the visiting team and the 8th for the home team, the scores stood 45 for the latter and 23 for the former—an unusually large one. Let us hope to see keener playing and much smaller scores in future. So mote it be.

NOTES.

The scorers were Mr. Thos. Clayton, Flesherton, and Mr. Andrew Sharp, Maxwell.

The Editor was driven out by Mr. Will Johnston, the distance between Flesherton and Singhampton being accomplished in less than on hour and three-quarters, and what is more astonishing the sweat was not noticeable on this "lightning express No. 2" at the end of the journey. The return was accomplished in short order.

Although back-stopman Vokes' hands were badly swollen catching the swift red-hot balls delivered by pitcher Clark, he stuck to his post the whole afternoon without a murmur. He is certainly one of the pluckiest base-ballers in the country.

The game was played on Scott Act territory, but we regret to say that that fact did not prevent some persons—who should have known better—circulating liquor freely amongst the crowd, and what was far worse, amongst the players as well. At any rate no liquor should have been allowed on the grounds, whether in Simcoe or Grey, and we protest most emphatically against the innovation, and trust it will never be repeated.

SINGHAMPTON.

The village of Singhampton is situated on the boundary line between the townships of Nottawasaga and Osprey the former in the county of Simcoe. The celebrated Mad River runs through the place. It is seventeen miles from Flesherton and fourteen from Collingwood. Duntroon, on the H. & N. W. R., is only a few miles North-East. It has quite a number of business places and dwellings. Stinson & Co. have a fine generol store in this place as well as the one at Maxwell. The carriage factory and furniture undertaking establishment of Mr. Grant comprize other important industries. There are two hotels—one in Simcoe, and the other, kept by Mr. John Bell, in Grey—in Scott and Anti Scott Act territories respectively. The country surrounding is very hilly, but there are many good farms. Singhampton is built chiefly in the hollow or ravine through which the Mad River, at this point, wends its way sluggishly onward. On the whole the village is rather romantically situated, although, like all places similarly located, it presents a very bleak and unpromising appearance in winter, when the trees have been denuded of their lovely foliage and the hills and valleys are wrapped in their mantles of frost and snow.

Singhampton has a flourishing cheese factory under the management of that splendid cheeseman, Mr. Garrett—so well and favorably known to the patrons of our Flesherton cheese factory. We had the pleasure of meeting both Mr. and Mrs. Garrett on the occasion of our visit.

Owen Sound.

(From our own Correspondent.)

Seeing no correspondence in your valuable paper from this beautiful and prosperous town, I concluded to unfold my mantle for the first time and disclose a few notables which may come under my observation.

Why is it we cannot have a regular correspondent from this place? I'm sure its not for want of news, neither is it from the want of mental capacity, but we will say it is from want of time, for as far as I can see, every man woman and child are over head and ears into business and are doing their utmost to promote the best interest of the town.

Owen Sound can boast of having one of the best harbors in the Dominion. One of the Canadian Pacific Steamship Co., Steel boats, Algoma, Alberta, or Athabasca leave here at 4 o'clock on Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays after the arrival of the Steamboat Express train from Toronto and Montreal, with passengers and freight for Port Arthur, Manitoba and the North West.

These Steamers carry each 1800 tons burden and on the return trip are laden with Manitoba, wheat which is placed in the capacious Elivator the marine leg of which lifts 125 bushels per minute. Since navigation opened, 25 cars of wheat have been shipped on an average each day, and there is still left about 80,000 bushels.

The young men have organized a Base Ball Club and would like to play a friendly match with the Flesherton boys on July 12th at Flesherton. They would like to know if a match could be arranged for that day.

Geo. Snider Esq., an old and highly respected citizen died at his residence here on the 16th ult. He was a very useful man in society and a prominent member of the Methodist church leaving at his death $5000 to be added to the finances of the church.

A very large excursion went to Collingwood via S. S. Campana, on July 1st.
