EDITORIAL NOTES

The result of the current Victory Loan Campaign is going to mean more to Canada that the raising of 600 million dollars or 750 million dollars. With the campaign underway but a few days, there was evidence from widespread sections of Canada that the spirit of the people was being quickened by this drive for money. The canvassers for the Flesherton, Artemesia and part Osprey district are: H. W. Kernahan, G. A. McTavish, T. J. Fisher and J. A. Richards. Their splendid work during the past week has kept the district ahead in the amount subscribed. The committee hopes to obtain their objective this week and it remains to be seen how much will be oversubscribed.

The message of the Victory Loan Torch in itself is enlisting thousands upon thousands of men and women into a more active service for the country at war. All Canadians in the Dominion are joining as one in sending this message of cheer to the hard- pressed peoples of the British Isles. And in that very act, the Canadian in the east has been drawn closer to the Canadian in the west. Without doubt, Canadian unity becomes more of a reality every day.

No one would be seriously challenged, who pushed forward the thought that the rift between the Ontario government and the Federal government over taxation policy will be healed by this strengthening of unity across the country.

• • • •

Those people in Ontario who were expressing fears a short while ago that the Dominion government and the Federal Department of Labor was favoring the union worker and was showing discrimination against the employer may now possibly change their minds, following the department's action against strikers in Toronto and Montreal who quit their jobs of war work before asking for a conciliation board meeting.

There seems to be little reason now to doubt the determination of the department of labor in preventing uncalled-for delays in Canada's production of war materials. The warning from Ottawa that these strikers faced the danger of arrest came with all the more force after the episode at Hamilton, where the department backed the strikers and took over the management of the Hamilton plant.

Apparently, neither the employed nor the employee will be spared from now on, when the country's vital interests are at stake.

Citizens may also read into these recent developments the first hint that the government is about to use its wartime powers to make sure that nothing impedes production.

The people of Canada are promising the people of Great Britain that they will provide the tools to finish the job. And without doubt the people of Canada will back their government in taking whatever steps are necessary to keep that promise.

The contributions of the Priceville and Feversham district to the Telegram British War Victims' Fund have been wonderful efforts and speaks well for the co-operative spirit of the community to do their bit in relieving distress in the Mother Country. The former raised $700 from their sale, collection of old iron, etc., and the latter $775 from their sale, contributions and booth. Well done!
