Modern Etiquette

BY ROBERTA LEE

1. When signing a hotel register should a man write G. H. Hall and wife?

2. Is it right to show a hand to the dummy when playing bridge?

3. Is it obligatory that a man help his wife to entertain their guests?

4. As ten per cent is the correct amount for tipping in a restaurant, is it all right to tip five cents when one's meal costs fifty cents?

5. Is it permissible for a girl on a vacation trip to send a picture postcard to a young man who has not asked her to write?

6. When a sudden death occurs in a family after wedding invitations have been mailed, should the wedding be postponed?

Answers

1. No. Write Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Hall. 2. No, and it is often annoying to players to have onlookers. If one wishes to watch a game, ask permission to do so, and keep quiet if such permission is given. It is the height of bad manners to make any comments on the play. 3. Yes, the man, as host, is equally obligated to assume his part of the entertaining, helping his wife in every possible way. 4. No; ten cents is considered the minimum, ten per cent when the bill is one dollar or more. 5. Yes. 6. Not necessarily. However, the plans should be changed. Recall all invitations excepting those of the two immediate families, and have the wedding as quiet as possible.

HAVE YOU HEARD?

"I want a dozen of your planes," he ordered; "they must be ready three nights from now."

"Impossible!" exclaimed the works manager.

"I command!" roared Goering. "The crews will be here at the time stated."

The time came, and so did the crews. German efficiency had triumphed; there were the planes. Without loss of time they set out for their target—England.

Over London the leading pilot pulled the bomb-release lever—and out dropped three of the factory's night shift.

Proprietor: "You come into my restaurant, you order a glass of water, you drink it, and you calmly walk out!"

Scot: "What were ye expectin' me to do, mon? Stagger oot?"

Thomas B. Reed, once speaker of the U.S. House of Representatives, was the author of many quips. One day an effort was being made to secure a quorum. Telegrams were sent to the absent members. One man, delayed by a flood which covered the railroad lines, wired:

"Washout on line; can't come."

Reed wired back: "Buy another shirt and come on next train."

A woman wearing an off-the-face hat she had just bought asked her Negro cook how she liked it.

"It's a right pretty hat," the cook gave judgment. "But it sueh do make yo' face public."

History shows that it does not always pays to do a thing yourself. A workman in London was told by his wife that the sitting-room needed papering. "I'll do it myself," he said. He sent his wife to the cinema and set to work. When his wife returned, he had finished the job. She looked at the walls. "What are those bumps on the walls?" she asked.

"Eh," he answered, "I thought I had something wrong. It didn't look right, somehow. It's the blooming pictures."

Mr. Green: "I am going to enter my dog for the show this year."

Mr. Black: "My goodness! Do you think he will win?"

Mr. Green: "No, but he will meet some very nice dogs."

Daily Ocean Flights Near

Pan-American Head Foresees 12-Hour Non-Stop Trips Across Atlantic Soon

Multiple daily schedules requiring 12 hours for non-stop continent-to-continent flights may be expected of trans-oceanic air service within the next two years, J. T. Trippe, Pan American Airways system president, told the annual meeting of the Royal Aeronautical Society in London, England.

He delivered the 29th Wilbur Wright memorial lecture.

New-type clipper planes, details of which Mr. Trippe said he was not at liberty to disclose, are expected to be delivered early next year. These planes should permit cruising speeds of at least 75 to 100 miles an hour greater than those now available and would be geared for high-altitude, supercharged operations, he said.

Since May, 1939, when Pan American began trans-Atlantic flights, the Clipper planes now in operation have completed 362 scheduled crossings, flying more than 20,500,000 passenger miles without incident, Mr. Trippe said. The planes have carried 4,685 passengers and 810,740 pounds of mail.

The war has brought about "forced-draft technical advancement" of trans-Atlantic air service, he told the society, causing the airline to carry passenger and mail loads as great as 10 times the originally estimated volume of traffic. The war has transferred to the airplane about 30 per cent of the total trans-Atlantic mails, he said.

Ontario Cuts Toll In Meningitis Cases

Dr. J. T. Phair, chief medical officer for Ontario, said last month that early diagnosis, followed by treatment with new chemical drugs and with serum, has held the death rate in cerebro spinal meningitis down to 12 per cent., a new low in Ontario history.

Since Jan. 5 there have been 294 cases and 35 deaths, he said. During the first Great War when meningitis was even more prevalent than now, the death rate ran between 50 and 75 per cent.

Dr. Phair said there was no evidence that the incidence of the disease was decreasing, although normally its rate is higher in the winter months.

Canada's 1,808 Publications

They Are All Listed In The 34th Edition of McKim's Directory Now Off the Press

According to the 34th Edition of McKim's Directory of Canadian Publications, just off the press, Canada now has 1,808 publications. Of this total, well over one-third, 666, are published in Ontario. The Province of Quebec ranks next with 390. Over half of all Canadian publications are weeklies — 984 as compared with 112 dailies and 462 monthlies.

666 In Ontario

It is interesting to note that Canada supports sixty-four foreign language publications among which there are four dailies in Chinese, two in Japanese and two in Jewish. Foreign publications in Canada are printed in sixteen languages which include Croatian, Czecho-Slovak, Danish, Dutch, Finnish, German, Hungarian, Icelandic, Italian, Norwegian, Polish, Swedish and Ukrainian.

McKim's Directory has become practically a national institution and is widely circulated at home and abroad. The publication summarizes exhaustive information on markets, media and populations throughout Canada, constituting an industrial analysis reference of all towns in which publications are printed. Enquiries concerning this directory should be addressed to any one of the A. McKim Limited offices in Montreal, Toronto, Winnipeg, Vancouver and in London, England.

The Woodchuck Awakens

"Heigh-ho! The clovers are red, wine-red;
The breezes soft with rain!
I've left the dusk of a winter bed
To live in the light again!
The brook has purled to a waking song
And flowed to the rim of the sea;
It, too, has slept and dreamed for long;
It, too, is awake and free!

"A curl of smoke on the chimney-top
In the early hours of the day;
A lone, lone road where the blue hills drop
To the distance far away!
I call my brood from the drowsy den
Where the hours of night are spent;
trail them through the summer glen
Whose boughs with bloom are bent!"

What Science Is Doing

MORPHINE MAY KILL

If you want to stay alive through an attack of asthma, don't permit anyone, not even a doctor, to give you morphine.

Asthma itself seldom or never kills, Dr. Warren T. Vaughan, of Richmond, Ga., explained at a symposium held by the American Association for the Sutdy of Allergy. But morphine may kill, he added anyone affected with asthma.

PLANTS AND SUN

Some plants can become so sensitive to light that full sunlight will cause them to become prostrate, and when the light is reduced they can regain an erect position. Dr. D. G. Langham, making researches at the Institute for Experimental Agriculture at El Valle, Caracas, Venezuela, reported in the current issue of "Science" that a potted plant of teosinte, a large grass resembling corn, drooped when grown in a greenhouse, but when removed to a shaded locality recovered its erect position. Seeds from this plant produced offspring that had the same sensitivity.

SHOT OF SUNSHINE

Recovery of a large number of apparently hopeless infection cases after the injection of a shot of "sunshine" directly into the bloodstream was recently reported to the American Institute of Homeopathy.

In the treatment the patient's own blood was irradiated by exposure to strong ultra-violet rays from a mercury vapor lamp in much the same fashion that milk is treated by dairies to give it vitamin D—the sunshine factor.

An automatic transfusion pump was used and the patient's circulation was not disturbed except for the detour the blood took through the pump and the small irradiation chamber where it was exposed to ultra-violet rays before reentering the body.

The output of central electric stations in Canada reached a new high record in April at 2,693,353,000 kilowatt hours as compared with 2,631,809,000 kilowatt hours in March and 2,398,722,000 kilowatt hours in April 1940

C.N.R. May Revenue Up Over 100 P.C.

Net revenue for the five months of 1941 totalled $25,279,769 an increase of $14,640,893 over the five months of 1940.

How Can I?

BY ANNE ASHLEY

Q. How can I wash a small Oriental rug?

A. Rub the surface with a lather of pure white soap. Then rub off as much soap as possible and rinse with cloths dipped in clear cool water. Dry thoroughly.

Q. How can I make a disinfectant?

A. A home-made disinfectant, both efficient and inexpensive, can be made by completely submerging a small quantity (about half a can) of chloride of lime in vinegar. The gases released by this mixture will destroy germs and unpleasant odors.

Q. How can I prevent old potatoes from turning black when boiling?

A. If a teaspoonful of vinegar is added to the water, they will not turn black, in spite of their age.

Q. How can I clean brick tiles?

A. Washing brick tiles with vinegar makes them look like new.

Q. How can I make frosted glass for a bathroom or sleeping porch window?

A. Clean the glass with gasoline. Then cover with white tissue paper which fits exactly and apply clear waterproof varnish thinned 25 per cent with turpentine. The varnish soaks through the paper sticking it to the glass, and thus effects a frosted window.
