WILL KISSING BE PROHIBITED?

The Osculatory Process Denounced by Scientists as Extremely Dangerous —How the Danger Can be Removed.

A keen discussion is being carried on by some of the best scientists as to the danger and "crime" of kissing, led by Dr. Somers, Health Officer of Atlantic City, and Dr. Nalpasse, of the Medical Faculty of Paris. They charge the kiss with spreading grippe, scarlet fever, measles, mumps, whooping cough, typhoid fever, diphtheria, erysipelas, meningitis, tuberculosis and many infectious skin diseases. They suggest legislation on the subject, and the posting of notices in railway stations, street cars and other public places, but they say it would be useless to post them on verandahs, in cosy corners, porches, shady nooks, or moonlit lawns. They also propose some compulsory legislation for methods of disinfection of the mouth and purifying the breath, especially with a view to the protection of innocent babes, who are particularly subject to infection. The greatest and most effective purifier and germ destroyer known to medical science for the mouth, throat and breath, as well as for the blood, stomach and lungs, is Psychine, that triumph of the medical world that is attracting almost universal attention because of the wonderful results attending its use. One of its recent triumphs is told as a matter of experience in the following brief statement:

"I suffered for over two years from catarrh of the head and throat and stomach, and an obstinate hacking cough. The slightest cold or change of weather would cause the disease to return worse than before. Doctors gave me no relief. I saw Psychine and Oxomulsion advertised in the newspapers, and decided to use them. They had a splendid effect in my case. I obtained the permanent cure I had so long and so anxiously desired. Psychine appears to be a perfect germ destroyer. I shall do all in my power to increase the popularity of the Dr. Slocum remedies in this vicinity. I always keep Psychine in our house. It is our only doctor.

"LEGER L. HARDY.

"St. Basil de Pontneuf, Que."

Psychine, pronounced si-keen, is commended by all doctors and scientists who have interested themselves sufficiently in their profession and in the welfare of the public to investigate its marvelous qualities, and consider in an unprejudiced manner its results, as the most wonderful of all disease and germ-destroying agencies. For building up the run-down system and curing all forms of stomach troubles and diseases of the chest, throat and lungs or head, it is simply unapproachable. It is destined to revolutionize many of the old theories, and furnish a reliable home treatment. For sale at all druggists, 50c., and $1.00, or Dr. T. A. Many young men do not propose because they fear that the girls will say "yes."

Externally or Internally, It is Good.—When applied externally by brisk rubbing, Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil opens the pores and penetrates the tissue as few liniments do, touching the seat of the trouble and immediately affording relief. Administered internally, it will still the irritation in the throat which induces coughing and will cure affections of the bronchial tubes and respiratory organs. Try it and be convinced.

BURN ASHES, SAVE COAL

THERE IS PLENTY OF HEAT IN YOUR BACKYARD HEAP.

Pennsylvania Shoemaker's Discovery —More Warmth in Ashes Than in Anthracite.

While sitting at his bench eking out a living with hammer and awl, John Ellmore, a cobbler of Altoona, Pennsylvania, for twenty years has been revolving in his brain a problem that he has finally solved to his own satisfaction, and that apparently is destined to revolutionize the question of producing heat. Ellmore says he has discovered a method of making ashes burn, and a practical demonstration has convinced former sceptics. Ellmore not only makes ashes burn and produce heat, but he produces considerably more heat from a given quantity of ashes than can be obtained from the same amount of pure bituminous or anthracite coal. At the plant of the Citizens' Electric Company he the other day was allotted one of ten boilers, and with three bushels of ashes he produced more heat than was obtained from the other nine. This demonstration was witnessed by several hundred persons.

A SIMPLE PROCESS.

Ellmore is carefully guarding his secret, and has applied for patent rights. His process is very simple. He takes ten parts of ashes to one part of coal and over this sprinkles a small quantity of a compound which causes the combustion. He says that for 25 cents sufficient of this compound can be prepared to last an ordinary family one winter, with a coal consumption of less than one ton. In his shop he has used less than half a ton of coal this winter, and he declares that a ton will last him two years.

DISCOVERY NO ACCIDENT.

When he opened the doors of the boiler in which his compound was burning the other day, spectators gazed upon a fire that glowed brilliantly and had a bluish tinge. A lump of coal was surrounded by ashes and the ashes glowed like a bed of burning anthracite. There was apparently no diminution in the amount of heat during the several hours that the demonstration continued. Ellmore says his discovery was not an accident. His father before him had conceived the possibility of obtaining heat from ashes, but had not lived to demonstrate it.

GREATEST FIND IN AMERICA.

The younger Ellmore has been experimenting for more than twenty years, and it was about eight months ago that he finally obtained the right solution. Before giving his secret to the world Ellmore demonstrated time and again its practicability, and was satisfied after he had made less than a half ton of coal produce more heat than he heretofore had obtained from ten or fifteen tons of coal that he held probably the greatest discovery that has been made in a century.

To Those of Sedentary Occupation.—Men who follow sedentary occupations, which deprive them of fresh air and exercise, are more prone to disorders of the liver and kidneys than those who lead active, outdoor lives. CHALEUR BAY'S "FIRE-SHIP."

According to Prof. W. F. Ganong, the traditional "fire-ship" of the Chaleur Bay, New Brunswick, appearing usually before a storm, has a basis of fact. It is a hemispherical light, with the flat side toward the water, glowing sometimes without much change of form, but at other times rising into slender, moving columns, in which an excited imagination might recognize the flaming rigging of a ship. The general explanation offered is that this object is a manifestation of St. Elmo's fire, an electrical phenomenon; but the reason for its appearing only on or near the Chaleur Bay is not known.

Mistress (who has given her maid a ticket for the theatre): "Well, how did you like the performance?" Maid: "Oh, it was splendid, ma'am. You should have heard how a servant girl sauced her missus!"

"I presume, sir," began the young man, timidly, "that you will consider it very presumptuous for a fifty-dollar railroad clerk to apply for your daughter's hand in marriage." "Not at all, my boy," responded Senator Slickguy, kindly. "I daresay your side grafts are quite remunerative."

FORGOTTEN FORCEPS.

Absent-Minded Surgeon Left Pair of Forceps in Woman's Body.

A remarkable case of neglect on the part of a hospital surgeon is mentioned in the British Medical Journal. Dr. Stewart, of Midland Junction, West Australia, records the circumstances of the case. He operated on a woman and found a pair of forceps in her body. The forceps were nearly 5 inches in length, and the width across the handles was about 2 inches, and they had been left in the woman's body after an operation ten and a half years before. "That the forceps should have attained the position in which they were found without causing death is extraordinary." Dr. Stewart writes: "Though the patient's health had been wretched during these years, and a large part of the time spent in bed, it is worthy of notice that she had occasionally felt well enough to participate in dances. I have reason to believe that no record of the former operation can be found in the books of the hospital where it was performed."

In its initial stages a cold is a local ailment easily dealt with. But many neglect it and the result is often the development of distressing seizures of the bronchial tubes and lungs that render life miserable for the unhappy victim. As a first aid there is nothing in the handy medicine line so certain in curative results as Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup, the far-famed remedy for colds and coughs.

A Sure Cure for Headache.—Bilious headache, to which women are more subject than men, becomes so acute in some subjects that they are utterly prostrated. The stomach refuses food, and there is a constant distressing effort to free the stomach from bile which has become unduly secreted there. Parmelee's Vegetable Pills are a speedy alterative, and in neutralizing the effects of the intruding bile relieves the pressure on the nerves which caused the headache. Try them.

MICHAEL FARADAY.

From a humble blacksmith's son, Faraday rose to be one of the most distinguished chemists and natural philosophers in English history. He made great additions to the range of human knowledge in regard to the science of electricity and magnetism. Magneto-electric induction, magnetism of light, diamagnetism, the condensation of gases into fluids and solids, were all Faraday's discoveries. Then, again, Faraday's "Experimental Researches on Electricity" were not only of extreme importance in themselves, but they have been of the utmost consequence to science by leading to the latter-day development of this great force.
