SITUATION IMPROVED

Rural Ontario still has one or two complaints to make about the general wartime situation and its effect on the economy of farm life and the communities supported by farms, but on the other hand Ontario farmers have much more cause to be thankful than they had a few months ago.

The grain market remains about the same. The supply of farm labor is worse than it ever was. Rising prices for livestock and dairy products and the increased demand for these is doing something towards righting the balance between city and country.

In recent weeks advances in price for bacon, supplemented by Government bonuses, has made hog-raising a highly profitable industry. The market has become so stable that the Government has decided to reduce by twenty-five per cent, the consumption of pork products in the Dominion, so that Britain will be assured of a full supply.

The Wartime Prices and Trade Board is encouraging the increase in household preserving and the storage of fruits and vegetables. Commercial canned goods will be largely required for shipment to the United Kingdom and home canning will contribute to price stability in the winter months.

CANADA WILL SACRIFICE

The initial response of Canadians to the appeal, that they cut down their use of gasoline and oil by fifty per cent voluntarily is heart-warming. We have been hearing so much criticism lately to the effect that the average Canadian does not seem to realize that there is a war on. Charges are made right and left that too many of our citizens are selfish and unmindful of the desperate struggle which democracies are having to survive against the onslaught of the dictators. So that when we read that highway traffic has decreased appreciably, thousands of Canadians are leaving their motor cars in their garages, that parking lots in downtown areas of large centres are half empty — all this just a few days after the announcement about the national emergency — we can take heart. Canadians do care. They will sacrifice. The heart of the Dominion is sound.

EDITORIAL NOTES

It is authoritively stated that cutting the speed of an automobile from 60 to 40 miles an hour would mean a saving of ten per cent in the gasoline consumed. The speed limit, as fixed by the Government is fifty miles per hour, but the Ontario Minister of Highways, Mr. McQuesten, is favorable to a reduction of speed to 40 miles an hour, if this can be satisfactorily arranged.

Attorney General Conant is perturbed over the increasing number of traffic fatalities throughout the province and has called a meeting of the Traffic Advisory Committee to study the situation and devise ways and means to remedy the matter. Already fourteen certificates have been presented to wide-awake people for reporting the license numbers of hit-and-run drivers. The giving of awards for the detection of hit-and-run motorists he believed a step in the right direction. He stated that people, both drivers and pedestrians, must be made more conscious of traffic dangers and of their personal responsibilities. In the first six months of 1940 there were 249 traffic fatalities in Ontario, and in the first six months of this year 305, an increas of 22.5 per cent.

Headline says women are filling men's shoes in Great Britain. Sounds like a dirty crack at the size of their feet!

In the horse-and-buggy era a pedestrian was a person who walked. In this automotive age, he is one who jumps and runs.
