THE ADVANCE.

A. R. Fawcett, — Editor.

Tit-Bits.

Consisting of Local and Other Interesting Items gathered by The Advance Reporters.

—Christmas comes on Friday this year—just two weeks from to-morrow.

—There is some talk of building a roller rink here.

—Grey County Council will be in session in Owen Sound this time next week.

—Rev. Mr. Watson, Baptist minister, and wife, have taken up their residence in Flesherton.

—You can get a good pair of Kid Mitts at D. S. Munro's for 50 cents.

—The small boy sleighrides on the sidewalks pretty much as usual, the by-law to the contrary notwithstanding.

—The Racer Cross Cut Saw has cut 17 inch stick in 16 seconds. Get one at RICHARDSON & Co's,

—We would remind those who intend paying their subscriptions to the ADVANCE in wood, that green wood is what we want.

—Patronize the Flesherton barber, Mr. Gardiner. He is a steady, mind-his-own-business, and painstaking workmen, and deserves to be heartily encouraged.

—Splendid assortment of All-Wool Shawls at D. S. Munro's, very cheap.

—Our worthy friend, Lieut. John Field, will have the Flesherton skating rink in good running order at an early date of which due notice will be given!

—The best range of Cross Cut Saws at lowest prices at Richardson & Co's.

—The Presbyterian and Methodist Sabbath Schools are practicing vigorously for their anniversaries, to be held here on Christmas and New Year's evenings respectively.

—Whole stock Kip Boots at D. S. Munro's, very cheap.

—Our Township Fathers met for the last time this year in the Town Hall, Flesherton, last Monday. When shall they five meet again under similar circumstances?

—If you want an Axe, go to Richardson & Co's—the largest & cheapest stock.

—It seems surprising that a dozen eggs now is worth as much as a bushel of potatoes, but such is the case, while butter is remarkably low in price, 13 cents being the highest price paid last week.

—Gentlemen! come and secure a pair of those splendid Telescope Boots at D. S. Munro's.

—Our old friend, Mr. Andrew Roe, is visiting his friends here and in Artemesia this week. He gave us a pleasant call on Tuesday. We never saw friend Andrew looking better.

—Axes from 60 cents up at Richardson & Co's.

—The members of the Reading Room Society, Flesherton, are requested to attend the regular monthly meeting of this institution, which will be held in their room next Monday evening at 7:30 o'clock.

☞Gordon is bound to sell at prices to suit the times. ☞Look:—Long Tug Harness complete from $28 to $34. Short Tugs from $22 to $26, good and substantial. Light Harness and Scotch Collars a specialty, and don't you forget it.

—Notwithstanding the tremendous storm on Saturday and Sunday, a large number of farmers drove into Flesherton on Monday with loads of produce, &c. Our market is enjoying an excellent reputation—the very highest possible prices being paid for all kinds of produce.

☞Farmers, look to the comfort of your horses. At Gordon's Harness Shop will be found a full supply of Horse Blankets, Sursingles, Rugs, Sweat Pads, Curry Combs, & Brushes and a full assortment of Sleigh Bells, cheap: come and get them.

—As will be seen elsewhere, our friend, Mr. Hugh Willis, has joined the Army of the benedicts, by forming a matrimonial alliance with Miss Minnie Armstrong, of Toronto, a sister to Mrs. Jas. G. Brooks of this place. They have taken up their residence in Dundalk. We wish the young couple much happiness.

—Notwithstanding the big storm last Sunday, Rev. Mr. Ayers preached here morning and evening, and made his way in the afternoon to Wesley Church, Meaford Road, where, however, no service was held. Rev. Mr. Wilson came all the way from Markdale through the storm and conducted services as usual in the Presbyterian church here.

—That the firm of M. Richardson & Co., Flesherton, fully appreciate the value of THE ADVANCE as a medium for bringing the merits of their mommoth establishment more prominently before public notice, is apparent from the large space reserved specially for them on this page. Business men who are offering real live bargains always let the fact be known through their local papers.

Roller Flour for Sale.

Those requiring first-class Roller Flour from the famous mills of Mr. Ford, Markdale, will do well to call at the Flesherton Bakery where it is always kept in stock, at reasonable prices.

Renew Your Subscriptions.

The year 1885 is rapidly drawing to a close, and now is the time to renew your subscriptions to THE ADVANCE for 1886, and pay up arrearages. A number have done so already and we hope the most of the others will do so before New Years.

Good News for All.

To my numerous customers and the public generally:—Having put in some of the very latest and improved American machinery for the manufacture of Flour, I feel confident I can give you good satisfaction. Thanking you for your liberal support in the past, which I hope to maintain in the future, I remain, yours respectfully, WM BRADLEY.

Flesherton Mills, Dec. 8, 1885.

Conservative Association.

The members of the East Grey Conservative Association meet in Markdale tomorrow (Friday) for the election of officers and other important business. It is to be hoped that there will be a full attendance, but a great deal depends upon the state of the roads and weather, where people have to drive twenty or thirty miles to attend such meetings. The roads are likely to be good at anyrate.

Auction Sales.

Farm stock, &c., at Lot 38, Con. 2nd S. D. R., Artemesia, on Saturday, Dec. 12th, commencing at 1 o'clock p.m. sharp. 12 months credit on all sums over $5.00. Joseph Watson, proprietor; W. H. Campaigne, auctioneer. See bills.

Farm stock, implements, &c., at Lot 8, Con. 3, Osprey, on Thursday, Dec. 10th, commencing at 1 o'clock p.m. sharp. 12 months credit on all sums over $5. Chas. Derusha, proprietor; A. S. Vandusen, auctioneer. See bills.

"Not Guilty!"

Master Johnnie Myles, who was recently arrested for complicity in the Thornbury post office robbery at the instigation of young Hutchison (who has just been sentenced to five years in penetentiary) has, we are pleased to learn, been completely exonerated, it having been proved that he was in bed in his employer's house at the time of the robbery. He is an employe in the office of our old friend Farewell, of the Thornbury Standard. The train which brought young Myles home from Barrie, where the investigation was held, was met at the Thornbury depot of the N. G. R., by the Band and a large number of citizens, who gave him a most enthusiastic and cordial welcome home.

A Little Blizzard.

The weather wise, "mild winter" prophets had scarcely got tucked in "their little beds" last Friday night when one of the worst snow and wind storms we have had for years came on. It lasted two days and two nights, during which it snowed constantly and the wind shrieked and howled with scarce unabated fury. The culminating point was reached on Sunday afternoon, at which time the elements seemed to have gone mad. The very clouds seemed to have dropped on the earth and were running a wild, harum-scarum race with the furious gales of wind which swept madly onward. If this was the first taste of the "mild winter" prognosticated by the weather wise, "Good Lord deliver us" from the rest!

Banquet and Concert.

A grand Banquet and Concert will be held in the Army Barracks, Feversham, on Friday, Dec. 18th, Readings, Recitations, Singing, Addresses, in which will take part Rev. Mr. Arkells, of Maxwell, Major Sutherland, Mrs. Sutherland and Miss Minnie Ellerby, of the Gospel Army, and others. One of the features of the Concert will be the Salvation Songs in the Indian tongue by the talented young S. S. Capt. Griffis, whose capture by the Indians when quite young and subsequent career amongst them, form a history of thrilling as well as romantic interest. Admission to banquet and concert, 25 cents; children, 15 cents; to concert only 15 cents. Tea served from 5 to 7 p.m., Concert to begin at 8 o'clock. See bills.

To-Night.

The Flesherton Royal Templars of Temperance give a grand entertainment in the Town Hall, Flesherton this (Thursday) evening. From the array of talent on the printed programmes, we should judge that it will be an entertainment of a high character, and the small admission fee, 15 cents, places it within the reach of all to attend. The drama and farce are sufficient attractions themselves to ensure a crowded house, but besides this, Mr. W. J. Benson, of Markdale, will make his first appearance before a Flesherton audience with some comic songs, which are highly spoken of by those who have heard Mr. Benson sing; Mr. J. R. Anderson, the old Flesherton favorite and famous Scottish vocalist, also takes part; and a large number of our best home talent.

Riel's Hair in Mt. Forest.

"On Monday we were shown a lock of hair clipped from the head of Louis Riel; a strand from the rope with which he was hanged, also a couple of pieces of his coffin in which were broken off by his friends when they were opening it after the execution and the corpse had been handed over to them for burial. These interesting relics were sent from Regina by Mr. R. Martin to his brothers in Mount Forest, who presented them to Mr. A. McEwen to be placed in the latter's museum. Any one can see these mementoes of the dead rebel, besides countless other rare curiosities, for the sum of ten cents, at Mr. McEwen's museum adjoining the barber shop."—Mt. Forest Representative. The foregoing may be alright with one exception, viz., the "strand from the rope with which he was hanged," as it is a well known fact that the rope used for hanging Riel was purposely destroyed in order to prevent these barbarous relic hunters obtaining possession of it. We think it very bad taste to place such relics in a museum, whether a public or a private one. Why not place relics in such museums of men who have done some good for their country?

School Inspectors.

Our wide-awake and progressive contemporary, the Meaford Mirror, last week inserted our editorial, re "School Inspectors," in its columns in full, and has this to say about it:—"During the past year much has been said and written in the different papers throughout the County on the subject of School Inspectors Our business not having brought us into personal contact with any of these gentlemen, we were unable to say anything about them, but have watched with interest the contest as carried on by our confreres. The FLESHERTON ADVANCE last week returned to the charge, and for the purpose of drawing out some of our readers, be they teachers, trustees, or those interested in educational matters in any way whatever, we copy the article, and offer a space in our columns to any who may deem the matter of sufficient importance to write about. The arguments of the ADVANCE are plain and to the point, and surely those interested can find plenty of room either to agree or disagree with the same."

School Inspectors.

(Contributed for The Advance.)

It is presumed that, in intelligence, the County of Grey compares favorably with other Counties, and that her Municipal representatives compare correspondingly—and, therefore, it cannot be on the ground of ignorance, the statu quo of the Inspectors is sustained. Other causes and influences co-operate—some have been barely hinted at, but others remain to be mentioned. It was well understood by every (almost every) Councillor, that this important subject was to be on the tapis—in June last—because a committee had been appointed to get what information it could, so that an intelligent report might be submitted at that session. Questions were asked and answers solicited from other Inspectorates, and regarding the Educational qualification necessary, an unanimous reply from at least twenty-five Inspectorates was received, in effect declaring the first and great element required for an Inspector, was an Educational qualification. Such, to be sure, was a natural sequence from men who were fully qualified; but, notwithstanding such a mass of evidence, the question was decided outside of its merits. Let me quote from that portion of the report adopted:

"The duties possible to devolve on Inspectors, therefore, seem to be educationally important, and fraught with important results—such, that no County Council having respect to the educational requirements of the age, can ignore, neither can appoint or continue men in such responsible positions who are educationally unfit.

Your Committee find, that the present incumbents were considered eligible by the Department—not by Educational qualification, but by a provision suffering it to any who had been Township Superintendents prior to the passing of a statute enlarging the jurisdiction of Inspectorates. Your committee believe the time has come for radical changes to meet the altered and advanced condition of our educational system."

The section expunged from the report was in effect, "That the three Inspectorates be reduced to two and that qualified gentlemen be sought to fill the situations, in every case the preference to be given to the present incumbents, by furnishing satisfactory evidence of qualification." This reasonable clause was struck out, notwithstanding the adoption of the principle contended for, showing that some councillors had not the fortitude of their own convictions.

The cause of defeat is not difficult to define. It was, it seems, a life or death issue for one of the Inspectors, and he, I am informed, the least qualified of all—agents more than one were to the fore and lobbied with councillors, tracked them wherever they went like evil spirits—even to intrusion, I had almost said, upon their excursion on the boat. One of the councillors was approached upon political grounds: "He is," naming the Inspector, "a good Conservative & Orangeman," said he; but was repelled with indignation, as if there were not politics sufficient in Provincial and Dominion parliaments without obtruding them upon a question of this nature, where the educational interests of the County are at stake. Shame to the men who dare so to prostitute our Educational Interests.

Another potent agent, which showed the high-spirited gentleman, and the desperation and determination to win at all hazards, was the presence of one of them in person to hear his own condemnation, and to listen to the patronizing excuses and eulogies from his—it is hoped—unwilling supporters.

If this be true—and there is no doubt of it—it should satisfy any honest man, that there was brass enough under that man's hat for a legion, and that the finer feelings of the retiring and graceful gentleman had become morbidly insensitive for the occasion.

It is evident from the foregoing, that notwithstanding the vote of his supporters, a deep sense of injustice to the public was being perpetuated.

It would be presumption to account for details. One is surprised, however, that the town of Owen Sound should have in any degree lent its influence to perpetuate this state of things—consistency should have prevailed whoever suffered thereby. The writer knows that the Educationists—I mean true Educationists—look to the efficiency of their teachers, to the standing of their schools, and wink at special pleading when conflict against higher principles of Education is present: but, contrary to this higher principle, some of her councillors assisted to perpetuate this state of Inspectorial incompetency, and virtually declared, what was good for the Town was not good for the County! So, likewise, it may be said of the representatives of Meaford, who refuse to employ a County Inspector, living in the neighborhood, for divers reasons not necessary to repeat, but did their utmost to return the same Inspector for the Townships!

Then there was the personal canvas by themselves through the Inspectorates, and the pledges of some obtained, who held no mean position in an intellectual point of view, and which makes it the more surprising in representative men; because this consciousness of disqualification is not a hole and corner thing—it is wide-spread; every qualified Teacher will tell you, whose mouth is not shut by one of those magnates, every educated councillor will add his testimony; so, likewise, will Trustees and parents: why then should our representatives continue such ornamental officers, who, in the past no doubt, accomplished all that was desired, but who, in presence of such educational progress, are too far in the rear to effectually discharge their duties.

OBITUARY.

Death of Mrs. Henry A. Bunting, of Philadelphia.

Mrs. Mary A. Bunting, wife of Henry B. Bunting, who was married June 28th, 1858, died Monday last, November 23rd. She was a member of the United Presbyterian Church, Seventeenth and Filbert streets, of which the Rev. Dr. Steele is pastor. Mrs. Bunting possessed more than the ordinary virtues, and her life was a round of the Christian charities. To the poor she was a constant benefactor, and her charities were heavy and constant, as they were unostentatious. Her large circle of friends have felt the blow which, though not unexpected, fell upon them severely, and her husband is completely prostrated with grief. During her long illness he has been a constant attendant at her bedside, and up to the very last remained with her. They had no children, and were all in all to each other. She was buried on Thanksgiving Day in the vault at Mount Moriah Cemetery, and her funeral was largely attended notwithstanding the inclement weather. —Taggart's Sunday Times. (Pa.)

Mrs. Mary A., wife of Mr. Henry B. Bunting, a well-known merchant residing on North Broad street, died last week. The deceased was a most estimable lady, whose deeds of charity were numerous and whose gifts were quietly bestowed. She was a member of the United Presbyterian Church, on Filbert street, near Seventeenth. The kindly sympathies of a large circle of friends have been expressed to Mr. Bunting in his bereavement, as he loses his helpmeet after twenty-seven years of married life.—Philadelphia Record.

[Deceased was a sister to Mrs. Wm. Strain of this place, and a daughter of the late Wm. Bell, Esq., of Glenelg—near Markdale.—ED. ADVANCE.]

Societies.

To the Editor of The Advance.

Mr. Editor,—Your learned correspondent, "Liberal," professes to be well posted on the membership and annual charges of the Societies of this place, and, no doubt, the information afforded, gives himself much satisfaction—however much it diverges from the true total expenses of each. One thing I notice: his aptitude for assigning motives—a characteristic detrimental to confirm him to be what his cognomen would suggest, viz. a true "Liberal."

It is held as an established rule, that a writer who criticises the etymological construction of a sentence, should produce articles above such necessity—but too much of your space would be occupied, to overhaul and point out his weaknesses; besides, that is not my object. If I were enabled to do it cleverly, it would be exceedingly bad taste. I only want information, though the enquiry may be made in blunt, and may be ungrammatical, language.

It is proposed to ask a few questions, which "Liberal," I trust, will answer categorically:

Is the Orange a teaching body for "social" and political life?

Do the several societies stand on a par, for morals and religion, with the churches and sabbath schools? And should they have the same general and liberal support?

Which of the societies named aproximates nearest the churches in its broadness for inculcating morality and sobriety?

Is the insinuation true, that the Sons here, and elsewhere, are composed chiefly of boys and girls, correct? And if so, is the "teaching them correct habits of business" the primary object?

How many adults are there now in connection with the Division of Sons in this place?

What is the rule to adopt, whereby the masses may be impressed as to their duty to support any given society? "Masses" meaning parents and philanthropists.

What relation do Mutual Insurance Societies bear to the public—does the benefit extend in any degree beyond themselves?—If any, where is the limit?

By "Liberal's" own showing, are not the Royal Templar's association—with an annual fee of $15, besides $11 or 12 initiation fee—entirely too expensive and in themselves a bar to general adoption?

Is its object primarily for Temperance diffusion?

By what authority does "Liberal" introduce a supposed difficulty, by two of those societies, into the discussion—a matter with which "Economist" has nothing to do—and thereby disingenuously shifting the ground for offence?

Is it just for any man to continue such large payments and allow his ordinary creditors to go unpaid?

When these questions are categorically answered, some more pertinent matters will be forthcoming.

☞Repairing a specialty. Every job warranted.

To the Stock Raising Public.

In view of the heavy loss we have sustained by the death of our Imported Heavy Draught Stallion, "Garfield"—after only one season's use—and for the purpose of replacing him by another of the same class and of equal merit, if not better, it has been suggested to us by some of the prominent stock raisers of this section of the County, that we devise some scheme whereby an appreciative public could assist sharing the burden of expense and placing us in a position of eventually making good at least in part of our loss, and at the same time secure the benefits to the country that the services of a first-class horse would entail. After careful consideration and through the suggestions of those who take an interest in such enterprises, we have decided to submit for the consideration of the public the following proposition, viz., To give those who desire an opportunity to assist without eventually losing anything, we suggest that parties who are likely to use such a horse for the coming season for breeding purposes, become subscribers to the extent of twelve dollars for each season mare and pay the cash in advance or give a note for thirteen dollars, payable in ten months after date, for which we will give in return a due bill as a lien on the services of the horse for one year; for those not having mares and disposed from public enterprise or sympathy for our loss to help us in the undertaking, and who become subscribers to the amount of twelve dollars in cash or note as above, we will give the privilege of transferring their right of service to any other person they choose, or using the horse the following year. It will be seen that this proposal offers a substantial premium to those who may take advantage of it, as the services of the horses to non-subscribers will be sixteen dollars for the season. With the view of carrying out the above, agreements will be prepared at once by the undersigned and held open for examination and subscribers.

TRIMBLE & PICKELL.

[The above is a perfectly legitimate scheme and has been very successfully carried out in some of the older parts of the Province on several occasions. We hope those interested in the introduction of such a superior class of stock, as that represented by "Garfield," will render these enterprising and public-spirited importers of thorough-bred stock every assistance necessary to enable them to tide over their recent severe loss and secure to this county such another magnificent animal as "Garfield."—ED. ADVANCE.]
