LARGE.—In Flesherton, on the 1st inst., Edgar, third son of Mr. J. W. Large, aged — years.

[Deceased was one of the brightest little fellows in the Methodist Sabbath School here. The sudden death of the dear little scholar has cast a damper over the whole school, and indeed the whole community deeply sympathize and mourn with the bereaved ones the early death of a child so generally beloved. What makes the event the more trying, is the fact, that the much respected father of little Edgar has been seriously ill since the death of his child. He was unable to attend the funeral, which took place on Wednesday of last week. The funeral sermon was preached by Rev. Mr. Ayers on Sunday evening last. The class, to which deceased belonged, attended in a body and occupied front seats. Mr. J. Armstrong, superintendent of the Sabbath School, delivered a most powerful and touching prayer, after which Rev. Mr. Ayers gave a most affecting sermon, when the services were brought to a close by an earnest and beautifully worded prayer by Mr. Joseph Blackburne, superintendent of the Presbyterian Sabbath School.—ED.]

The Bull Fainted.

A red-headed boy had on a new suit of clothes. He fooled around too close to the bull. The bull got mad. The boy did not scare. He caught the boy by the bosom of his pants and rolled him around—vainly trying to get at him. The boy laughed. The bull, exasperated and exhausted, gasped: "I'll bet those clothes were made at LEITCH'S!" He fainted!

Expects a Fortune.

Dame rumor tells us that the wife of Mr. Thos. Cooper, of the 12th con. of the township of Osprey, is likely to be the recipient shortly of a large fortune from some wealthy friends living near London, Ont. We have not heard the amount, but believe it is sufficient to enable the recipient to live in affluence the remainder of her life and leave handsome annuities to her descendants.

Tally One for Flesherton!

A person signing himself, "Kolapore," has the following interesting facts to communicate in last week's issue of the Thornbury Standard:—"On Monday of last week I brought a load of oats to Flesherton and got 34 cents per bushel, and 80 cents a bushel for my wheat. For the same quality of grain I was offered in Thornbury only 32 cents for my oats and 72 cents for my wheat. These are facts." The farmers of Grey will please paste this in their granaries.

A Narrow Escape.

A correspondent says:—"Mr. Alex. Nevins, of Priceville, had a narrow escape recently, while in the employ of Mr. D. McCormick, Reeve of Egremont. He was driving a span of spirited horses one day when the line got under the tongue of the sleigh. Mr. Nevins walked out on the tongue to remove it, when the horses took fright and ran away. He jumped over their backs, securing the lines at the same time, and got them stopped without any injury to himself or team. Had it not been for Mr. Nevin's extraordinary presence of mind, it is difficult to say what might have happened.

Refreshments were served, greetings exchanged, a short but good programme of music gone through with, after which the company dispersed.

FATAL DRUNKEN ROW!

In Owen Sound Between two Colored Men.

From our own Correspondent,

A fatal drunken row occurred last night between two colored men named Roy and Smoots, which resulted in Smoots being killed.

It appears Roy and Smoots went into another colored man's house named Johnston, both under the influence of liquor. Johnston had not returned from work. When he returned, Roy was eating at a table and Smoots made a joke at the quantity of food he was consuming. This led to a quarrel, when Roy attacked Smoots, who knocked him down. Roy got up again, and after wiping the blood off his face, started to go out with an oath on his lips. Smoots hearing this, started in pursuit, when Roy turned on him and with some sharp instrument, gave him a terrible cut behind the ear. Smoots was taken in the house and a doctor sent for, but before he arrived Smoots expired. Roy returned to his home where he was arrested and lodged in gaol to await the result of the inquest. Roy is the murdered man's father-in-law.

A Eugenia Dialogue.

From our own Correspondent.

The following is a fair sample of the dialogues often renewed of late between citizens of Eugenia and their country cousins when they meet:—

COUNTRYMAN.—Good day, my friend Citizen; how's business over at Eugenia?

CITIZEN.—The day's compliments in return and business is about as usual—not over brisk.

COUNTRYMAN.—By the way, you must have lively times at Eugenia. Say, is it true Davy Madill of Osprey paid you a flying visit some few days ago and hitched up at the hotel awhile, and while there took a bag of wheat out of Scott Jamison's sleigh and got away with it.

CITIZEN.—Yes, I believe that is true.

COUNTRYMAN.—And report says Jamison, after missing his wheat, hitched a horse in a cutter and got a well-known citizen to go with him, and overtook Davy some two miles out of town, stopped him and requested Davy to give up the wheat.

CITIZEN.—Yes, so I understand, from good authority.

COUNTRYMAN.—And they told me Davy at first denied it, but it was fished out from under the seat board. Then my lord tried to make it appear that he found it. But that story was not credited and he finally acknowledged he took it but he did not know it was Jamison's.

CITIZEN.—I believe you have facts as they are.

COUNTRYMAN.—Now, what do you call that crime? Is it purloining, stealing, or perchance kleptomania?

CITIZEN.—Well, I think it resolves itself down to a case of common larceny, modified by the plea of "Well-I-took-it-but-don't-say-anything-about-it—I-didn't know-it-was-yours."

COUNTRYMAN.—Well, well, what is the place coming to—why, one won't be able to drive in there with anything takable.

CITIZEN.—Oh yes! come along, keep your Winchester breech-loader loaded, and your eyes open!

COUNTRYMAN.—That's all very well, but why don't the people expose such practical jokes—why it's downright rascality.

CITIZEN.—Of course that course would be only justice to the public; but understand, the law-abiding people of Eugenia don't cherish the acquaintance of the rag-tail and bob-tail of Osprey or anywhere else for that matter, and if the town was incorporated and had a staff of police, such jokers would be accommodated with a pair of bracelets and be made acquainted with the interior of the restraining, reforming strongholds of masonery and iron somewhere.
