FLESHERTON:

THURSDAY, MAR. 25, 1886.

SCHOOL SITE.

The meeting in the Flesherton schoolhouse, last Saturday afternoon, to take into consideration the Trustees selection of a site for the erection of a new schoolhouse here was very largely attended by ratepayers. Mr. Geo. Dinwoody was appointed chairman, and Mr. R. J. Sproule secretary. The real object of the meeting was for a time almost completely lost sight of in a spirited, not to say hot, discussion which arose concern the establishment of branch schools. Our friends at the Station seemed divided upon the question of a school out there. While Mr. Hogg and others favored strongly a branch school out there engaging a third class teacher and renting a room, Mr. Purdy, the Station Postmaster, vehemently and scornfully scouted the idea, and said that nothing but a first class teacher would meet with his views. Mr. Hogg thought there was no necessity whatever for a new school at Flesherton, "Valentine Muggins" or anybody else to the contrary notwithstanding, but it was necessary to establish a branch school at the Station. Mr. Purdy's views were strongly put—in fact he thought the Flesherton people would be devils if they did not conform to his opinions. A considerable difference of opinion existed upon this point. Dr. Christoe's explanation—delivered in a most calm and gentlemanly manner—that no school could be sustained without property assessed to the extent of say $12,000, brought Mr. Robt. Cook to his feet with the remark that they could show an assessment of over $30,000, by including one of the back lines. Mr. Purdy said he knew a school—which was still in existence—well sustained by an assessment of $10,000.

A remark by Dr. Christoe that definite action in the matter be postponed for a time in order to allow fuller discussion, drew from Mr. Roger Lever the statement that intelligent Christian people ought to be prepared now to do their duty. Mr. Purdy's countenance was illuminated by a broad smile at this remark, and his stentorian "hear, hear," showed how pleased he was with the sentiment just expressed. Mr. John Teeter thought if fair play were done, the North would get a branch school too.

Mr Hogg reiterated that he thought there was no necessity for a new schoolhouse in Flesherton, but that branch schools should be established at the Station and in the North end of the section.

Mr. Purdy.—"We want a first-class teacher. (laughter.)

Mr. Richardson pointed out in graceful and forcible language the difference of opinion which existed between Mr. Hogg and Purdy—both gentlemen living at the Station.

Mr. Purdy, with fire flashing from his eyes, jumped to his feet and was interrupting Mr. Richardson, when called to order by the Agricultural Editor of the ADVANCE, "By what right, sir, do you call me to order?" thundered Mr. Purdy, gazing fiercely at the A. E.

"By the right of a ratepayer, sir," retorted the A. E., whereupon Mr. Purdy dropped into his seat and allowed the speaker to proceed. He then apologized for the interruption to Mr. Richardson, who, with a smile, calmly continued his remarks.

Mr. Sinclair explained that some of the pupils in the North had three miles to walk to school, while the Station people only had two miles to walk at the farthest.

Dr. Christoe said that the proper mode of procedure was the legal way, viz., to petition the Township Council. (applause.)

Mr. Hogg moved, seconded by Mr. Robt. Cook, that the new schoolhouse be not proceeded with.

Dr. Christoe explained that the motion was out of order, for that the Trustees had full authority to erect a new schoolhouse.

Mr. Hogg then moved, seconded by Mr. Cook, that a site be not chosen today.

Mr. Damude explained that the present schoolhouse was condemned, and that the Trustees had a right to choose a site, and had done so. It simply remained for the ratepayers to say whether they approved of the choice the Trustees had made, or select one for themselves. Failing to agree, the matter would have to go to arbitration.

Mr. Hogg wanded a plain yes or no about the branch schools.

Mr. Damude said he was decidedly opposed to any such thing, on account of the great cost which would be entailed. It would also involve an endless amount of trouble.

Mr. Richardson was also opposed to branch schools on somewhat similar grounds.

Mr. Pickell endorsed the remarks of the other Trustees, and added that there was the most urgent necessity for a new schoolhouse. Our school was overcrowded, and in the past our Teachers had been laboring under a serious disadvantage, and our pupils had consequently not made that progress which would have resulted had there been proper accommodation.

Mr. Vandusen moved, seconded by Mr. J. Whitten, that the Trustees selection of site—on grounds on hill nearly opposite Drill Shed—be sustained.

Mr. Hogg, in amendment, moved, seconded by Mr, Robt. Cook, that a site be not selected to-day, with a view to inducing the Trustees to reconsider the advisability of establishing branch schools.

Mr. Lever, in amendment to the amendment, moved, seconded by Mr. Henry Mathewson, that a site be chosen on the North side of Mr. N. Campbell's residence.

Mr. Vandusen's motion carried.

OBSTREPOROUS HANLEY.

Mr. Wm. C. Hanley's second letter re "Military Discipline," is quite as scurrillous and base as his first. A drowning man, they say, will catch at a straw in order to save himself: so Mr. Hanley introduces matter totally foreign to the subject at issue, in order—as is most evident—to deceive the public as to the real facts in the military cases in which he was such a sorry figurehead. Our editorial on "Military Discipline" was in perfect accordance with the facts developed at the magistrates court, as an investigation will prove. It will not do to merely assert that we do not know whether he read the notice to volunteers to present themselves for annual drill, which was prominently inserted in the ADVANCE. What we want and what the public has a right to expect, is a plain yes or no to our statement—not a jargon of scurrillous personalities He evades a direct answer, and it is not out of place for us to assume that in this particular he finds himself in a corner from which no amount of evasion will free him. He had, therefore, notice to attend annual drill, and, failing to do so, was guilty of a serious breach of military discipline, which in itself is a sufficient confirmation of all we have said in the matter. We stated facts, let Mr. Hanley vilify us and bluster as he choose.

Mr. Hanley characterizes our second editorial on this subject ("Military Discipline") as "one of the most absurd and lying articles which has appeared in his useless and scandalizing sheet of trash for some time." All the same, Mr. Hanley, you have not disproved one statement in that article: more, you cannot, for we spoke the truth. As to the assertion that the ADVANCE is a "scandalizing sheet of trash," we cannot forbear smiling—it is so like the language of a man who has been so hard hit that he cannot return the blow in like manner, and therefore adopts the snivelling of the whipt coward.

He "intended to stop his subscription as soon as out and would never have taken it at all had Fawcett not come out to me here and induced me to take it." The first part of this quotation may be alright, but Mr. Hanley makes it appear that the Editor of this paper went out to his place—some seven or eight miles, perhaps more, from Flesherton—expressly to solicit his patronage. This is not true. We were passing by his farm on our way to Mr. Edw. Hanley's, and not knowing the way, want across a field by the roadside to where Mr. Wm. C. Hanley was working, and made enquiry. After obtaining the desired information, we casually asked Mr. Hanley to become a subscriber to the ADVANCE. He said he had been thinking of taking it ever since we came to Flesherton, and told us to put his name down. These are facts which challenge successful contradiction.

In reference to himself or one of his household not "lifting" any copies of the ADVANCE since Jan. we are quite indifferent. It is sufficient for us to know that he manages to see the ADVANCE occasionally—even since Jan. 1st—and, further, we are safe in assuming, that he peruses it with considerable interest too. He can sponge the reading, also, without having to pay for the privileges. "So if I had been lifting papers I would have seen it." How did you come to see our editorial "No 1" then, which was published long after your alleged "lifting" of papers was discontinued?

"Now Mr. Editor, I would like to know how several copies of ADVANCE, issued weekly, could appear in a month," asks Mr. Hanley. Very easily, as there are several weeks in a month, Mr. Hanley. Please ask a harder question next time.

"It looked pretty much like forcing when he came out here to my farm and induced me to take it, by giving a big reduction, and then it was too dear." Mr. Hanley does not give himself much credit for either bravery or shrewdness in the above quotation, which conveys a decidedly false impression. As our readers are well aware, we often advertise—in common with other papers—special reductions during the last half of any year. Mr. Hanley got the benefit of our special rate at that time, and which rate was publicly announced in our local news and advertising columns. Many others subscribed at the same time.

Coming back from these petty side issues, of which Mr. Hanley's letter is chiefly composed, we find the following statement relative to the real facts at issue:—"The principal reason I settled it (the case) was, the case did not appear to be half through on that day and I did not want bringing my witnesses back again." This is a very lame excuse when we consider that Mr. Hanley allowed his lawyer to raise a most trifling legal technicality on the first day of the magistrates sitting, and the witnesses were obliged to come "back again"—which, had Hanley over-ruled the technicality, would not of necessity have followed. In the end, of course, Mr. Hanley had to "pay the piper." And, notwithstanding all his bluster and abusive language, he agreed to settle the case and he paid all the costs in the matter, and he cannot deny it.

In regard to the egg business, Mr. Hanley thinks it mean of us to "advise what he is afraid to attempt himself." Perhaps, Mr. Hanley, you might have occasion to speak in a different strain if we were to "attempt" it ourself. You should never judge others by yourself—but you do in this case. The whale is big, soft, and full of blubber, but the little sword-fish can down his whaleship every time.

This second attack upon Lieut. Field is cowardly, seeing that that gentleman has not deigned a reply. Lieut. Field is a gentleman who has been too long in the service of his Queen and country, to stoop to apply the well-deserved lash to a person who can glory—if he will—in the fact that he has been arrested as a deserter. For our own part, we have proved that Mr. Hanley has not only misrepresented us and introduced basely false side issues, totally outside the subject under discussion, but that he has sought to evade a direct yes or no to our plain and direct charges against him. We confidently leave the whole in the hands of an intelligent and discerning public, knowing that they will readily discover the difference between bald and unfounded assumption, and positive and properly authenticated facts. In short, we have not made a statement which we cannot sustain in the honest and enlightened court of public opinion.

"What is good for a cold?" is a question often asked, but seldom satisfactorily answered. We can answer to the satisfaction of all, if they will follow our advice and try Hagyard's Pectoral Balsam, a safe, pleasant and certain throat and lung healer. Sold by all druggists.

A SOURCE OF GREAT TROUBLE.—Probably the most prolific source of chronic ills is indigestion or dyspepsia, causing unhealthy blood. Yet taken in time it is positively curable. Burdock Blood Bitters has cured some of the worst cases known, even of 15 years' duration. If troubled with indigestion try it.

Such a remedy is best found in Hagyard's Yellow Oil for internal and external use. It cures rheumatism, sore throat, croup, neuralgia, lame back, sprains, bruises and burns.

IN GOOD REPUTE.—James McMurdoch, writing from Kinsale, says:—"B.B.B., as a remedy for diseases of the blood, liver and kidneys, has an excellent reputation in this locality. I have used it, and speak from experience as well as observation. It is the only medicine I want, and I advise others afflicted to try it."

HEADACHE, BILIOUSNESS.—"Whenever I feel out of sorts, bilious, my liver not working right, or racked with a headache, I take Chase's Liver Cure There is more real benefit from one dose of your Liver Cure than in many bottles of some medicines.—John McNasser, Bond Head.

NATIONAL PILLS are the favorite purgative and anti-bilious medicine; they are mild and thorough.

THERE IS NOTHING LIKE IT.—There is no one remedy offered to suffering humanity whose use is so universally and frequently required as Hagyard's Yellow Oil, for rheumatism, neuralgia, colds, sore throat, deafness, croup, lumbago, and aches, pains, lameness and soreness of all kinds, when internally and externally used.

WORMS often destroy children, but Freeman's Worm Powders destroy Worms, and expel them from the system.

A GREAT AWAKENING.—There is a great awakening of the sluggish organs of the human system whenever Burdock Blood Bitters are taken. It arouses the torpid liver to action, regulates the bowels and the kidneys, purifies the blood, and restores a healthy tone to the system generally.

TO REMOVE DANDRUFF.—Cleanse the scalp with Prof. Low's Magic Sulphur Soap. A delightful medicated soap for the toilet.

GOOD VALUE.—Many sufferers buying medicine have been disappointed, don't give up—buy a reliable article like Dr. Chase's Liver Cure, and with it you get a recipe book alone worth the money.
