—A large consignment of Field and Garden Seeds, Turnips, Carrots, Timothy, Clover, &c., at Richardsons Drug Store.

—Auction sale of Saw Mill, &c., at Flesherton Station, commencing at 12 o'clock, noon, on Tuesday, April 13th. For full particulars, see bills. A. S. Vandusen, auctioneer.

—Do not be deceived into getting any other Spectacles than the B. Laurance. For sale by Russell, Flesherton.

—East Grey Agricultural Society's Spring Show will be held on the Society's grounds here on Thursday, April 29th, For prize list and full particulars see posters just issued.

—Mr. Sullivan, our tinsmith, now keeps for sale, besides his usual lines, Paints, Oils, Varnishes, Dry Lead in all colors, Coal Oil, and painter's and glazier's materials generally, —Of course every one knows that Russell is the man to take your Watch to be repaired. A first-class job every time. Russell, Flesherton.

—There will be another school-meeting on Saturday afternoon next, at 3 o'clock, to consider report of committee appointed at last meeting, and for the purpose of authorizing Trustees to apply to Council to issue debentures for new school house.

☞6 per cent. Money loaned on Farm or Town Property at lowest rates of interest. Apply to R. J. SPROULE, P. M., Flesherton.

—Auction sale of farm stock, implements, &c., at Lot 134, 2nd range West, T. & S. Road, Artemesia, commencing at 1 o'clock p. m., on Monday, April 12th. 9 months credit on all sums over $5. Amos Doupe, proprietor; A. S. Vandusen, auctioneer. See bills.

—Another immense stock of Watches, Clocks and Jewelry, just arrived Russel's Noted Jewelry Store, Flesherton, all of the very finest quality and at prices that defy competition.

—It is rumored that an application will shortly be made to our Township Council for another hotel license for Flesherton. It is alleged, we believe, that our present hotel does not furnish adequate accomodation to the travelling public. We had always thought otherwise.

—I do not pretend to be the only honest Jeweller in this county, but I will guarantee to sell you first class Watches, Clocks and Jewelry, at lower prices than any one else, because I buy them from my brother, therefore saving the large wholesale profits that other dealers have to pay.

—During the stay of Miss Bowes—the cultured and excellent representative of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union—in Flesherton, she was the guest of Mrs. Thos. Leitch. We shall be delighted to hear Miss Bowes lecture in this place again at some future time.

—Spring Prints, and Dress Goods are going out lively at Richardson & Co's, and no wonder—patterns, shades and all combine to please purchasers.

—Flesherton cattle fair, last Monday, was largely attended as usual. There was quite a number of milch cows on the market, some of which were disposed of at current prices. There was a good demand for fat cattle, but not many offered. The fat cattle for sale were fairish in quality, and some of them were held at fancy prices.

—Any of our readers, who are astronomically inclined, should read the questions, in poetical form, in another column. If they cannot answer them satisfactorily, we suppose we shall have to call up our annihilator of Spring poets. However, this will be only a last resource—something we resort to in extreme emergencies only.

—New advertisements in this issue (not including local notice ads.):—Auction Sale, Jones Bros. & Mackenzie; Auditor's Abstract, Township of Artemesia; Lumber and Lath for sale, Angus McLeod; J. McCullough, Barrister, Solicitor, &c., Markdale; Potatoes for sale, John H. Heard. Always refer to our advertising and local columns when you want any kind of information.

—The rolling stock of the C. P. R. represents a very large item, By a report recently brought down the company is shown to have 245 engines, 78 first-class cars, 33 second-class cars, 48 baggage and mail cars, 25 sleeping and palace cars, 10 immigrant sleepers, 4386 platform freight cars, 1867 box and cattle cars, 126 conductors' vans, pay cars, etc., 8 derrick coal cars and 19 snowplows.

—Don't forget the right place to buy Nails, Hinges, Glass, and all kinds of Builder's Hardware, M. Richardson & Co.

—Mr. John Gordon, one of our popular harness-makers, has been sending quite a few sets of harness to parties in the North-West during the past few months. Last week he sent a very handsome and well made set of harness to your young friend, Mr. Geo. Higginbotham, of Hill View, Manitoba.

—Nobby suitings, in Tweeds, Worsteds, and Velvets. Piles at Richardson & Co's. See them.

—Many were pleased to see the genial countenance of our esteem'd friend Major Sutherland, last Saturday at the school meeting; but were delighted to have him in their midst during the services on Sunday. In the evening, after the regular service, the Major gave one of his interesting and instructive Bible readings, with practical and clearly illustrated comments thereon.

☞R. J. Sproule, money lender, Flesherton, is agent for that old and honorable dealing company, "The Canadian Permament Loan and Savings Company, Toronto. He has any quanity of Money to lend at lowest rates of interest. Mortages bought and changed, when expiring or bearing a high rate of interest, to a much lower. Apply to R. J. SPROULE, Postmaster & Conveyancer, Flesherton.

—Miss Bowes delivered an excellent lecture in the basement of the Methodist church here, last Friday evening, to a very large audience. Dr. Christoe occupied the chair, and introduced the lecturer in a graceful little speech, Rev. Mr. Ayers moved, and Mr. Thos. Leitch seconded, a vote of thanks to the lady, which was carried unanimously. A large and influential "Women's Christian Temperance Union" was organized, of the workings of which we shall no doubt be informed from time to time through these columns.

—A thoughtless boy with a shining pail went singing gaily down the dale, to where a sad-eyed cow with a brindle tail on clover sweet did herself regale. A bumble bee did gaily sail over the soft and shadowed vale, to where the boy with the shining pail was milking the cow with the brindled tail. The bee lit down on the cow's right ear, her heels flew up through the atmosphere—and through the leaves of a big oak tree the boy sailed into eternity.

—A large number of our citizens and farmers visited the Canadian Pacific Railway Co's Manitoba and North-west railway car, containing samples of grain grown in that vast and fertile portion of our Dominion, on Thursday last. The car was in charge of the genial Ed. A. Bailey, Emigration Commissioner for Manitoba. The visitors were treated with the utmost courtesy, and questions were answered in the most satisfactory manner, The exhibit of grain was grand, and gave a faint idea of the immense resources of our Canadian North-West. Next week we will publish a Manitoba farmer's experience of "Dakota and the North-Western States," clipped from the North-West Vindicator.

—Some night in the early part of last week two or three tramps—supposed to be such—broke a pane of glass in one of the basement windows of the Presbyterian church here, unlatched the window, and crawled into the building. They cooly put a fire in a small stove (used at tea meetings and socials) and left unmistakeable evidence of the fact that they passed the night comfortably and sociably. The caretaker, Mr. Wm. Neil, first discovered the fact on Thursday evening, when he found a 10 cent plug of chewing tobacco, a 10 cent plug of smoking tobacco, two cigar stubs, burnt matches, &c. strewn around the stove. The tramps (?) went out as they came in, carefully latching the window after them. The only damage done was the broken pane of glass, but probably the tobacco will defray expenses. The tramps were evidently very gentlemanly fellows.

—Don't mortgage your farm until you have called on M. Richardson. All business enquiries confidential.

—On Sunday afternoon, the 21st ult., as Mr. Elijah Page, jr., of Melancthon, was going from his farm on the 3rd line to his father's on the 2nd line, and passing through a bush, he met a large bear sitting on a fallen tree. Mr. Page being entirely defenceless, started to walk backwards from the bear, at the same time keeping his eyes fixed upon him. After getting a good distance from Bruin he started to run, the bear at the same time giving chase. He was chased for about three hundred yards, when on looking back he saw the bear close upon him. He then started to run around a tree with the bear after him, when a limb in a tree near by broke and fell down. This frightened Bruin, who immediately stopped, and Mr. Page seizing the opportunity again took to his heels. The bear again gave chase and followed him till he got to the clearing, when the animal stopped. When Mr. Page reached the house he was completely exhausted. A number of men started in pursuit of the bear, but he has not been captured.—Shelburne Economist.

MILLINERY OPENING!
Thursday, April 1st.

—Millinery, full lines, beautiful and seasonable goods at Richardson & Co's.

—A laughable story comes from that classic locality the Dog's Nest. Constable Moore, accompanied by a warrant and two other officers, proceeded thither on Friday to arrest one of the Carrolls for alleged complicity in the Hannah robbery. The boys were not at home just then, the old lady being the sole occupant of the mansion. Seeing a small trap door leading into the cellar Moore concluded that his man was there and descended into the darkness. A heavy breathing was distinctly audible and in confident tones Moore remarked, "Now then Jim, come on, I've got you now," or words to that effect. Mrs. Carroll advised him to be careful as a large bear was confined in that same cellar, but Moore was not to be put off by any such fooling. "Bear me arm" he said, but just then Mrs. C. handed down a lantern and in three seconds Moore was upstairs, white as a bleached napkin. The bear was there.—Beeton World.

—Did it ever strike you that Richardson & Co. are showing a larger range of Dress Goods than is usually found in largest dry goods stores, and as low in price as any.

ANOTHER MURDER!

A Keppel Farmer and his Hired Man Murdered in their House.

(From Owen Sound Advertiser.)

Last Thursday intelligence was received here that the building of John Baily in Keppel had been burnt and two bodies consumed in the conflagration. Dr. Fisher of Wiarton visited the scene, and after viewing the bodies thought it well to hold an inquest which was accordingly done before Coroner Cameron. The result of the inquest was to reveal the fact that the two men had been foully murdered in their house by some unknown person, and the house afterwards fired to cover up, if possible all clue to the perpetrators. Bailey had been in Wiarton during the day and returned home late in the evening. His horses were found in the stable unharnessed. The bodies of both Bailey and the hired man bore evidence of atrocious treatment; a gash four inches long was found on the right side of Bailey's neck, severing all the leading blood vessels. A heavy blow had also been inflicted on the forehead which completely crushed it in and caused the brain to exude. The skull of the hired man was battered in, three ribs cut off near the backbone, and the left arm broken. The Coroner's Jury concluded after the examination of a number of witnesses that the men had been murdered but no clue as to the actors in foul deed was discovered. The following is the evidence of one of the nearest neighbors, and who was in the habit of cooking for Bailey and otherwise attending to the house for him.

Helen McLary, sworn.—I am daughter of Mary McLary and nearest neighbor to deceased; knew deceased house was burned last Thursday evening; there were just Bailey and the stranger living in the house at the time of the fire; was in the habit of cooking Bailey's meals; was in Bailey's house twice on Thursday, first at noon to cook dinner; the stranger was not in when I went over; there was no else in Bailey's house except Bailey, the stranger and myself; I went there next about five o'clock to make supper; Geo. Weir came in while I was there; I was at Bailey's altogether about an hour; Geo. Weir came in when I had nicely got the fire lit; after a few minutes he left and went over to our place; no one else was there while Weir was there; Weir asked if Bailey was in, nothing else; I could not tell how long I remained after Weir left; the stranger came in while I was there; I left as soon as he came in; Weir was not at our house; mother told me Weir had gone over to Mark Prestons; no one else was in the house except Bailey and Weir; mother went to the door and first told us the house was on fire; I did nothing but went to the door; I was prepairing to go to bed; I did not think Bailey could be in the house because Bailey told me at noon that it would likely be late before he got back; did not go to the fire because I had my shoes off and did not think it was any use; it was after night; could not get my sister to go with me and would not go alone; Bailey was very friendly with me: James King and deceased had a spat about two weeks ago; the spat was outside; it was about myself; I heard some sharp words; they did not come to blows; Mr. Bailey was using some sharp words; the quarrel commenced in the house; King came in the house at that time; there was no one in the house except my mother, sister Mary, brother Charles and my father; King thought I liked Bailey better than him, and that is what made King mad; do not know of any other quarrel between them; do not know of King being in the neighborhood since he left; my brother Geo. was not at my mothers house the night of the fire; do not know of any other person that had any feelings against Bailey; on Thursday deceased wore grey full cloth pants and vest and duck smock; this is a fairly good plan of the house; (exhibit a plan); sometimes I went in by the front door, I kept the key of it; deceased always used back or side door going into workshop; when I went over that night to make tea, the axe was lying over a log to the east of the house; there was no axe around the stove; I saw a gun in the house that evening up stairs in the strangers bedroom, over deceased's bed, against partition, almost over Bailey's bed; The spat between King and deceased commenced about some stories King had been telling about Bailey, this was on the day King left our place; King left our place on the night of the quarrel; we heard he had gone home; it is about four or five miles east of our place; do not know whether he was a farmer or not; King was about 23; the stranger was cutting wood for Mr. Bailey; do not know his man; was a large man; heard deceased was lame; do not know if he could use both arms or not; know John C. Bailey was a married man; knew he had a wife living; went out driving twice with him; never stayed all night at deceased's house.

VERDICT.

That the said John Bailey and an unknown, came by their death on the 25th day of March, 1886, on lot 4, township of Keppel, 20th con., by being wilfully and maliciously murdered by some person or persons at present unknown to the jury.

Kimberley.

To the Editor of The Advance.

Dear Sir,—Allow me space in your valuable paper for a few remarks anent that thriving village, called Kimberley. Business is booming, notwithstanding the cry of hard times. Preparations are being made for the erection of a number of dwellings, to be built during the summer. We are pleased to note that Mr. J. R. Fawcett has built a sidewalk in front of the lot on Main street, which is a step in the right direction. The ambitious citizens are bound to follow suit. They expect in a short time to have a sidewalk from one end of the village to the other. We wonder that Kimberley did not have a sidewalk long ago, when such hamlets as Thornbury and Flesherton have had them so long.

Mr. Thurston purposes having a taffy pull of maple sugar on Friday, April 9th. A pleasant time is expected. Vocal and instrumental music will be in attendance.

Mr. Stewart, J. P, has been on a visit to the city, and has just returned home. We presume he gave the members of the local house a straightening up about unnecessary expenditures, &c.

We understand a man here is grumbling very much because his neighbor built a slab fence so high as to completely shut the light away from his windows—a neighborly trick.

A TRAVELLER.

The Chief Need of Ontario.

To the Editor of the Advance.

As our older woods decrease, there will be apparently but one means generally used to give the country shelter, that is long rows of evergreens will be planted. This is what has been found most successful. It is necessarily far more successful than maples or other deciduous trees, for these only give shelter in Summer, while it is in winter they will be greatly needed here. The state of Ontario in winter, if the woods disappear as rapidly as they are going, and nothing is planted to replace them, will be far worse than that of a cold prairie country. Many people in Quebec, and some in Ontario, have left their farms because of the bleak winds of winter and spring, which now render dwelling in the homestead disagreeable and unhealthy.

There are ample means of shelter, if we use the few years before the woods are quite gone in procuring it. Young evergreens—pine, cedar, and the spruces—can be had in great numbers in some localities, and will transplant easily when small. When in after years, a line of these has arrived at a good growth, it forms a high, solid, beautiful wall of living green, summer and winter, and is of such value to a farm, in preventing too rapid drying out in summer, and is keeping off cold blasts in winter, that I never knew an individual who, having once grown such a protection, would have it cut down for a thousand dolllars.

In the States people are commencing to go very largely into these schemes of field protection, and consequently the growth of evergreen seedlings is carried on on very large scales by some of their nursery men. In Wankegan, Illinois, lately, I saw the nursery beds of Mr. Douglass, perhaps the chief evergreen planter of the States where they are grown by millions, and sold in vast quantities every year. One way in which they are sent great distances is to sell them when but four to six inches high, when four or five thousand can be packed in a small space. The buyer, on getting these, plants them sometimes in his garden, and transplants in two years, or places them at once in the line where he wants them, and as they can be planted close at fisst, there are plenty to spare in a couple of years to fill up the gaps if any fail. These are sold at very low prices, three to six dollars a thousand, and go to all parts of the country. If there were a good demand in Ontario, I have no doubt our own nursery men could grow them as cheaply.

But, so far, there are yet a vast quantity of young evergreens to be found in the woods or in the fields near them. In early spring, when the roots were kept moist, I have known them transplanted with great success. The best time is the first week in June, but that is so hurried a season that it is better to risk some loss now. If they be taken up young, say under a foot high, with plenty of earth adhering, they will grow well, at least, I know many instances where they have succeeded.

Yours &c.,
R. W. PHIPPS.

Toronto, March 27th, 1886.

Kimberley.

From our own Correspondent,

Squire Stuart who has been on a trip to the City, has returned.

The side-walk question is again being agitated in Kimberley, and we think this time it will amount to more than wind, as Mr. J. R. Fawcett has already laid down 4 or 5 rods across his lot & a number of others intend to follow suit.

Mr. Buchan has been kindly erecting blinds over the windows of Mr. Hammond's dwelling for the purpose of screening his premises from the inquisitive gaze of the inmates of said domicile. Of course Mr. Buchanan is applauded by the public for such an act.

It is reported that Mr. Condy intends leaving Kimberley at the end of the present license year.

Mrs. James Magee has been quite ill for some time.

From our own Correspondent,

(Following was received too late for our last issue.—Ed.)

Mr. Robt. McQuay intends building a large bank barn this summer.

The social held here under the auspices of the Gospel Band was a grand success. Mr. W. Haines occupied the chair. The readings and recitations were well rendered Proceeds $32.85.

Mr. John Reddick has purchased the farm formerly belonging to Mr. John Scott.

A joint stock company will erect a cheese factory about 2 miles south of here. Mr. F. Irish has the contract.

Mr. W. Jordan has moved to his farm in Osprey.

Mr. Jeremiah Taylor, who has been ill for some time, is slowly improving.

Mr. W. Nicholl intends putting a lintel to his barn and erecting a large frame shed next summer.

Fire in Shelburne.

SHELBURNE, Ont., April 6.—The Royal block, owned by Mr. Jelly, has been destroyed by fire. Loss $15,000, insured for $5000 in the Waterloo Mutual. Jessop & Hogg, dry goods and groceries, loss $7500, insured for $2000; Joy & Mason, loss $20,000, insured for $2000 in the City of London, Glascow $1000, Royal $1000, Caledonian $1000; I. F. Tuck, Royal hotel, loss $4000, insured in the Northern for $2000.

A Case of Conscience.

Little boy—"Ma, hain't I been real good since I begun goin' to Sunday school?"

"Yes, my lamb," answered the mother, fondly.

"And you trust me now, don't you, ma?"

"Yes, darling."

"Then, what makes you keep the cookies locked up in the pantry the same as ever?"

A Discovery in Astronomy.

Two little tots aged perhaps five or six years were standing beside a front gate a few evenings ago. Said one, gazing upward: "What do you s'pose the stars are?" "Well," said the other "I dess they are the sun's chickies. Don't you know papa says the sun sets?" The suggestion seemed to be satisfactory, as both ceased their astronomical observations and devoted their attention to entertaining a small black dog.

Questions in Astronomy.

If the sun, by attraction, holds the earth in its place,
As it spins like a top through the regions of space,
What kept it in position, will you please to decide,
When it was covered with water, in darkness and void
When the sun was not made, and the moon not now,
And God's spirit moved over the water alone?

If the earth is a ball, as the learned define,
Commence on the apex, and run a straight line
Twenty-four miles and six furlongs, and set a post there;
The line shall be level, on the earth, or in the air;
Suppose it is for a railroad, laid out with true skill,
How wide is the embankment, and how deep the fill.

Sports and Pastimes.

LACROSSE.

The young men of our village have organized a club, for the practice of our national game, with the following officers:

W. C. Henrick, President.
C. J. Sproule, Sec.-Treas.
W. A. Milburn, Captain.

The name given the club is, "The Pioneers," of Flesherton. They start well numerically and financially, and have on hand a full supply of all the requisites for the practice of the game. They are anxiously looking for good weather. Success to the Pioneers.

BASE BALL.

Nothing has been done as yet by our Base Ball Club owing to unfavorable weather.

"Goldfinder."

This beautiful trotting stallion is the property of Messrs. Hannah & McGirr. He has a record of 2:29¼ already, and the proprietors are confident he will beat this before the snow flies. Those interested in good trotting stock should see this noble animal, winner of the Stallion Race at the Industrial Exhibition, Toronto, last fall, and a large number of other hotly contested races during the past few years. A full description of "Goldfinder," together with his pedigree, and a list of his performances, will be found on cards just issued from this office. Mr. R. Hannah, Flesherton Station P. O., will furnish you with one on application.
