FLESHERTON:
THURSDAY, APRIL 22, 1886.

MR. JENKINS.

Mr. Jenkins of the Durham Chronicle, desires us to state through the columns of the ADVANCE, that he will be happy to meet the Conservatives of Artemesia in Flesherton, on Thursday next, the 29th inst., if agreeable and state his position to them. Those who may not have heard Mr. Jenkins deliver an address in public, will, on the occasion named, have a chance to hear him. We bespeak for him a courteous reception at the hands of the Artemesia Conservatives.

THE IRISH QUESTION.

Dr. Armstrong's letter in this issue of the ADVANCE will be read with much interest by our readers generally. It is the sentiments of one who has but recently journeyed through a portion of that land so dear to every true Irishman, and therefore comes to us fresh and unmutilated by the cablegram fiend, who manipulates every item of general interest flashed across the ocean and making its appearance almost simultaneously in all the leading dailies on the continent. There may be sentiments expressed in the Dr's letter with which some of us may not agree, but that they are the honest convictions of a shrewd, observant, and learned gentleman, no one, who is at all acquainted with the Doctor, will doubt. The fact that the Doctor himself is of Irish descent will lend a force to his able and pointed letter which it might not otherwise possess.

DR. SPROULE.

The East Grey member for the Commons, Dr. Sproule, has not been idle during the past session. In fact the Dr. is never idle—at home or abroad. There is too much energy in his composition, and he has the interests of his constituents too much at heart, to allow him to be a mere figurehead, or drone, in the House of Commons. His speech on the execution of Louis Riel overflows with unanswerable arguments, and carries conviction in every sentence. The active part taken by him on the Oleomargarine debate, shows that he is ever ready to protect the interests of the farming community, while the energy and zeal with which he supported Dr. Orton in reference to granting charters to farm or real estate banks, is well known to every reader of Hansard, or the leading daily papers. He is, in short, a working M. P., and one who not only has the general interests of the country at heart, but private and individual ones as well. We would like to give his great speech on the Riel execution, but want of space forbids. Suffice it to say, that it was an excellent one, and will find an echo in the hearts of every unprejudiced and loyal Canadian.

Mr. J. M. Webster's "British Columbia" letter, which appears in another column, is, as usual, racy, pointed, practical, and humorous. Mr. Webster enclosed us a specimen of a Chinese account. A first glance at the interesting document made us laugh, for we thought one of our friend Jimmy's little Shanghai chickens had been in the mud and had walked over the sheet of paper without drying its feet on the front door mat. We have worried over that Chinese account for the last three or four days, and we'll be hanged if we can come to any other conclusion than that the Shanghai chicken did the business.

We have just received a copy of the Montreal Witness, from Mr. Hugh Knott, of Euphrasia, which was printed on Monday, October 18th, 1847—over 38 years ago. The letter press is just as clean and clear as the day it was printed, and the paper is in excellent condition. We have also a copy of the Owen Sound Times printed in 1857, and a copy of the Durham Standard printed the same year. Mr. S. L. M. Luke, well known to many of our readers, was editor and proprietor of the last named paper at the time (1857).

Two old Settlers Gone.

Since the last issue of the ADVANCE, two old settlers of Artemesia have taken their departure for another world, where "the wicked cease from troubling and the weary are at rest." We refer to the deaths of Jeremiah Taylor, father of Mrs. J. W. Bates of this town, and Mr. Robt. Neilson, sr., father of Mr. Arch. Neilson, grain buyer at Flesherton Station. Both old gentlemen had attained a good old age, and death did not come unexpectedly in either case.

BE ON YOUR GUARD.—Don't allow a cold in the head to slowly and surely develop itself into Catarrh, when you can be cured for 25 cents. A few applications will cure incipient Catarrh. One or two boxes will cure ordinary Catarrh. One to five boxes will cure chronic Catarrh. Try Dr. Chase's Catarrh Cure—it will cure you. Sold by W. Richardson.

Ireland.

Letter from Dr. Geo. Armstrong on the Irish Question.

In a letter to Mr. M. Richardson, of this place, dated at Edinburg, Scotland, March 23rd, Dr. George Armstrong—son of Squire Armstrong, Flesherton—says:

You wished me to send you my impressions of Ireland and the Irish. I will try briefly to do so I don't pretend to have mastered the subject in two weeks visit there, but I notice that the greatest politicians of modern times are in the same boat, so I don't feel bad about it. Much of the present condition of affairs appears to arise from these causes:—(1) An overcrowded population. (2) Rents. (3) Poor tax. (4) Under cultivation. (5) The military. (6) Police. (7) Dublin castle. (8) Years of bad crops. (9) Sectarian strife, bitter because religious. (10 The agitation known as Home Rule. It is proposed now, promised in fact, to remedy this condition of affairs by act of parliament. If you don't think Mr. Gladstone has undertaken a big contract, you must be under the influence of liquor!

1.—The surplus population is a matter of statistics and observation. This must produce distress. The towns and villages are crowded with more people than there is employment for. This could be remedied by hanging or transporting. The first means would not give satisfaction to all, and the latter would be very difficult to carry out. This love of country was illustrated by an old man telling me that he "would rather be hanged by the neck in Ireland than die a dacint death in Canaday!" This extra population made the competition for land very keen, rents went up and up until, with the advent of bad crops, there was no profit. Then the reaction set in; now the cry is not, "lower rent," but "no rent." Don't be in a fog on this point. And this in face of the fact that rents had been reduced from the highest figure to 30 per cent. to 70 per cent. of that figure. The Government now proposes to buy out the landlords, and rent, or sell, or give the tenantry this land. The details are not made public yet. If the tenants can not pay rent, or buy the land, the Gov't must give it—for to evict them would only be a change from a private landlord to a public one. If the land be given them, there will be many more claimants than can be provided for, and this surplus population would be still unprovided for and left in much the same condition as at present. Then, again, there will be a great financial loss to be borne for most part by England and Scotland, and the people of these countries may object to buying land and giving it to others. The precedent once set up would be quickly followed by similar demands in the United Kingdom, as the same argument in its favor could be bro't forward, and Communism or Socialism would reach its highest developement. I am not prepared to augur that Communism with regard to land is right or wrong, but the principle is not in accord with our ideas, that a man has a right to own and enjoy that which he inherits or acquires. The Irish claim (and perhaps rightly) that the ancestors of the present holders did not acquire an honest title to the land. How far that should affect the present is a question for politico-economists. Their claim was honest, then, according to the laws and usages of the time, which vested the supreme ownership of land in the sovereign, who had also the disposal of it.

The reasons for increase of poor rate are obvious. The county poorhouses are crowded and the local authorities are endeavoring to aid those outside as well. The people expect Gov't aid, but this would be a dangerous precedent to set up except in cases of sudden and wide-spread disaster. Many would wait for such help instead of making exertions to avoid the necessity of it.

With reference to (4) I was surprised. As far as I could see from the road in Cork, Kilkenny, and Tipperary counties, not more than 20 or 25 per cent. of land is under cultivation! Some told me it was on account of evictions, others said it was more profitable to use it as grazing land: but the price for cattle dropped so much last summer, that there is very little profit, if any, in that line. I don't understand yet how pasture can pay better than grain crops. I found quite the reverse in the North, and the appearance of prosperity there was in striking contrast to the South.

The Military and Police are a result and not the cause of the state of society, yet the presence of so many armed men only accentuates the feeling of hostility to Britain. Dublin Castle is unnecessary—they have no more need of a Lord-Lieutenant than Ontario has of a Lieut. Governor. The local feeling is very bitter against "the Castle" and its contents. Yet, a few years ago, when it was proposed to abolish Vice-Royalty in Ireland, the people got quite excited and sent in petitions to have it retained. Now what can you do?

As this letter is getting rather long, I will just mention the most prominent features of Home Rule:

To the politicians, it is simply a political and popular cry. Just as "Pacific Scandal" served its purpose in '73, and "N. P." in '78, in Canada, so "Home Rule" works here. These three sweet scented beauties ought to combine and form a troupe. This cry saves politicians the trouble of explaining their conduct in Parliament—it is sufficient for this confiding public to know that he is a nominee of Parnell's and a Home Ruler. To the priests, Home Rule and Roman Rule are interchangeable terms. I was told by a priest, that as soon as Home Rule was established that they would get back the cathedrals at Kildare, Kilkenny, &c., and that the Romish would be an established church. The clergy organize and preside over nearly all the local meetings, as can be seen by any number of Freeman.

Then there is another very important consideration, and that is, that as long as the agitation can be kept up the money will come streaming from America. Where it goes to has not been revealed. Now and again a few pounds are sent to some evicted tenant; a public mention made of it, but the vast bulk of it simply utilized "to help the cause." Some of the Irish members elected at the last general election had not money enough to pay their passage to London: at least I was told so in Dublin. Now, a man who can't make a little headway in the world is seldom a safe guide to national prosperity. My observations there led me to three conclusions, and I won't make any extra charge for them:

1.—That the Irish are natural born kickers.

2.—That there will never be a settled state of society there until they get Home Rule.

3.—And following that, the disappointment of the public, who will then realize that they cannot be made rich by act of parliament with internal strife, will make them glad enough to return to their present condition.
