CONSERVATIVE CONVENTION.

The Liberal Conservative Association of South Grey met in Durham on Tuesday last, and was one of the largest assemblies of representative Conservatives which has ever met in this County. Every ward in the riding was fully represented. Our own Township of Artemesia turned out almost in full force, notwithstanding the inconvenience of getting there in the absence of direct railway communication.

The Convention was spenced by a few appropriate remarks by the President of the Association, Dr. Jamison, who gave reasons for calling the meeting at at such an early time. Mr. John Blythe, M. P. P., was unanimously selected as the standard-bearer of the party for the Local House. Dr. Jamison, Dr. Christoe, Mr. James Edge. Mr W. J. McFarland, Mr. A. H. N. Jenkins, and Mr. Thos, Kells, were nominated for the Dominion House. All of the gentlemen named withdrew in favor of Dr. Jamison, except Mr. Jenkins, and as the last named gentlemen refused to abide by decision of the delegates, a standing vote was taken on the nomination of Dr. Jamison. A large majority of the delegates arose to their feet, and the Dr. was declared the nominee of the party in South Grey. The selection was afterwards made unanimous. Dr, Jamison thanked the delegates for the honor conferred upon him in a few well chosen words. Hon. Thos. White made a brief but forcible speech, after which the proceedings were brought to a close.

In the afternoon a mass meeting was held on the Agricultural Sociey's grounds, which was largely attended. The chair was ably filled by Mr. James Edge. Rousing speeches were made by Dr. Sproule, M. P. for East Grey, Mr. John Blythe, M. P. P. for South Grey, Hon. Thos. White, Minister for the Interior, and Dr. Jamison. Votes of thanks, in a well worded, forcible, and eloquent motion by Dr. Christoe, unanimously tendered the speakers. By request of a ratepayer, Mr. Jenkins took the platform and addressed the assembly at some length. The Durham Brass Band enlivened the proceedings by playing a few exceedingly well rendered selections.

For The Advance.

Our Fire.

Crawford Street, at the time I write was in a transitionary state. Its former glory had departed, yet in its decline there was, at the Baker St. and at least, a shaddowy remnant of its former prestige—a ghostly semblance of semi-gentility. Bryanston and Montague Squares still retained some remnants of their antiquainted aristocracy, while the residences of the Russian and Turkish ambasadors gave a certain amount of tone to the locality which assisted in keeping the fact of their existence before the mind of a forgetful public. St. Mary's, immediately facing Bryanstone Square had for many years enjoyed a reputation for fashionable weddings which was fast being eclipsed by its more favored rival. St. Georges, Hanover Square, a circumstance greatly deplored by its ancient vergers whose grief was proportionately increased, as their gifts and persequites on such memorable occasions dwindled into insignificence. Gloucester Place had passed over into the hands of the intermediate swell boarding house paternity, while Blandford and Harewood Squares were tenanted by a promiscous crowd of mixed nationalities of equally mixed morality. The westward rush was leaving us in the rear as the Edgware Road had passed the zenith of its glory Hunt the actual proprietor had retired some years since, to Reading in Berkshire, leaving the big bold letters "The Western Emporium" with his euphonious name on the front of the building, and a satilite, Godsmark by name, to attend to the dying embers of the departing business. Our next neighbor, Millson No. 23, also a Dry Goods man, was a sharp pushing fellow, blessed with a rotund figure, a large family, and a wee wife of highly inflamable temper, with hair to match. Our Stores 24-25 were on the north side at the corner of Crawford and Montague St. The rooms over 25 were occupied by the boss and family and the upper flat by the sleeping apartments of the lady assistants and servants. 24 was in like manner occupied by the showroom and bedrooms of the male assistants. It so happened that the cisterns in both houses were under repair, so that water for all purposes had to be brought from St. Mary's pump. Strict economy and a limited supply was therefore enforced on all hands. With my fellow apprentice, I was resting my over tired limb on the Sunday morning—in bed. The hands had betaken themselves to their usual resorts, pleasure or church as their taste decided, the servants and ourselves at the time being the only occupants of the premises. I had just turned over for a comfortable snooze, when we were startled by a loud thumping at our door and recognized the cooks voice, calling on us in an excited manner to get up at once as the house was on fire, and we should be burnt to death. We lost no time in getting into our pants, when the cook told us the chimney of the kitchen was on fire ; she had a large wet sack which we were directed to throw down the chimney to extinguish the fire. In our hurry we mounted through the trap to the roof of 24 and hastily threw the sack down the first chimney we saw smoke issuing from. The servants had meantime made a collection from all the bed rooms of every available kind of liquid, which with curl papers, hair combings, and the general residum of the toilet, were handed up in pails and speedily poured down the smoking chimney. Milson our neighbor had meantime gained his roof almost at the first cry of fire, and stood calmly contemplating the scene, without ever offering his help to extinguish it. The shouting of fire, was ringing from the throats of the gathering crowd in the street below, while the rattle of the fire engines could be distinctly heard over the stones, when a shrill voice from Milsons trap, suddenly awoke him from his contemplations, and ourselves to the awkwardness of our position. "Millson, Millson, for mercies sake come down we are all being flooded out." Millson and ourselves disappeared down our respective traps about the same instant, though I doubt not with far different feelings. In our hurried excitement we had got out on 24 and had been operating on Milsons chimney instead of our own on the other side No. 25. The scene in Millsons kitchen was thus described some days after by their servant. We had just finished washing the children, the clean underlinen and sheets were airing on the clotheshorse before the fire, we had a leg of mutton roasting on the pit, and three pots of vegetables just put on the fire. I had just placed the last pot and was closing the lids, when without any warning down came the wet sack overturning the pots into the dripping pan, and nearly frightening the life out of me, I sprang back in a hurry and fell over the clotheshorse, and before I could collect myself down came the sooty water over me and the clean linen, filling the room with smoke and steam from the fire, it came with such force we were perfectly deluged, I never saw such a sight in my life, of course all our Sunday dinner was spoilt. Mrs. Millson was frantic with rage, she called her husband frightful names, all the old fools she could lay her tongue to, "to think" she said "he should be such an ass to stand and see those young imps pour their dirty mess down his own chimney and never open his mouth."

DEACON SNUKES.

DANGER AHEAD.—There is danger ahead from neglected colds. A tight cough and irritated throat are the warning signs of lurking danger to the lungs. Hagyard's Pectoral Balsam cures colds, sore throat, stubborn coughs, and all bronchial and lung troubles.

IN BAD HUMOR.—"A year ago my head was covered with sores, and the eruption covered my face also, and spread even until the backs of my hands were sore, I became weak and ill. Finding no cure I tried Burdock Blood Bitters. Two bottles perfectly cured me." Statement of Miss Minnie Stevenson, Cosagne, N. B.

Temperance.

We are always proud to boast that this is a country governed by the people for the people. Is this true? Who are the people? The great all-seeing eye of God looks down on more women than men in this country, and He counts each soul whether it be man, women or child, a unit of His people.

Who can say that the men who nominally represent all have kept the faith? Have they legislated for woman's protection physically & morally? We hear of the finer nature of woman, her delicacy, weakness and keener sensibility to suffering, and what has been done to protect or succor thousands of them who are today suffering the most cruel torture and worse than murder—no merciful knife or bullet but an incalculable murder by slow degrees, infinitely enhanced by cold and starvation moral and physical.

To legislate for woman what is asked? No great sacrifice, no bloodshed, no war, only a denial of a taste, perhaps a habit, only a little matter to each and the result is a majority vote for prohibition and the curse is removed from our land, so fair were it not for the black pall of Intemperance which casts its shadow everywhere.

Prohibition we look for from men who have reached the altitude of civic power; we expect some self-sacrifice and their usage of power for the good of the people generally as far as lies in their power.

All men are not possessed of the force, power, acumen and skill that have given a legislator his position or his self-control, consequently he should have more sympathy and concern for the unbalanced natures and sacrifice "even his wine" for the sake of their salvation, like Paul saying "If meat make my brother to offend, I will eat no meat while the world stands."—Woman's Journal.

AS SWEET AS HONEY is Dr. Low's Pleasant Worm Syrup, yet sure to destroy and expel worms.

A HEAVY BURDEN.—Mr. George Russell, of Aurora, Ont., says he was a great sufferer from a running sore of the worst description, which baffled the best medical skill, and his life was a burden. He was cured by B.B.B., to his great joy and the surprise of his friends.

CURE FOR SORE THROAT.—A prompt and efficient remedy for sore throat as well as croup, asthma, pain in the side, ear ache, deafness and many other common and painful complaints, is found in Hagyard's Yellow Oil.

OFF WORK.—"I was off work for two years suffering from kidney disease, and could get no relief, until advised by a friend to try B. B. B. I was cured by two bottles and consider it a miraculous cure." The above is the substance of a communication from Wm. Tier, of St. Marys, Ont.

WHY IS IT.—Why do so many limp and hobble about on sticks and crutches, suffering from rheumatism, stiff joints, and cords, lame back, sprains and other aches, pains and lameness, when Hagyard's Yellow Oil, an unfailing relief, can be purchased at the trifling cost of twenty-five cents?

One to two boxes will cure ordinary Catarrh. One to five boxes will cure chronic Catarrh. Dr. Chase's Catarrh cure, Sold by all dealers at 25 cents per box.

MINERAL POISON.—Nothing but pure extracts from plants and roots are used in preparing McGregor's Lung Compound, the modern and now popular remedy for Colds, Coughs, Bronchitis, Croup, Asthma, and all affections of the throat, lungs and chest.
