A very interesting and instructive letter from the pen of our energetic Reeve, Dr. Christoe, headed, "Court of Revision," appears in another column.

The members of Flesherton Division Sons of Temperance, are respectfully requested to attend the next meeting at 7 o'clock for the purpose of electing officers for the ensuing term.

Three of our Flesherton youths, viz., Tom Clayton, Will Armstrong, and Jack Heard, have been camping out in the neighborhood of Feversham, Osprey, during the past two weeks.

Attention is directed to Mr. W. A. Brown's announcement in our advertising columns to-day, in which something of special interest to those requiring watches, jewelry, &c., will be found.

In our large supplement this week will be found that part of the story which would have appeared had we issued THE ADVANCE last week, together with a large amount of miscellaneous reading matter of general interest.

Our genial and talented young friends, the Dinwoody Bros., together with Mr. Abbs—son of the Rev. George Abbs, Methodist minister, Stayner—have been visiting friends and acquaintances in Flesherton and vincinity during the past week.

Marty Good, son of our popular butcher, has quite a little "Zoo" of his own now, having a Mud Turtle, a Carrier Pigeon, and Rabbits. The addition of a few monkeys and a deceased Whale or two would almost enable Marty to set up opposition to Harry Piper.

We regret to learn of the death of Mr. John Pentland, of Heathcote, which occurred a short time ago. Congestion of the lungs was the cause Mr. Pentland was one of the most kindly of men, and a most earnest Christian. We tender our deepest sympathy to his God-fearing and pious wife and family.

The Lacrosse match between Meaford and Flesherton, on Monday of last week, was witnessed by a fair sprinkling of our citizens and others on the E. G. A. Society's grounds here, and resulted in a victory for Meaford by three straight heats. Our boys contested each heat very gallantly.

We understand that the learned and distinguished Presbyterian minister, Rev. A. T. Colter, will preach anniversary sermons morning and evening in the Presbyterian church, Flesherton, next Sunday. Bev. Mr. Colter is an old and very much esteemed friend of the Agricultural Editors, and one of the foremost preachers in Northern Ontario.

The Grey Review criticises Dr. Sproule's remarks on Home Rule at Durham recently, and tries to make a little chunk of capital on the sly by patting Irish Catholics on the back. Why, my dear fellow, there are Irish Catholics who are opposed to Home Rule, and there are Irish Catholics who don't care a fig whether Ireland gets Home Rule or not. We don't suppose any honest Irish Catholic will hang one for expressing a conscientious opinion, however.

A serious accident occurred on Thursday last, through the careless handling of a revolver in the hands of Mr. John Bricknell. It appears that Mr. B. was displaying the revolver, in Grier's shoe shop, to a Mr. T. Daggat, when it accidently went off, the ball entering the foot of Daggat. Dr. Aylesworth dressed the wound, but was unable to extract the ball. Serious results are anticipated, as Daggat, is a man far advanced in years.—Collingwood Enterprise.

Mr. John Whitten and his large staff of assistants are erecting a fine large frame barn for Mr. Latimer of Eugenia. Mr. Latimer built the stone foundation himself and is justly proud of his excellent workmanship. The frame was raised on Tuesday of last week, the respective captains being Messrs. Graham and Linton. Nobody could safely say which side won, so keen and close was the contest. The work thus far is a credit to the contractor, Mr. Whitten.

Messrs. Frank Nettlton, Will Begg, Jas. Stone, W. W. Nettleton and W. Watts, were out at the River fishing on the first of the week and while trolling near the mouth succeeded in catching an immense muskulonge. It took the combined efforts of F. Nettleton and Begg to haul the huge fish into the boat. They brought their prize to town and placed it on exhibition at Stone's hotel. The fish measured 6 feet 3 inches, and weighed 128 lbs. It was the largest caught for some years in these waters. Collingwood Enterprise.

Killed by Lightning.

The sad news of the death of George Whittaker, formerly of this Township, has been received by his mother. Deceased was the eldest surviving son of Arthur and Mary Whittaker. He was a promising young man, about 22 years of age. He accompanied his father, about two years ago, to Dacota, to seek a new home, the rest of the family being left in Artemesia until provisions were made for their removal to their new home. The sad news was received yesterday that he was killed by lightning while working in the fields. The sad news has cast a gloom over this neighborhood, and much sympathy is expressed for the bereaved parents and brothers and sisters.—[Com.

We were shown a curiosity the other day by our Chief of Police in the shape of a beautiful large white rose, about two inches in circumference, growing out of a cluster of ordinary small apple blossoms, which were plucked from an appletree in Mr. P. Howard's garden. No theory can be advanced to account to account for this strange freak of nature as a full blown rose could not be grafted on the apple stem without showing. Mr. Howard says this is the second time this has occurred in his garden.—Collingwood Bulletin.

The Medical Hall's assistant was making a nice little experiment last Monday evening, by mixing a number of chemicals which are known to possess certain peculiar qualities. The assistant did not like to risk putting in the last ingredient named by a customer, attributing certain explosive qualities to it; but as the customer insisted, he did so. Scarce had the cork been placed in the bottle, when there was a loud and startling explosion and the bottle was blown into atoms. The assistant's eyes were blinded for the time and sustained rather severe injuries, from which he he has not yet recovered.

Drowned.

A man named Walker, tailor at Priceville, committed suicide on Sunday of last week. It seems he tied a smoothing iron (or "goose" as it is called) to his neck and threw himself into the Priceville mill pond. When the body of the unfortunate man was discovered, it was noticed that he had the rope attached to the "goose" firmly grasped in one of his hands. Perchance he regretted the rash act when too late? No reason is assigned for the sad and terrible termination of Walker's life.

East Grey Exhibition.

The annual fall exhibition of East Grey Agricultural Society will be held in Flesherton, on Thursday and Friday, 23rd and 24th days of September. One of the principal features of the exhibition will be the speeding in the ring for which very liberal prizes will be awarded, both days of show. Carriage and single horses, will be exhibited both days of show. The exhibition will be undoubtedly the best ever held here. Prize lists will be issued shortly giving full particulars.

Flesherton People.

From the Meaford Monitor.

A lacrosse game was played at Flesherton on Monday, 14th inst., between the Victorias of Meaford and the Flesherton club. The Meaford club won the match in three straight games: first, 40 minutes; second, 2 minutes; third 35 minutes. Our boys are very much pleased with the generous, courteous, treatment they received from the Flesherton people; they arrived home about 10 o'clock p. m. same day.

The Tenor Masher Again!

From the Hanover Post.

The Wizard Oil Co. ended a three day engagement in Hanover on Saturday evening. Veni, vidi, vici. They were first-rate vocalists to say the least. That tenor, what a melodious voice and angelic smile! More than one young lady was "mashed" by the beguiling twinkle of his eye and curling of his lips. The comedian, too. Won't some one miss him and a Sunday drive.

Home Talent.

An appeal is made to the public for their patronage on behalf of the Oratorio of "Queen Esther" on the ground that it will be produced by HOME TALENT exclusively. The principal parts are taken by ladies and gentlemen who have many times pleased Flesherton audiences in solo and chamber music, but who have hitherto had no opportunity of showing that they can be equally successful in more pretentious efforts calling for dramatic power as well as musical ability. Perhaps the one point above all others connected with the coming performance of "Esther, the Beautiful Queen," is the lasting benefit accruing to those participating, which may properly come under the head of "Musical Culture." The Costuming of the piece, and Scenic effects will materially interest and please those who attend the Concerts. But when the curtain falls on the last Act, and the footlights are extinguished, there remains the drill and experience, vocally and dramatically, to each one participating in the effort. A constant succesion of surprises greets the ear at every page. Here an earnest appeal, and the pious devotion of the Jews, connected with a beautiful melody; there the ringing chorus of the Persians, awaken one to a new life. Well may the singer grow enthusiastic over such music, and receive a lasting benefit from its study. Of the work itself, it might be considered out of place for us to speak of its merits, but we may be allowed to state that, wherever given it has produced a furore in musical circles, and the Press have warmly commended it. The study of "Esther" is eminently fitted for the development of Musical Societies; it contains great variety, and awakens wonderful enthusiasm. While it is worthy the study of Professionals, it is not beyond the reach of capable Amateurs, and is calculated to advance in a great degree the general musical culture of the town.

Dominion Day is a holiday all stores in Flesherton will be closed on that Day.

Kind Words.

Our valued contemporary the Flesherton ADVANCE has turned over the first leaves of Vol. VI. Its good natured and generous editor has had a hard struggle but success has crowned his worthy efforts and to-day the ADVANCE is a model village newspaper. Fleshertonians are justly proud of their snappy, newsy paper. The World wishes it another thousand circulation before the next volume. —Beeton World.

CONGRATULATORY.—In a very clever editorial, which summarizes the difficulties of an editor's career, the Flesherton ADVANCE last week announced its fourth anniversary. We heartily congratulate Mr. Fawcett, he is a plucky, impartial and talented journalist and has done much to keep up the reputation of Flesherton. Whatever betides we cordially wish our esteemed contemporary the best of success, in the future.—Durham Chronicle.

The Flesherton ADVANCE has entered upon its sixth volume, having had a successful career. It is a good local journal and we wish it continued prosperity.—Orangeville Advertiser.

SIXTH VOLUME.—Last week the Flesherton ADVANCE commenced its 6th volume. The ADVANCE is a spicy local journal and stands ahead of a good many older papers in the same county. Bro. Fawcett has considerable push in him and will without doubt make the ADVANCE a genuine success.—Shelburne Free Press.

VOLUME SIX.—The Flesherton ADVANCE last week entered on its sixth year. The ADVANCE is a bright, newsy journal, and one of the most welcome of our county exchanges. May it go on and prosper. The Enterprise heartily appreciates the ability and pluck shown by Bro. Fawcett. —Collingwood Enterprise.

The Flesherton ADVANCE entered last week upon its sixth year, with, we are pleased to note, strong indications of continued prosperity. You have our very best wishes brother Fawcett.—Markdale Standard.

The Flesherton ADVANCE has entered upon its fifth year. The ADVANCE deserves the prosperity it enjoys. It fights under the right political banner, and always works in hearty accord with the Conservatives of East Grey.—Orangeville Post.

With last week's issue, the Flesherton ADVANCE completed the fifth year of its existence. There are but few exchanges on our list which show as much life as the ADVANCE. Our wish is that the ADVANCE may live long to adorn the ranks of country newspapers.—Mt. Forest Representative.

Last week the Flesherton ADVANCE commenced its sixth volume. Bro. Fawcett, the editor, says the ADVANCE is solidly established. We have always thought as much and would now express the hope that the solidity of which he speaks may ever be retained. The ADVANCE is a good local paper and it has a jolly good fellow for an editor.—Shelburne Economist.

The Flesherton ADVANCE, one of the leading papers of the County, has entered its sixth year, and if friend Fawcett meets with as good success in the future as he has in the past it is well merited. THE ADVANCE is a first-class paper and the editor is a whole-souled gentleman deserving of more than ordinary success which we heartily wish him.—Chatsworth News.

The Flesherton ADVANCE, also. has passed another milestone on its journey to fame, and is now in its 6th volume. For a five-year old, the ADVANCE has shown signs of being something more than a half-dead half-alive creature and since its inception there has been a continual ADVANCE from one degree of prosperity to another, until now it stands near the top of the ladder, in honor progress and wealth—especially wealth, and that is what gives a man a right to express an opinion—according to the argument of our town confrere.—Meaford Mirror.

The Flesherton ADVANCE has entered on its sixth volume. Like other publishers Bro. Fawcett has had difficulties to contend with, but being of the stuff good newspaper men are made of, he has met those difficulties face to face and overcome them. He has stood true to the best interests of Flesherton and vicinity and by constant attention to business has made the ADVANCE what it is to-day, one of our most welcome and interesting exchanges, and a first-class local paper. The Herald and the ADVANCE had their disagreements, but long ago buried all animosity, and we now regard Bro. Fawcett as one of our most sincere and esteemed friends. We wish the ADVANCE and its proprietor, continued and abundant success.—Dundalk Herald.

Obituary.

To the early residents of this part of the country—many of whom are still living—the following particulars regarding the sad and sudden death of Capt. Geo. Pickell, which occurred on Thursday, 18th inst., in Detroit, may be interesting:—

While making his first trip this season, on April 1st, he was wrecked off Point au Pelee, lake Erie, where he and those with him were several hours in the water after the cabin was washed away, and were finally rescued with great difficulty by the people on the shore. The exposure and cold he then suffered—for which he was totally unfitted by severe illness during the preceding winter, brought on severe affection of the heart and lungs by which he was completely prostrated for some time; but previous to the event of his death he had recuperated considerably and went down to Detroit to transact business concerning his wrecked vessel, which lay there. While shaking hands with a friend on Woodward avenue, he fell dead in his arms. The funeral took place at his residence in Algonac, Mich., and was largely attended by many from Port Huron and Detroit, as well as friends and more immediate neighbors—as he was well and favorably known all along those lakes as a competent and trusty seaman, and had, as always, many warm friends.

The text from which his funeral sermon was preached, was one which he often told his people he would like, and the one from which the funeral sermon of the late Mrs. Pickell, his former wife, was preached, viz., "There remaineth, therefore, a rest forthe people of God."

On the Sabbath preceding his death, he was as usual found at his post in the Lord's house, and on that day a friend said to him, "Mr. Pickell, you are looking well after your illness, but you are liable to be called hence any moment." His reply was, "My lamp is trimmed and burning." Those who are left to mourn have the assurance, that their loss is his gain. Heart disease was the cause of his death. He was 60 years of age, and before his illness last winter, was a hale, hearty man.
